HAVEN OF PEACE

Bring a touch of nature inside. Draw inspiration from the effortless beauty of rural landscapes to create a home that is calm, rustic, and refined all at once.

A mainstay in interior design undoubtedly because of its timelessness, the country style is nothing less than a way of life. Its friendly, comfortable spaces encourage living in the moment, at a much slower pace.

Achieving this style starts with choosing natural materials. Adding antique-looking furniture, like this gorgeous console table, is the best way to bring something special to the room that makes it instantly more welcoming. Then bring in the romance with organic or floral prints, lovely rattan or wicker baskets, and decorative arrangements made from natural things found in your yard or a nearby forest. Tree branches, wildflowers, and wheat stalks would do the trick!

We particularly love the look of this bright and monochromatic room, which, beyond its rich blend of textures and materials, directs all attention to this splendid dining room furniture.

HAPPY PLACE

A charming dining nook next to a nice window is a dream many of us share. When life seems to rush by at lightning speed, there’s nothing like having a comfortable, cozy space to take a quiet break from the daily routine.

Whether you like enjoying a cup of tea and a snack in good company, reading against a backdrop of birdsong, or pondering your most ambitious dreams, embrace the opportunity to enjoy precious moments of happiness. Delicate, minimalist furniture pieces, natural materials, and calming, light colors will create a serene and inspiring atmosphere. When arranged in a bright room, these new items from the Downtown collection, in Caramel washed, illustrate perfectly how our decor can influence our state of mind. Doesn’t this room make you feel immediately peaceful?

Light-colored and neutral textured fabrics take the spotlight! Synonymous with elegance and comfort, bouclé is at home in any design style.

A REPUTABLE SEAL OF QUALITY

Canadel-made furniture means certified quality, style, and durability. And it comes with the profound knowledge and attention to detail of artisans who have been devoted to crafting wood for 40 years. We are immensely proud to offer exceptional custom furniture that has been meticulously assembled and finished by hand. Our innovative designs and processes combined with sophisticated construction give us an exceptional advantage. Our timeless pieces are so well made that they'll become cherished family treasures.

We mainly use birch hardwood for beautiful and sturdy pieces. Other hardwoods are also used in some collections. To highlight the beauty of the wood, we make sure our furniture has a unique and natural look.

Every model is tested and inspected several times during manufacturing to make sure it exceeds even the most stringent safety and quality norms in the industry. Canadel's exemplary consistency on this point makes it a leader in its field. This level of quality control goes well beyond the factory: our packaging, shipping, and customer service also meet strict and rigorous criteria.

With the goal of offering products that have less environmental impact, Canadel has received GREENGUARD certification for its low volatile organic compound emissions. Now, not only is Canadel furniture in greater harmony with nature, but this new certification also recognizes our healthier and more pleasant work environment. Some of the other ways we're reducing our environmental footprint are by buying locally; recycling dyes, paints, and solvents; and using packaging made from recycled fibers.

MODERN GLOW

With its clean, streamlined, minimalist charm, modern design has been having a moment for decades, and there's no sign of this movement slowing down. It's time to celebrate mid-century style with furniture that adds panache.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN
PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER
STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

Mid-century modern design has been around now for more than 90 years (the movement started in the 1930s), and its elements have made a mark in not only interiors and architecture, but in art, fashion, accessories, and certainly in furniture. This look is defined by uncluttered design with clean lines, a more minimalist approach that incorporates a selection of neutral shades. An open-concept floor plan that makes the most of natural light streaming into the space takes center stage, as does high-quality wooden furniture with straight lines. This buffet from Canadel's Downtown collection is a perfect case in point. The matte-finished, Peppercorn washed piece isn't just timeless, simple and beautiful; it's also incredibly functional, which is another trademark of the era's furniture and style.

DESIGNER TIP
Porcelain is not only a stylish option for a tabletop, but also incredibly durable. The stunning material comes in two colors: Shell and Onyx.

