Welcome to the twelfth edition of The Hovan Narratives Newsletter!

Forestton

A wizard must protect Earth, his adopted home, from people who should not be here.

A man, haunted by the reoccurring nightmare of the loss of his wife, attempts to escape the anguish with a change of scenery. The Wizard Hovan, using his magic, moves to Earth. Someone followed. Or preceded him. Whichever, they do not want him on the planet. Or alive. The feeling is mutual.

This good man, capable of violence, must protect both this magically vulnerable planet and his home town of Forestton. Someone has to. He must protect his friends, human and elf, while also relying on them for help. Moving between worlds to fight this evil, the wizard attempts to mix magic and technology, humans and elves, and keep everyone safe. So much for escaping the memories.

May the One he serves protect them.

This story is part epic fantasy and part magical realism, as it occurs on the parallel worlds of Ra'viinen and contemporary Earth.

'Forestton The Hovan Narratives' is published!

Welcome to the twelfth edition of The Hovan Narratives Newsletter. May 2026 was a great month in my writing career. I published my first novel, 'Forestton'. I also held my first book signing at GrillMark in Albertson, New York. The book signing was a great success! Thank you again to GrillMark for being such wonderful hosts. I also wish to thank all the people who showed up. You all helped make it an exciting and fun evening.

If you have read 'Forestton' and liked it, please post a review on Goodreads.com. If you purchased the novel online, I hope you will post a positive review on the website you bought it from as well. For a self-published novel like mine, reviews are so very important!

You can buy the novel from Amazon, Apple, Google, Kobo, and my website (Christopheriolaire.com). It should be available from Barnes and Noble as well, though they will most likely have to order it. 'Forestton' is available as a trade paperback ($14.99) or eBook ($3.99).

I wish to take a moment to thank my editors and beta readers. The editors check for plot, character development as well as more mundane aspects like proper grammar and over used words. The beta reader's job is to read the nearly finished story and give feedback. Besides basic likes or dislikes of the story elements, they also helped pick up typos and unintended patterns. Thank you for being honest and helping me become a better write.

I continue to build an email list (sign up at christopheriolaire.com) and an Instagram following at @christopher_iolaire. Please follow me on Instagram and Goodreads.com. You can also find me on Facebook at Christopher Iolaire. As always, I appreciate any help you can offer in spreading the word about the novel: either through word of mouth or social media.

