PRECIOUS MOMENTS

My friends and I were recently having one of our cozy dinner nights in together. We started talking about how we have been noticing that the people around us—including ourselves—needed to make time count. The more we got into the subject, the more we realized how important it is to have precious moments with our loved ones. We feel this urge to savor the little things and set aside our fast-paced lives.

During the last few years, some people have rolled up their sleeves and gotten right into it, kneading homemade bread dough or picking up cooking tools that have been shelved for decades. Cookbooks have never been studied to the extent they are now amidst our quest for inspiring dinners. It doesn't even matter if our experiments are delectable or disastrous... The point is to enjoy the process.

This change of habits is giving us more opportunities to savor our time together, whether we're having a drink with friends around the kitchen island or sitting with our immediate or extended family around a meal cooked with love. This slowing down may have been jarring at first, but over time, it's becoming deeply rooted as our new way of living.

Now that we are more aware of how treasured these moments should be, let's enjoy them as much as we can. And for the past 40 years, knowing that our furniture is playing a huge role in your special gatherings has filled our hearts with happiness.

MARIE-CHRISTINE DEVEAULT - BRAND DIRECTOR

ONE BIG FAMILY

Running a family business means there's a natural focus on treating employees with kindness and respect, and on being involved in our local community.

The third generation of Deveaults working together in the family business. From left to right, Tristan, Timoty, Marie-Christine and Jean-Philippe.

Founded 40 years ago by André and Guy Deveault, Canadel has always been a very tight team. Guy's brothers, Michel and Jean, quickly joined the ranks, firming up the family-based business with a strong brotherly bond.

Working in a family business "is realizing how lucky we are to be working with our loved ones," says Jean-Philippe, Customer Service Director and member of the third generation of Deveaults to sign on to the team at the Louiseville company.

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION

Even though Guy, CEO, and Michel, President, are still very active in the company, there's no denying that the next generation has settled into their roles. Marie-Christine, Guy's daughter and Brand Director, works closely with her cousins, Jean-Philippe, Tristan and Timoty.

Michel and Guy Deveault have had the great privilege of working with their loved ones for the past 40 years.

SEVERAL FAMILY MEMBERS WORK IN VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS, BRINGING THE FAMILY SPIRIT TO A WHOLE NEW LEVEL!

"Every member of our family has their own expertise, which makes us all complementary to the rest," says Marie-Christine. "My father, who I get to see every day, is the best mentor I could ever have imagined." The first generations of Deveaults started a solid company, built a loyal team, and created highly successful products. The next generations are continuing in the same vein while incorporating innovations to remain a leader in the field. Yet the most important task is and will always be to take care of the extended Canadel team.

A GIFT FOR EVERYONE

To celebrate 40 years in the business, Canadel is giving itself a superb gift: an outdoor recreation area with games, a basketball court, picnic tables, and a grill, located right next to the office. "We created the perfect space to have a good time together," says Marie-Christine, beaming with pride.

And Canadel recently hired a very important member of the team, the jolly and friendly Toupi! Canadel's mascot, an adorable beaver, loves attending community events and spreading cheer among people of all ages.

All this because enjoyment—an extremely important value at Canadel—is the word that keeps coming up when people talk about the company culture.

A REPUTABLE SEAL OF QUALITY

A piece of furniture made by Canadel means certified quality, style, and durability. And it comes with the profound knowledge and attention to detail of artisans who have been devoted to crafting wood for 40 years.

10

What makes a Canadel-created piece so special? First, its design. Beyond the various collections and their distinctive looks, Canadel furniture's precise, refined design is one of the first things you'll notice. Our unique pieces are what set the mood for a room's interior design. Step into a dining room and they immediately attract attention and garner praise. "That's our signature," says Quality Director Simon Deschênes, who has been with Canadel for 24 years. "Besides being remarkable, our furniture is designed to stand the test of time. It can easily be passed on from generation to generation."

Every piece of furniture is made from fine birch wood, which is as solid as it is beautiful. Other hardwoods are also used in several collections. Looking closely, you can see a piece's impeccable design and finishing that bring out the wood's natural beauty.

“WE ARE VERY SERIOUS ABOUT
DELIVERING ON OUR PROMISE
OF MAKING HIGH-QUALITY FURNITURE.”

Certified “green” varnish

With the goal of offering products that have less environmental impact, Canadel recently obtained GREENGUARD certification for its low-VOC varnish, which reduces to a minimum the amount of volatile organic compounds and their polluting emissions. From now on, not only will Canadel furniture be in greater harmony with nature, but this new certification also means a healthier and more pleasant workplace for the team.