Those who love a mid-century modern look and feel often choose streamlined, unadorned pieces like the buffet, but there's plenty of room to incorporate creativity and individuality when designing your space. While there's definitely a strong geometric element to this room with the rectangular buffet, artwork, and large black window frames, bringing in curvy, organic shapes adds interest, character, and warmth. Take the oval, Caramel washed, matte Downtown table with a porcelain top (our newest addition!) and rounded chairs with faux-leather seats. This exquisite set adds juxtaposition in the space and complements the straight lines around it! The dining furniture also pays homage to the room's overall modern style, thanks to the neutral tones and light wood. It really strikes the perfect balance by being super-functional, flawlessly modern, and filled with character.

DESIGNER TIP
We love the look of these Peppercorn washed stools. The matte finish adds a more muted, refined hint of elegance in the space.

Neutral and contrasting colors throughout this space work beautifully together, from the dark faux-leather stools and stone island to the light wood cabinetry and ceiling embellishments.

FROM
LIVING

Spacious and comfortable, this living room owes its mid-century modern look to the Vogue set from our brand-new Accent collection. The arrangement of the round tables greatly energizes the space by creating an interesting contrast between straight lines and curves. Placed side by side or separately, these stylish coffee tables will add a modern touch to your open-concept home, perfectly complementing your dining room furniture.

With many options available in terms of colors, finishes, and materials, you can customize them according to your preferences and needs. Whether you're aiming for a retro yet contemporary look or prefer classic or rustic styles, look no further. The Accent collection suits all tastes.

The glass tops, offered in clear and tinted, of the Vogue tables in the Accent collection are stunning, but the Shell and Onyx porcelain options are also perfection.

BOLD AND COLORFUL

We love orange! This bright, lively color adds instant joy to any room. Orange stimulates creativity and productivity, making it ideal for a work space. If you want to inject a little more character, pair it with different tones of blue!

Quality from day one

These Oak washed antique stools from the Canadel collection are the perfect choice for this charming kitchen that celebrates rustic design.

RUSTIC RETREAT

There’s something inherently enchanting about a home that’s been in the family for years. It’s filled with character and a certain uniqueness not always found in brand-new spaces. Looking for ways to keep your rustic, vintage charm while including modern conveniences? Here’s how to do it.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

The feeling of coming back to your roots is greater than any new-build charm. It could also be the home’s distinctive personality that attracts you, or perhaps it’s the sense of family that inspires. Imagine the memories of your loved ones sprinkled throughout the nooks and crannies of these remarkable aged spaces! Or maybe it’s your appreciation for architecturally impressive styles, that aren’t as common today. Either way, older homes come with a multitude of stories and appeal, and there is a plethora of smart, easy, and undeniably beautiful ways to make modern updates while holding onto the often-rustic, antique, comfortable vibes of a place with a past.

DESIGNER TIP
Don't be afraid to get creative with your table and chairs. Mixing and matching styles and silhouettes offers a practical twist and adds flair to the room.

TRUE CHARM

FABRIC DELIGHT

Much like mixing and matching tables and chairs, rustic style allows you to also get super creative with fabrics and patterns. Pretty designs and interesting textures—like our perfect fabrics shown here—can easily be incorporated into dining rooms, kitchens, and other spaces where you want to make a statement with seating and let your personality shine through. Gravitate toward plain, leather, faux-leather, velvet, or patterned design, like geometrical, chintz, botanical, windowpane, damask, or stripes. Anything goes; it's all about preference.

CALL FOR DISTRESSED WOOD

Wood is incredibly nostalgic in a home because it offers added character, warmth, and history, making it a good choice for older abodes. In fact, experts often say wood can't be matched when it comes to adding personality, impact, and ambiance to a house. You really can't go wrong when you choose to bring wood into your decor, whether it's by adding beaded board, single wood-panelled walls, or antique-looking furniture. Pieces from our Champlain collection, like this exquisite dining room set or this beautiful Oak washed buffet in a distressed finish, are a perfect example. 📌

DESIGNER TIP
Muted, earthy, creamy tones always create a timeless look and unify a space.

