

Luxury Travel Destinations Around The Globe

Casa Mataiza, located in Punta Mita, Mexico is quite simply an architectural gem. This spectacular private home and property is located at the northern tip of the stunningly beautiful Banderas Bay along the Mexican Pacific coastline. Nestled inside the gates of Mita Residential, the most exclusive vacation and residential gated community in Mexico, Casa Mataiza is one of several private homes available to rent in this astonishing paradise. Architect, Alejandro Quintanilla, a graduate and teacher at National University in Mexico City, missed nothing when designing and furnishing this miraculous sanctuary. Punta Mita is a gorgeous peninsula transformed into a luxurious travel destination and is the home to a few of the most prestigious resorts in the country including The Four Seasons Punta Mita and The St. Regis Resort Punta Mita. Casa Mataiza, resting inside its own private gates, grants every creature comfort ... including private Chef's, property management and twenty-four hour security along the beautiful white sandy beach.

Mita Residential offers the widest array of upscale services available for guest of Punta Mita. Being the largest vacation rental management company in the region, Mita Residential provides individual attention, concierge services and will take care of pre-arrival itinerary planning including transportation, grocery shopping, restaurant reservations and scheduling of all activities. Guest have unlimited access to Punta Mita resort services and facilities, including the Punta Mita Beach Club. Mita Residential is the only agency in town with permanent, year-round staff of housekeepers, chefs and childcare services.

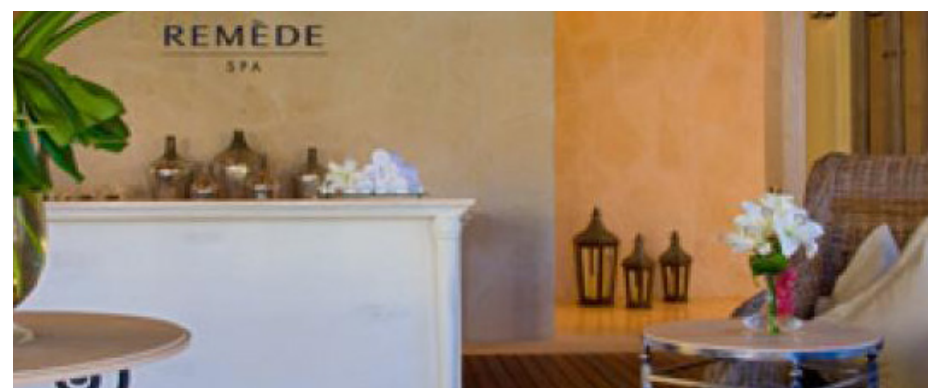

Mita Residential maintains that Mexico has been in a state of constant transformation in which the trends of the times have always left their mark on all building work. The outcome of this is that Mexico has become a catalog of expressions of different trends and models that stands at all times at the cutting edge of architecture, in turn, conveying the hopes and aspirations of people in their quest for a better life. The breathtaking beauty that surrounds Punta Mita is nothing short of magnificent. OPULENCE IN MEXICO

Punta Mita has fast become a preferential vacation hotspot for those who seek comfort and opulence, not to mention, heaven for surfers, snorkelers and scuba divers. Considering that Punta Mita sets on a peninsula, if there is no surf on one side, one will usually find fantastic surf on the other side. Located just off of Mita's coastline is the Island, Las Marietas, a protected reserve for a rare bird named the Blue Footed Booby (also found in the Galapagos), and is a favorite area for snorkeling and diving. Another exotic bird indigenous to the region is the Frigate (referred to as "Pirates" by the locals) and strongly bear a resemblance to prehistoric birds. They are often seen gliding across the breaking waves looking to rob fish from the Pelicans. Casa Mataiza has four master suites all designed to enjoy breathtaking views of the ocean and sunsets. The home easily accommodates up to ten guests with a number of tranquil respites overlooking a great infinity pool, jacuzzi, large firepit and lush property. Within a 15 minute drive from Mita Residential is the magical town of Sayulita. This artist village offers a surprisingly wide range of boutiques offering authentic jewelry, clothing and home décor, as well as, quaint restaurants and recreational activities on the beach. However, if total relaxation is on your agenda, the St. Regis Remede Spa is among the finest and in the usual St. Regis fashion, the customer service is outstanding as they are committed to providing an exceptional experience.

