PRECISION CNC MACHINING

BUILT FOR REPEAT PRODUCTION & ONGOING CONTRACT WORK

Aversa Workholding is a family-owned CNC machine shop in Clover, South Carolina. We create and manufacture our own products while also providing precision CNC machining for our customers. Our focus is building long-term manufacturing partnerships centered around repeatable production. While we support prototypes and short-run needs, our specialty is work that keeps coming back: production runs, families of parts, scheduled release, and ongoing contract machining.