You can achieve a charming shabby-chic style with a distressed piece. This grand Oak washed buffet (from our Champlain collection) is ideal for farmhouse, country, cottage, and vintage-inspired homes.

PERFECT HARMONY

Who wouldn't want to have the best of both worlds, where tradition seamlessly embraces modernity? In a home with a fusion of classic elegance and contemporary flair, you can create a timeless haven that transcends trends, blending comfort with sophistication.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

You might already have some rooms with a transitional style without really even knowing it. By blending traditional and contemporary elements, this popular decor trend brings a timeless and balanced aesthetic into your home. Characterized by neutral color palettes, clean lines, and a mix of classic and modern furniture, this beautiful and effortless style fosters a harmonious atmosphere in a room. Elegance, versatility, and balance are the key. So don't hesitate to combine different elements, materials, and hues in your decor, as long as the diverse components are well matched when put all together. A combination of rich and natural materials, such as wood, stone, and glass, makes quite the impression and creates a cozy ambiance that you'll enjoy for every occasion. Try incorporating delicate patterns and classy textures for a final touch. It will beautifully elevate your space. Make sure to add greenery!

LASTING AND ELEGANT

Neutral, warm and earthy tones define without a doubt the transitional home decor style. The color palette used in this trend blends easily with various pieces, finishes, and materials. In this beautiful kitchen where rich creamy hues prevail, the wood, gold finished accents, and wood stools with their warm white and blue fabric turn this room into a fresh and relaxing space. Together, these versatile design elements are a perfect match for a kitchen made to last for years. Because this is another important element about transitional design: it's so enduring you'll want to have it around for many years. The pieces of furniture chosen to complete this look will easily transition from one era to another.

Design is much more flexible and adaptable today than it used to be, and home is not just the place where we congregate every evening after a busy day—it's where we relax with family, we gather with friends, and many of us now work. Just look at how kitchens have changed. They're not just about food preparation anymore. They're where the party is!

DESIGNER TIP
Warm wood tones, like our famous Honey washed, are a perfect choice for any kitchen or dining room.

Solid wood tables, chairs, and buffets are highly desired and for several reasons. These pieces from our collections add interest and flair to any room, and that’s even more the case when combined with an elegant and sumptuous fabric. Try matching different textures or colors for the same dining room set. Canadel’s wood furniture collections are also unique and distinctive—no two pieces look exactly alike, thanks not only to our customization options, but also to the tones and grains of the wood we use. Sustainability is also top of mind today, and solid wood furniture is an eco-friendly choice.

The upholstered Pecan washed bench from the Canadel collection is the definition of versatility. Put it in your foyer, upstairs hallway or at the foot of your bed. Voilà!

Take a seat

Designers love incorporating benches into homes because they're fashionable and useful. They can easily be moved around the house and they're ideal when you need extra seating. Here are three we can't get enough of.

VERY VERSATILE

A transitional style offers a nuanced approach that marries the classic with the contemporary. This versatile aesthetic creates spaces that live on beyond passing trends. Natural wood will never be out of style and when it comes to durability, comfort, and quality, it will always produce an effortless yet magnificent look in your home. There's something for everyone when it comes to embracing the versatility of a transitional home decor.

There's more to Canadel than wood furniture—our thinking behind each style makes it easy to move around. Investing in good quality furniture implies that however your style and taste change and evolve over the years, your furniture will adapt. Not only does this mean that some pieces, console tables, chairs, and benches, for example, are made to effortlessly transition from one room to the next, but they also grow with you. You can switch out your art, toss cushions, throws, light fixtures, bed linens, duvets, and other decor and accessories as often as you'd like, and your wood pieces will always be very chic.