ATTENTION TO DETAIL

Whether it’s a piece from the Canadel, Champlain, Downtown, East Side, Gourmet or Loft collection, the finishing is meticulously executed by hand by the company’s experienced carpenters and upholsterers. For 40 years, they have mastered this art with precision and a degree of detail that is impossible to miss.

Behind every chair is a multi-step process and many, many hours of work. Specialized employees closely supervise construction, from the original birch board all the way to assembly. All the finishing, down to the last stitch, is painstakingly and precisely handcrafted.

TESTED AGAIN AND AGAIN

Throughout its construction, each model is tested and inspected several times to ensure it meets safety and quality standards. Canadel’s exemplary consistency on this point makes it a leader in the industry. And quality control doesn’t stop in the plant. Packaging, shipping, and customer service also meet strict and rigorous criteria, so that every piece of furniture is shipped with the greatest care and is delivered to the customer in perfect condition.

THE HIGHEST STANDARDS

“Our quality standards are even stricter than industry requirements,” states the Quality Director with pride. For example, our chairs and stools are designed and tested to a capacity of 450 pounds. Canadel is also getting greener! The company takes steps every day to reduce its environmental impact by buying locally; by recycling dyes, paints and solvents; and by using packaging made from recycled fibers. Everyone at the company is extremely proud.

NEARLY CUSTOM

At Canadel, you’ll rarely find two identical products in the production chain. While the family business doesn’t make fully tailor-made furniture, it does make unique, exclusive products.

Have you heard of the Signature Program? It enables you to customize a piece of furniture to fit your tastes to a T. Is your dining room particularly narrow? You can change the dimensions of some pieces in the Canadel, Champlain, and Loft collections. Simon Deschênes sums it up with this thought: “We are very serious about delivering on our promise of making high-quality furniture that can be adapted to our current customers and those to come.” C

Wouldn't you love a relaxing space where you could cuddle up with a hot cup of tea and a good book, have a glass of wine with your best friend, or enjoy a night of board games with your family? If you don't have a designated room, no problem—dedicate a quiet corner in your den or living room where you can rest easy. You'll need comfortable furniture with calming hues in your Zen zone. The Canadel collection's Leaf washed chairs and Honey washed table (both in an antique finish) work beautifully in this tranquil space. Not only will this serene space be good for your mood, it can reduce stress and encourage bonding. It's win-win. C

SLOW MORNINGS

Energy is much needed when it comes to busy weekends with friends and family. Here's why you should make sitting down for the most important meal of the day your new weekend tradition.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER
STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

DESIGNER TIP

Your dining set should serve as a comfortable place where you can gather and break bread. Canadel's Gourmet collection—this one done in both Shadow and Dove White with an antique finish—is a family favorite.

Get those croissants in the oven, prepare some fresh fruit for everyone, and pour your (first) cup of coffee. They say breakfast is the most important meal of the day for good reason—not only does it rev up your metabolism, but it also gives you precious time to check in with your little crew before everyone gets on with their day. Coming together for family meals isn't always easy when you're at the mercy of work and school schedules, so why not set aside time on Saturday or Sunday for a chill, delicious meal in your pajamas? Starting your own breakfast ritual is easy: Choose a dish (you can't go wrong with fresh buttery croissants), meet at the dining table, then gather around and enjoy each other's company while devouring a scrumptious meal. You'll feel good about starting your day well nourished, and spending that extra quality time with those you love will put a smile on your face. C

ON THE BRIGHT SIDE

Dining rooms don't have to be neutral and basic. Instead, why not lighten up your space with walls, furniture, and accessories in lively, playful hues? Read on to find out how to achieve the look.

19

So many homeowners opt for neutrals or darker shades when it comes to dressing their dining rooms. Some think grey, beige, or taupe walls, paired with espresso or mahogany furniture, offer a more formal look for this space. But the truth is, there's something exciting about decorating a dining room in a bright color. Here we've kept the room light and airy by selecting a yellow canvas for the dining chairs, and we've paired them with a Dove White table, both from our Canadel collection. Add in a glass vase filled with your favorite touch of greenery, a cheery bowl of lemons or fresh pears and you've got a beautiful vignette that commands attention. >

“HOW LOVELY YELLOW IS. IT STANDS FOR THE SUN.”

—VINCENT VAN GOGH

You’ve seen how wonderful yellow can be when brought into the dining room, but there’s more to this cheery hue than the way it brightens up your day. Some research says yellow is an energizing shade—it stimulates the brain, invigorates our positivity, and can even have a helpful effect on our motivation. That’s one of the many reasons we love yellow in our workspaces.

