1. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

The frogs in a certain swamp lived very happily without a ruler. However, one day they decided that they wanted a ruler. So they prayed to God for one. Since God realized how silly their demand was, he sent them a king who could not harm them; he tossed a big log into the middle of the pond. Hearing the splash, the frogs were terribly frightened, and dived into their holes to hide from King Log. After a while, when they saw that the king never moved, they got over their fright and went and sat on him. And as soon as they found he really could not hurt them they began to despise him. Finally they prayed to God for a new ruler. So God sent them an eel.

The frogs were pleased when Queen Eel came wriggling and swimming among them. But as the days went on, and the eel was perfectly harmless, they stopped being afraid and they stopped respecting her. So they begged for another ruler.

Since the foolish frogs were not happy, God finally sent them a stork. As soon as the frogs came to the surface to greet the new king, King Stork caught some of them in his long bill and gobbled them up.

The other frogs hopped away in fear. Now they could never swim peacefully in the pond.
