Ron Keel Band’s new 2022 version of “The Right To Rock” jumped from #225 to #60 on the Mediabase chart

The Right To Chart

The Right To Rock is alive and well at rock radio

New single, same timeless message

Ron Keel Band’s new 2022 version of the classic anthem “The Right To Rock” continues to receive major airplay.

The song was recently featured on the wildly popular “Nights With Alice Cooper” syndicated program. “It sounded great on the air!” said Katherine Turman, the show’s producer.

“Trunk Nation” listeners on Sirius XM were treated to the song and a live on-air appearance by Ron Keel when host Eddie Trunk spoke to Keel about the song, the new EP “KEELED,” the upcoming KEELWORLD album and more.

“The Right To Rock” jumped from #225 to #60 in one week on the Mediabase rolling chart.

The EP “Keeled,” which features new versions of some of the 80’s Keel classics, debuted #34 on the AMPED Top Sellers chart.

“This is a song for all generations,” Ron Keel said. “Gene Simmons told me when we were recording the original version back in 1985, he said, ‘You know you’re going to be singing this song for the rest of your life.’ Of course he was right; I appreciate the old-school fans embracing this new version, and the younger fans embracing this old song.”

Trunk’s show is sponsored by Retro Active in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, a unique store and tourist attraction that specializes in merchandise and memorabilia from the 70’s, 80’s, and 90’s. From movies to music to all aspects of popular culture, Retro Active offers a wealth of timeless treasures from “back in the day.” Both Eddie Trunk and Ron Keel have made in-store appearances there, and the shop often hosts rock star meet & greets, book signings, even live acoustic performances such as the one Keel delivered on the store’s Sweet 16 Anniversary in 2021. “Eddie Trunk has been a friend and supporter of mine since my first album was released,” said KRFB station manager Ron Keel. We’ve traveled the seas together on the Monsters Of Rock Cruise, he’s been on my show, I’ve been on his radio shows, we’ve had some good times at some big events. To say I’m thrilled to have “Eddie Trunk Rocks” on KRFB would be a severe understatement, we’re extremely proud to have him on the station.”

Show #250 features guest Steve Vai

“Streets Of Rock N Roll” celebrates 10 years
Over 200 celebrity guests include rock heroes & Hall of Famers

Host Ron Keel celebrated 10 years on the radio with the 250th episode of his “Streets Of Rock N Roll” show.

The program launched in March 2012, after Ron carried a portable recorder on board the Monsters Of Rock Cruise and captured interviews with performers and fans.

“Streets” was broadcast worldwide on 50 stations when he put the show on hold in 2014 to take a live radio gig. Keel subsequently hosted “Midday Mayhem” on KBAD 94.5 FM in Sioux Falls 10 AM-2 PM weekdays and was the #1 rock voice & show in that market for three consecutive Nielsen ratings periods.

Hosting a live show on FM radio four hours a day put a strain on his musical career; the weekly syndicated format allows Keel to produce the show anywhere, anytime, and “Streets Of Rock N Roll” was relaunched in 2019. The 250 milestone indicates all-new episodes and does not include “Best Of” editions or “Retro Reruns” that have occasionally aired when the touring schedule gets a little too crazy. The show is currently featured on KRFB and 11 other stations. Visit <http://ronkeelshow.com>

Patreon is my house online. Everybody’s welcome to come over and join the party, just bring a six pack – or actually, $6.99 a month for All Access to exclusive video & audio content, direct interaction with me, merch discounts, VIP access at shows and more.

In days gone by, I would never have given the public this kind of access. It was always best to keep everything under wraps until it was released; but like all artists, I want to share this stuff with the people closest to me. Kind of like when you come home from a session and you want to play the new track for your family; I just have a really big family on Patreon, and it’s growing all the time!

We’re taking Keelaholics behind the scenes during the recording sessions for the new album KEELWORLD. All Access Patreon members can follow along during the entire process this year as we create new music from Ron Keel Band, Steeler, Keel, and other Ron Keel projects and bands.

Here's an example...a Patreon-exclusive clip of the first run-through of a brand new song, “The Last Bottle On Earth:”

“I want to share this stuff with the people closest to me.”

- Ron Keel

I started building my Patreon page in 2017 when my wife Renee was diagnosed with cancer, and I knew I had to find a way to work from home. We were quarantined long before the pandemic and this year the Keelaholics and I will celebrate four years together on Patreon.

I have a ton of content from my personal archives – concert video from throughout my career, live recordings, unreleased tracks, demos, stories. You’ll also find instructional workshops on singing and songwriting. Basically, anything I can think of to share with my people. Maybe the coolest thing about it is the friendships I’ve seen grow between members who didn’t previously know each other. In that way, it’s very much like music –it’s all about bringing people together.