GET ORGANIZED

Keep your work and mind as organized as possible by bringing useful accessories into your office space. Whether you work from home or on-site, look for drawer organizers, letter trays, memo holders, file folders and other items to help you stay on task and keep your work area clutter-free.

GET INSPIRED

You spend so many hours a day on the job, why not dress up your workspace to ignite your creativity and boost your pleasure while at the office? Consider a stunning wood table or desk where you can work from, as well as pretty accessories like artwork and plants.

GET STYLISH

If you don’t like the look of a typical office chair in your home office, don’t fret. Not only are Canadel’s upholstered chairs super comfortable, but they also come in a selection of beautiful patterns and fabulous colors. They’ll add that unique look and feel to your space.

LAKESIDE LIVING

There's much to be said about life up at the lake, where the pace is slower, the air is fresher, and calming birdsong wakes you each day.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

If you've ever dreamed of leaving the big city and living lakeside in a perfectly cozy rustic cottage, you're not alone. Since the pandemic, more and more people are calling their recreational residences their full-time homes. Not only do they say their cottage is more affordable than living in an urban center, but they also say they like the small-town charm and the relaxed lifestyle that comes along with cottage country. In fact, research shows that people who live in cabins and cottages are very happy with their quality of life.

For those of us who already live in such an idyllic location, all you have to do is look out the window at your peaceful surroundings—the water, the trees, the landscape—and take in the scenery. The good news is that whether you live surrounded by nature or in the city, there are plenty of ways to transform your home into a beautiful but simple place filled with rustic charm. >

Filling your place with do-it-yourself art and decor makes a cottage-chic space feel comfortable and homey. We love the idea of buying wood oars and painting them as a family. It's the perfect rainy-day project!

To create a cottage-cozy look and feel, you must be ready to embrace a more minimalistic, simplistic style that's comfortable and relaxing instead of opulent and ornate. Start by bringing in quality wood furniture that makes a statement, along with wicker accessories. Patterns are typical in this decor, so look for stripes and plaids and mix them with pretty florals. You'll want to opt for natural colors, so consider light blue, sage green, and soft yellow hues.

One of the most important things to remember is to personalize your space as much as possible by incorporating pieces that mean a lot to you and your family. Bring in cherished family heirlooms, antique items that have been passed down from generation to generation, and other treasures that bring a smile to your face. Don't hesitate to mix old pieces with new—it's about curating a collection of items that make you happy and comfortable. C

DISTINCTIVE CHARM

Don't be afraid to have fun with your decor. It's time to mix and match materials, furniture, and accessories to create a comfortable space that exudes personality.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

We can't get enough of Canadel's Champlain collection shown here in Pecan washed and Dove White with a distressed finish. It has the perfect vintage vibe for a cozy feel.

Shabby-chic decor is still having a moment. The design trend has been hot for a while, for good reason: It combines a calm palette, relaxed elegance, and a hint of vintage charm, and it's all about comfort and that lived-in feel. Drawing inspiration from French design, the style focuses on florals, lots of white surfaces, distressed pieces, vintage accessories that have wear and tear, and balancing textures to create a harmonious space that's truly eclectic and personal.

The joy of creating a shabby-chic space is in the mixing and matching of materials, furniture, and accessories—don't get bogged down by design rules. This space was done in whites with pops of dusty rose in the dishware and nature-themed chair upholstery. The distressed table was paired with distinctive wood chairs, and the worn-looking white cabinet in the dining room is the perfect piece. The brick flooring has such a rustic feel and really adds charm while it pulls the look together. C

NORDIC STYLE

Scandinavian decor continues to impress designers and intrigue homeowners. This is a style that celebrates minimalism, clean lines, light hues, natural materials, and timeless pieces of furniture.

38

We love this exquisite table from the Canadel collection, done in Honey washed Antique. It truly pairs seamlessly with simple-yet-statement-making chairs in a black antique finish.

HELLO, HYGGE

The hygge (pronounced “hoo-ga”) movement isn’t new, but it sure has gotten incredibly popular over the last few years. This Danish term is all about feeling content and comfortable in a cozy environment that promotes a healthy sense of well-being. But there’s a design element, too—your home should be comfy and relaxed, and you can get the look by adhering to some of the most important trademarks of Scandinavian style, including using lighter color palettes (think whites, creams and light greys); natural, unstained woods or warm wood tones; greenery; a less-is-more approach with simple, beautifully crafted furniture pieces; clean lines; and warm textures like chunky cable knits and soft leathers are good choices.