Rich and cozy colors, luxurious fabrics, and formal pieces are key features to incorporate into your decor when aiming for an interior that will last through the years. A crucial detail not to overlook is the high quality of your furniture.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

DESIGNER TIP
Classical pieces, like this gorgeous Pecan washed table from our Canadel collection, are masterpieces when it comes to gatherings.

52

For some of us, high-quality furniture means being fully ready for family and friends gatherings. Having our loved ones at home is when we're our happiest. It's a love language, and it certainly encompasses hosting our dearest people, and making them feel comfortable in our homes. Whether you're hosting family to celebrate the holidays or throwing a super-fun themed dinner party, there's so much to enjoy about welcoming your favorite people into your home to eat, drink, and be merry. And no matter the occasion, bringing the party into your own space can be a fun experience not only for your group, but also for you as the host. We believe a beautiful dining room we're proud of plays a part in entertaining—including comfortable seating around a majestic table is a wonderful way to encourage guests to have fun and engage in conversations with people around them. You know what they say: "good memories are often made while gathered around the table!"

ORGANIC TOUCH

Inspiring of dreamy decors, the organic modern style is gaining momentum. Flawlessly blending authentic and contemporary elements, it produces unique spaces filled with character.

MINIMALIST AND WELCOMING

The organic modern style that is so popular at the moment has everything going for it: uncluttered, functional spaces, clean lines, and an organic feel. For a simple yet sophisticated blend of styles, combine modern elements with solid wood furniture that has a natural look. To stay within the bounds of this style, turn to a neutral palette of contrasts, make wood the foundational element of the room, and accessorize with plants.

The rustic finish highlights the wood's natural qualities and pairs perfectly with black metal accents.

ONE BIG FAMILY

FROM THE BEGINNING TO TODAY

Ever since Canadel was founded more than 40 years ago by André Deveault and his son Guy, it has been run by a tight-knit team. When Guy’s brothers Michel and Jean came aboard, the family business became even stronger.

While Guy and Michel still play active roles in the company, it’s clear that the next generation is making a mark in their own right. Their adult children now hold important positions in different departments and work closely together every day.

The first generations of Deveaults started a solid company, built a loyal team, and created highly successful products. The next generations are following in their mentors’ footsteps, doing their part to introduce innovations that keep the company up to date with all the latest trends and technologies.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Over time, the team incorporated valuable new members, like André Giguère, who has been general director for several years now. With his particular skills, devotion, and sense of altruism, he has become essential to the company.

Excellence, enjoyment, and goodwill are important aspects of Canadel’s values, and they help transform work relationships into deep friendships. Yet it’s more than that: our company feels like a big family. We truly treasure our team of loyal, passionate individuals, each with indispensable skills.

The family relies on each individual’s expertise and strengths to make an unbeatable team. Left to right: Timoty, Michel, Tristan, Marie-Christine, Jean-Philippe, and Guy.