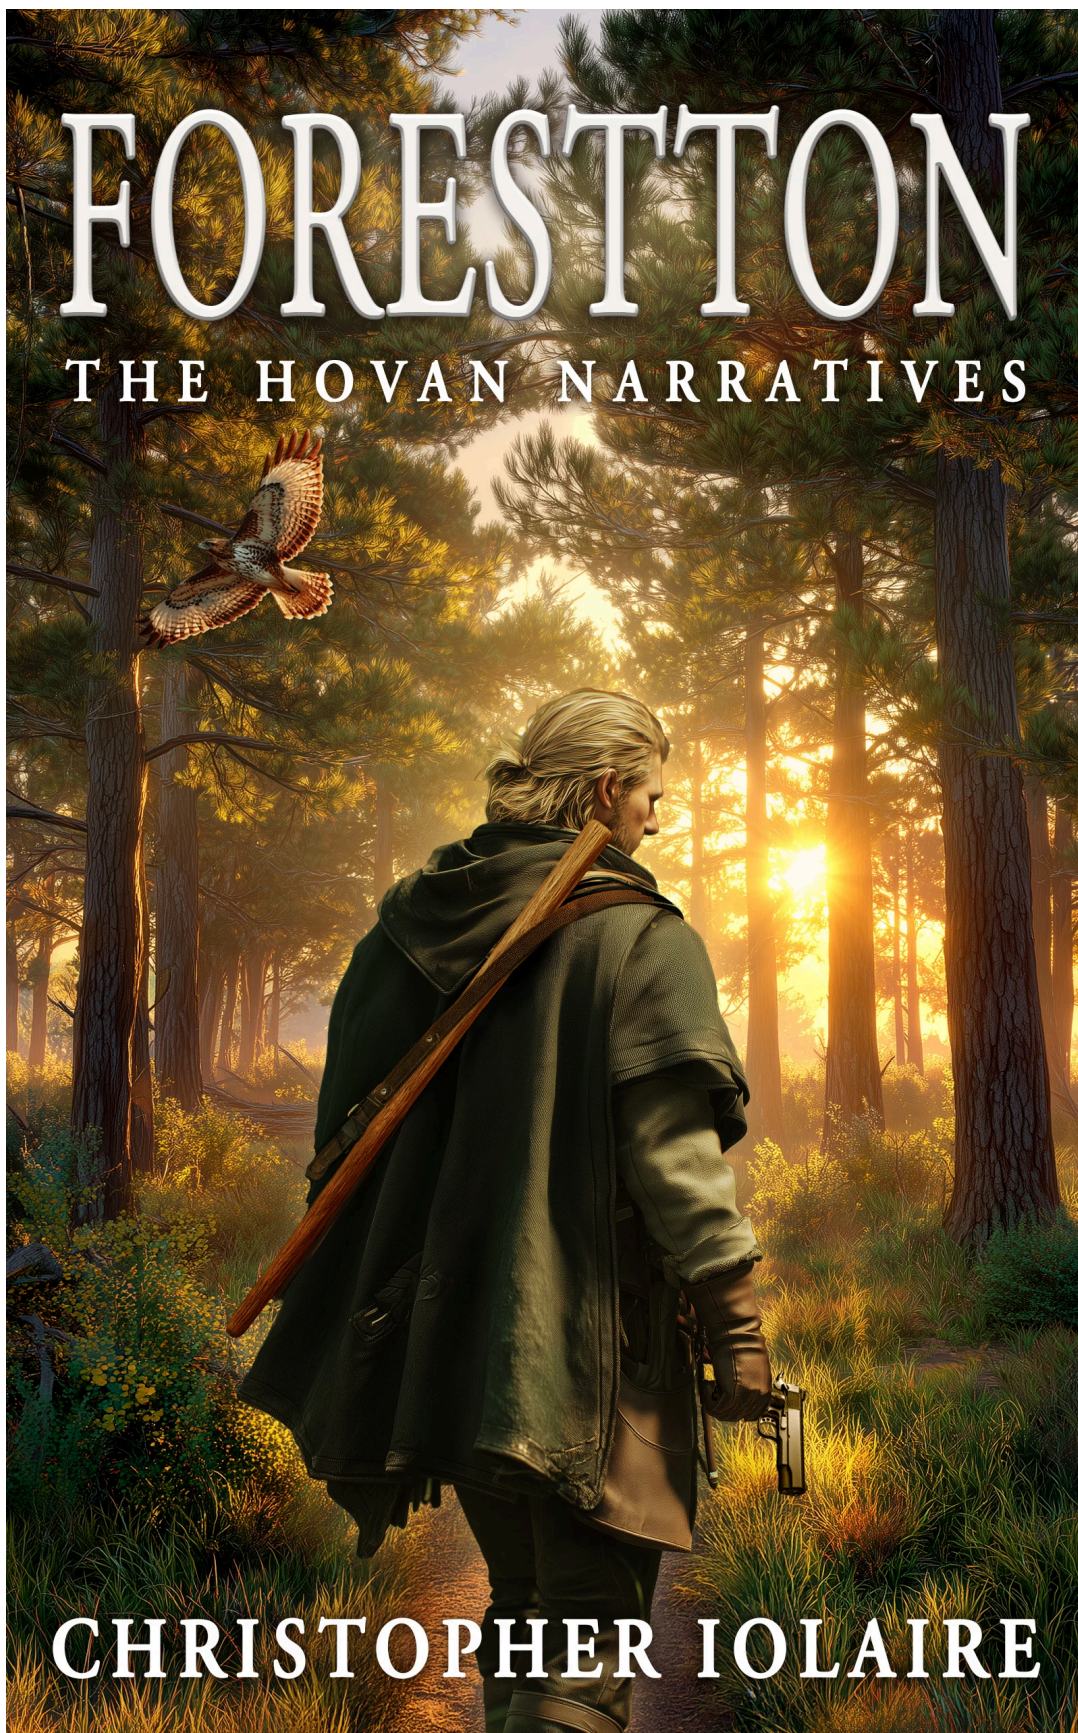

Enjoy the read.

Take care,

Christopher Iolaire