COASTAL APPEAL

41

It's both elegant and rustic, and today, it's one of the most popular design styles. The coastal design is versatile and refreshing, and if you want a peaceful, welcoming space, it could be right up your alley.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

Functional. Friendly. Cozy. The coastal style appreciates casual comfort and promotes relaxation and tranquility. You don't have to live near the ocean to appreciate coastal style. Bring that beachy vibe into your abode by celebrating color and trying seaside design elements. Created using lots of wooden beams and planks, these cozy homes had a lived-in, rustic feel that is simple yet inviting. Today's coastal design is built on this aesthetic and honors the style of beachside living. They're about creating character, warmth, and relaxation using lots of wood furniture, vintage pieces, layered textures, simple accents, and inviting colors. And not just white, grey, and beige! A great coastal look can be done in gorgeous hues like blue, green, and cream. There's a good balance between new and old, and rustic details, like shiplap, are welcome. Designers are also mixing this style with other complementary aesthetics such as modern and farmhouse vibes. >

Choosing crisp white for your dining furniture is a popular choice in the coastal style. We can't get enough of these stunning chairs paired with the wood table.

If there's one thing we really love about coastal design, it's the fact that wood always figures so prominently. Not only is it used for flooring, but it's also the perfect accent to use when it comes to making a statement on the wall—think exposed planks or paneling. Of course, wood furniture is also a staple of this stunning style. And while unfinished, raw, or rough-looking wood will always work in this design, wood chairs, tables, benches, buffets, decorations, and other furnishings in a variety of finishes also make great choices. Whether you prefer an ultralight blond, white-washed or parchment wood in your space, or you tend to gravitate toward the darker tones like espresso, ebony, peppercorn-washed or dark smoke colors, as long as you showcase your wooden furniture in your beachy space, you really can't go wrong. >

Coffee tables

Your coffee table plays a key role in your decor—it takes center stage in the middle of the room and often holds your cherished knickknacks. These three Canadel tables fit beautifully in any space.

Canadel collection,
Navy blue washed,
Matte finish.

Champlain collection,
Honey washed,
Distressed finish.

Canadel collection,
Honey washed and Almond,
Matte finish.

Coastal design has its own look and ambience. It's very beachy and celebrates the laid-back, relaxed feeling of being seaside. Most experts say the look originates from the Atlantic coast, but it's a style that can be found in any home, no matter the proximity to the beach. The look starts by bringing in the right hues—think colors of the surf, sand, and sky. Crisp, clean white reigns supreme as a backdrop, and shades of blue and green are the perfect complement. When it comes to furniture, light-colored teak and birch pieces are great choices, and natural textures (cotton and jute, for example) add to the vacation vibe.

TRUE CLASSICS

While new and innovative design brings a sense of excitement to a space, there's much to be said for tried-and-true classics that never go out of style.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER
STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

DESIGNER TIP

Some patterns—like the one on these stools from the Canadel collection—have been around for decades and are still super fashionable today.

A famous Italian designer once said, “styles come and go. Good design is a language, not a style.” These words ring true today. Trends and tastes evolve, and you’ll find some design choices of yesteryear have remained in the past. But there are also a significant number of design elements that will never go out of style—design decisions, furniture pieces and colors that return season after season, year after year, era after era. This is the definition of timeless design. It’s not built on fads or trends. Instead, the hallmark of classic design is that it has staying power and it’s created to last. These are design elements that have become iconic.

48

There are many characteristics and pieces that make up timeless design. At its core, it’s simple, sophisticated, functional, and adaptable. It’s not about being dull or bland, but it’s also not opulent or ornate. Interior designers say white kitchens, gallery walls, canopy beds, subway tiles, marble countertops, toile, fresh flowers, sconces, and sisal carpeting, for example, are all considered classic and have stood the test of time. So too have neutral paint colors, like white, beige, grey, and taupe. These shades will forever be considered fashionable. >

51

If you want to infuse timeless design into your interiors, don't worry; there are many ways to incorporate its features in every room in your home. First, you'll want to create a focal point, a spot where your eye naturally rests in a room. If you already have big picture windows, a fireplace, or a stunning wood table, you might use these as the focal point. If you don't have an element that naturally works, create your own using architectural accessories or an incredible piece of art for example. The remainder of furniture in your room should be arranged around it. Once you've established this, consider symmetry in the space and add pairs where possible. In your dining room, for example, you might place matching vases and tableware on your table and bring in a set of long candles. >

This antique parchment bench from the Canadel collection is the perfect example of furniture that never goes out of style.