AN OASIS IN MILAN'S FASHION DISTRICT

Four Seasons Hotel Milan

What was once a 15th-century convent is now the Four Seasons Hotel Milano, a garden retreat in the heart of the city's fashion and financial districts.

A quiet haven from Milan's inner city bustle, the 118 luxury hotel rooms and suites at Four Seasons Hotel Milano offer chic and inviting interiors in diverse dimensions. Designed around striking original 15th-century architectural details, each room is individual, fusing historical details with timeless Italian design. Underscoring the tranquil surrounds, the Four Seasons signature service is quiet and attentive as you relax, dine and celebrate among Milan's most beautiful and historic spaces. Plush down pillows, soft Frette linens and thick terry robes come standard in every guest room and suite. Perfect for retiring after a long day of sightseeing. This amazing resort hotel also offers massage, pedicure, manicure and more from the comfort and privacy of your guest room or suite. The three-level Cloister Suite is a reflection of the Hotel's rich architectural heritage and overlooks a fragrant private garden or a manicured courtyard. Italy is known for its culinary delights and their Executive Chef Sergio Mei is happiest when creating dishes that he describes as "poor man's food, instead of foie gras, truffles and caviar." From drinks at the Il Foyer lounge to dinner overlooking the gardens at La Veranda, Four Seasons Hotel Milano is a favorite of both travelers and locals.

From iconic Gothic cathedrals to ornate palaces and theatres, the city's architectural wonders can be explored on a single scenic stroll. One of world's fashion capitals, Milan is home to a thriving couture scene. Flagships include Armani, Fendi, Prada, and more. The Hotel stands on a cluster of signature shops known as "The Golden Quadrilateral." A must-visit, even if you're only window shopping. North of Milan and an hour from the Hotel is one of the most beautiful lakes in Italy and a source of inspiration for everyone from moviemakers to 19th-century poets. The nearby town of Como boasts a 14th-century cathedral and a street plan unchanged since the Romans. San Siro Stadium is a premier destination for soccer fans, and The Monza Formula 1 race track is just 40 minutes from Milan, with Franciacorta wine country only 1 hour east of the city. And for those of you thrill-seekers put the pedal to the metal in a cherry-red Ferrari, the ultimate Italian sports car, for an unforgettable ride to the company's plant, where you'll embark on a guided tour. Created exclusively for Four Seasons Hotel Milano by Red Travel, your exhilarating experience begins outside the Hotel, when you're handed the keys to your own Ferrari.

Hop in, buckle up and enjoy a two-and-a-half-hour adrenaline rush, accelerating on highways or zooming through the Italian countryside to the Ferrari manufacturing plant in Maranello. There you'll get a guided tour – a privilege otherwise available only to Ferrari owners – and a chance to explore the car's rich history at the Ferrari museum, just minutes away. End your excursion with lunch at Ristorante Montana in nearby Fiorano. Don't be surprised if you spot Formula One race car driver and two-time world champion Fernando Alonso and other racing notables at the next table.

There is a reason Italy is one of the greatest travel destinations in the world and we just listed a number of them from historical sights to fashion hunting and adventure, Milan has it all and The Four Seasons Milan is simply one of the finest hotels in the city. A DIAMOND IN THE ROCKIES

The Arrabelle At Vail

This winter, let Gondola One in Vail Village take you to new heights for Décimo's one-of-a-kind mountaintop dance party on Vail Mountain. Currently scheduled Décimo dates for the upcoming winter season include:

- Wednesday, Dec. 31, 2014
- Saturday, Jan. 24, 2015
- Friday, Jan. 30, 2015
- Friday, Feb. 13, 2015
- Friday, March 6, 2015
- Thursday, April 2, 2015

"The hugely successful debut of Décimo last March confirmed our belief that this is what our discerning guests from around the world are looking for to complete their experience in Vail," said Chris Jarnot, senior vice president and chief operating officer of Vail Mountain. "We're thrilled to be sharing Décimo this season and giving our guests even more reason to return to Vail."

