1. Read the passage and answer the following questions.

The Magic Portal There was a magic portal in Amy's bedroom. She could travel to any destination in the world, and travel back. Amy didn't need cars, trains or planes. She was the luckiest girl in the world, and would travel to a different country every weekend. Amy stayed in the nicest hotels and saw places that no one else could see, and it was all because of her magic portal. To pay for all of the hotels and sightseeing, Amy would transport herself into the biggest banks in the world and take from the richest people in the world. The amount of cash in her room was ridiculous. She felt guilty about doing this, but not that guilty because she was only a ten year old girl after all...
