Psychosocial Well-being at Work - Global Insights, Local Action

The International Research Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (IRIOSH) proudly announces its inaugural global event, marking a new era in occupational health research and practice. As we commemorate World OSH Day 2026 under the ILO's theme "Ensuring a healthy psychosocial working environment", IRIOSH brings together global experts, policymakers, researchers, and practitioners to bridge the gap between international evidence and local implementation.

We warmly invite OSH professionals and practitioners, HR and well-being managers, government regulators and policymakers, occupational health researchers and academics, employer and worker representatives, mental health specialists, consultants, training providers, and OSH students to join us.