Whether it be hiking, skiing or shopping; after a long day on Vail Mountain, you deserve a peaceful haven to recuperate. During your Arrabelle at Vail Square getaway, you will find just that. Choose from over 81 guest rooms, all of which boast comfortable furnishings and tasteful alpine decor. Kick off your ski boots and settle in by the fireplace, or if you prefer, take advantage of such technological touches as a flat screen television, DVD player and Bose MP3 player. Rustic scenery does not necessitate rustic technology, and as you'll soon learn, the Arrabelle offer the best of both worlds.

As your relaxing evening draws to a close, unwind with a hot bath. Your suite's private bathroom comes equipped with a spacious tub, shower and even a TV to keep you entertained. Once finished, you'll be greeted by a comfortable bed and a level of silence only possible at a distinguished resort such as The Arrabelle.

While the crisp, clean alpine air surrounding The Arrabelle at Vail Square will provide a rejuvenating and transformative experience, those seeking an indoor retreat can find sanctuary at RockResorts Spa® at The Arrabelle. Voted #19 of the top 270 spas in the world in recent the 2012 Conde Nast Reader's Poll, our 10,000 square foot spa provides breathtaking panoramic views of the Rocky Mountains along with unparalleled luxury, relaxation and rejuvenation.

On the hunt for more secluded accommodations? The Arrabelle at Vail Square has you covered. THE ULTIMATE DESTINATION FOR LOVERS OF THE BIG APPLE!

The Waldorf Astoria New York hotel has set the standard worldwide for fine dining, lavish accommodations, and 5-star events for over a century. This landmark luxury New York City hotel is in the heart of Midtown New York City on famous Park Avenue.

The Waldorf Astoria New York hotel is an essential destination for enthusiasts of the Art Deco style. Recognized as one of the world's most significant examples of Art Deco art and architecture, this New York City luxury hotel is a living museum of decorative ornamentation, design, remarkable paintings and beautiful motifs. An official New York City landmark since 1993, the Art Deco hotel occupies an entire city block in midtown Manhattan.

The original Waldorf Hotel was built on the site of millionaire William Waldorf Astor's mansion at the corner of Fifth Avenue and 33rd Street. The 13-story hotel opened on 13 March 1893. Four years later, Waldorf's cousin, John Jacob Astor IV, erected the 17-story Astoria Hotel on an adjacent site. John Jacob Astor IV died on the Titanic on 15 April 1912. William Waldorf Astoria, having returned to England in 1893, died 18 October 1919.

In 1929, the owners decided to tear down the original building due to it becoming dated and the draining of its revenues caused by Prohibition. The site was sold to the developers of what would become the Empire State Building. The current location on Park Avenue opened on 1 October 1931 as the tallest and largest hotel in the world.

Hilton purchased the property in 1949 (the building and management contract), for $3 million, from New York State Realty & Terminal Company. New York Central RR owned the land, which Hilton purchased in 1977.

This extraordinary establishment has long been world-famous for its culinary creations. The hotel's unique Manhattan restaurants, bars and lounges offer inspired cuisine and signature cocktails in luxurious surroundings. Experience celebrated dishes, including Waldorf Salad, Veal Oscar, Red Velvet Cake and Thousand Island Dressing. Order a Manhattan or a Rob Roy cocktail, invented at Sir Harry's Lounge. People-watch and admire the Art Deco lobby in the Cocktail Terrace. As the inventor of room service, The Waldorf Astoria New York hotel's Manhattan restaurants continue the tradition of seeing to guests' needs in the city that never sleeps.

Looking for the ultimate in relaxation and skincare ... Guerlain has devoted itself to the art of skincare and beauty since 1828. That tradition continues today at the Guerlain Spa at The Waldorf Astoria New York. Attention to the smallest detail makes a visit to the Guerlain Spa a unique experience. Indulge in offerings such as makeup applications, soothing massages, cleansing men's and women's facials, and body therapies.