INVOLVED IN THE COMMUNITY

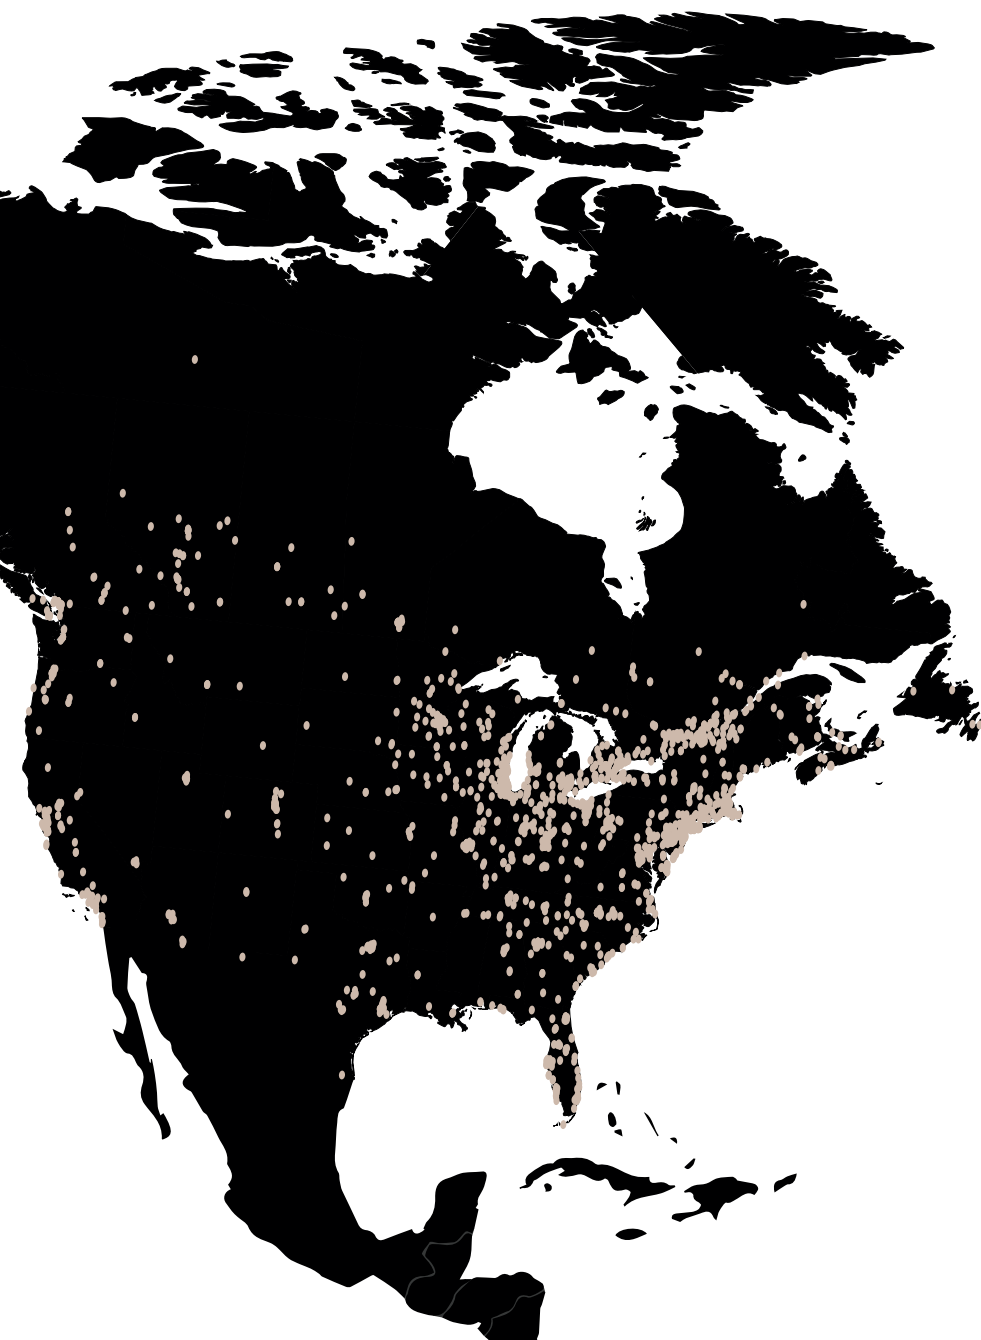

Canadel is constantly thinking of the well-being of its employees and their families. And its actions confirm that the company takes care of its own, by offering up a beautiful fishing camp, outdoor spots to relax near work, a day camp for employees’ children, and all kinds of festive family events.

Canadel is also actively involved in its community. The company takes part in many different initiatives, to help make the area a dynamic and stimulating place to live. Canadel is thrilled to contribute to new sports and park infrastructure, to support schools, and to take part in many local events. C