POWER OF TIME

When you're accessorizing your space, opt for more classic patterns. While some prints tend to come and go (such as animal prints), there are a plethora of patterns that offer a timeless feel. Consider using plaid, checks, stripes, and botanical prints, and don't be afraid to bring multiple patterns into a room. If you tend to gravitate toward a pattern or print that doesn't have tried-and-tested staying power, don't use it for wallpaper, drapery, or bigger pieces. Instead, have fun with trends in smaller, easier-to-change items like toss cushions, bed sheets, and throws. Finally, one of the hallmarks of timeless design is using good-quality pieces—accessories, furniture, and fabrics that don't break the bank but are well constructed and offer plenty of character and functionality. It's a good rule of thumb to opt for more bigger anchor items that are well-made (dining sets, sofas, or hutches, for example) because they'll last for many years and can be accessorized with pieces that complement your style and decor. G

Benches

Decorative benches are super versatile and are the perfect piece for an entryway or sunroom or can provide extra seating in your main living space. Here are three of our favorites.

IN THE MOOD

Not everyone gravitates toward a bright and sunny interior. If you prefer a moody ambience, read on to learn how to bring the style into your home.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER
 STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

55

There's something endearing about embracing a darker, more moody design. Some say this look has a more masculine feel, but that doesn't mean it won't work in a family home. This aesthetic is quite appealing to those who want to create a super-cozy space, those who are drawn to rich materials and textures or deeper, darker hues. If you're considering the aesthetic and you're not sure where to start, take heart. Begin by bringing in black, charcoal grey, or navy when it comes to paint, wall coverings, furniture, and accessories. These highly pigmented shades really set the tone for a moodier style. Lighting is also key here—subtle, dim lights add to the ambience. When it comes to textures and materials, opt for lots of wood, stone, concrete, and steel, and don't worry if pieces seem rough as opposed to smooth—a more rugged look makes a real statement! C

A MODERN WONDER

56

This style has been around for a century, and it isn't going anywhere. We love it for its boldness, longevity, and simplicity.

WORDS BY LISA VAN DE GEYN PHOTOS ANDRÉ RIDER
STYLIST STÉPHANIE RENIÈRE

Modern interior design is a style sought after by many homeowners who are interested in making a statement in their decor. Starting in the early twentieth century and gaining in popularity since, modern design is characterized by a truly minimalistic approach (less is more in this style), an open floor plan, clean lines, lots of natural light, a monochromatic color palette, and the use of natural materials (think stone, wood, and leather). Simplicity is at the forefront when it comes to this aesthetic. >

DESIGNER TIP

Go ahead and incorporate different materials in your modern decor. Wood, metal, and glass work incredibly well together.

THE KEY

To get the look, incorporate wood, glass, steel, and even concrete—the industrial aesthetic is a key part of modern design. When it comes to furniture, opt for clean lines. Choose items that have plain, simple fabric (no bold prints or patterns here) and minimal detailing on wooden legs of tables, like this one from Canadel's Downtown collection for instance. Skip the crown moulding and cornices and keep cabinetry unadorned. Keep colors neutral and add black as a strong accent.

THE SPARKLING SOUR

Portion: 1 cocktail

60

INGREDIENTS

Ice cubes
2 oz. (60 ml) your favorite almond liqueur
1 oz. (30 ml) orange juice
6 oz. (180 ml) ginger ale
Orange zest
Small sprigs of rosemary

PREPARATION

Fill your glass with ice cubes.
Pour the almond liqueur and the orange juice in the glass.
Top up with the ginger soft drink.
Curl up the orange zest. Using a cocktail pick, hang the orange zest and the rosemary on the edge of the glass.

QUICK QUIZ

WHAT KIND OF DESIGN MATCHES YOUR STYLE?

Outfitting a room can be very fun but is not always the easiest task. Consider these five expert tips before you start looking for new furniture for home.

Color scheme

Think about your favorite colors, but also take the color of your walls and floors into consideration.

Lighting

Ensuring you have good lighting in your home will enhance the color, pattern, and fabric in the furniture you select.

Room size

Proportion and size matter. Take detailed and correct measurements before you shop.

Usability

Think about how you will use the furniture. Will you prefer to sit on a chair or a stool, for example? Will you eat every meal at your new dining set?

Know your style

The style you will finally choose should suit your personality and your lifestyle.

Take note of the pieces that inspire you. Would you fall for our Downtown collection? Is the antique finish more your vibe? Visit the link at the right of this page for our special quiz and discover which style suits you best in just a few minutes!
