Vision And Mission

- Creation of a society based on justice and free from poverty and exploitation.
- Enabling vulnerable and voiceless communities to assert their rights and develop their capacity.

Organization Key Milestone

During the year 2023-2024, our organization, in partnership with the Azim Premji Foundation, implemented a project across 46 villages under eight gram panchayats in Nawa Bazar block, Palamu district, Jharkhand. The primary objective of the project was to strengthen the capacities of the Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTG) to access essential resources and services. A significant focus was placed on empowering Gram Sabhas to ensure Community Forest Rights (CFR) and facilitate access to various social welfare schemes.

The rural households in the target area face a myriad of socio-economic challenges, including poverty, drought, groundwater depletion, lack of clean energy, crop failure, food and nutritional insecurity, irregular Public Distribution System (PDS) operations, suboptimal delivery of social security schemes, unemployment, indebtedness, and distress migration. Recognizing these pressing issues, we designed and executed targeted interventions to alleviate the hardships faced by these communities.

The overarching aim of the project was to strengthen local self-governance structures, ensuring rights and entitlements through social security schemes, wage-based entitlements under MGNREGA, and community and individual claims under the Forest Rights Act (FRA), 2006. Additionally, we focused on health and nutrition, conserving traditional culture and systems, and generating sustainable livelihoods within PVTG communities.

Over the reporting year, our team at Vikas Sahyog Kendra worked diligently to achieve the project's objectives. Grassroots mobilization, awareness campaigns, and community engagement were integral to our approach. Advocacy efforts were undertaken at both block and district levels to address systemic challenges, such as irregularities in the PDS distribution system and pending forest rights claims. Regular Gram Sabha meetings, Tola Sabha discussions, and interactions with labor groups and Self-Help Groups (SHGs) were key components of our strategy.

Phase-wise training sessions were conducted for traditional leaders, including Gram Pradhans, PRI members, Mukhiyas, and Forest Rights Committee (FRC) members. These trainings focused on the Panchayati Raj system, the roles and responsibilities of Gram Sabhas, and the provisions of the FRA Act.

The year yielded promising outcomes. Community participation, particularly among women, in Gram Sabha meetings increased significantly, with meetings becoming more regular in 43 villages. Moreover, PDS-related issues were successfully resolved in two villages through Gram Sabha intervention. These achievements mark a significant step forward in addressing the socio-economic challenges faced by the targeted households and fostering sustainable development in the region.

Context Study – An Approach to Deepen Understanding of Social Issues

Extensive training programs and workshops were conducted to strengthen governance capabilities and empower local governance groups, including Gram Sabha members, the Gram Sabha Sachivalay Functioning Committee, Forest Management Committees, women's groups, youth, active citizens, and labor collectives. A particular focus was placed on equipping Gram Sabha leaders with the necessary knowledge to address issues like Community Forest Rights and social security schemes. To gain a deeper understanding of the system, we conducted studies, surveys, social audits, and assessments of the issues faced by Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs) and other burdens. These efforts greatly aided in improving our outreach and service delivery.

Important Day Celebration

As part of the Gram Swashasan Abhiyan initiative, we actively celebrate key days such as Labour Day, International Women's Day, MGNREGA Diwas, Environment Day, Forest Rights Day, International Youth Day, Constitution Day and Women's day. These occasions provide vital platforms to raise awareness among community members about their rights, entitlements, and critical governance issues.

Each celebration is used as an opportunity to engage, inform, and empower local communities through meaningful dialogue, collective reflection, and participatory action..

As part of the Gram Swashasan Abhiyan initiative, significant efforts were made to strengthen Gram Sabhas and empower local communities to actively participate in governance and decision-making. A total of 149 Gram Sabhas were conducted, with active participation from 7,074 people (3,441 men and 3,633 women), reflecting a growing sense of community engagement. Through capacity-building, awareness campaigns, and facilitation of democratic processes, Gram Sabhas became platforms for identifying local issues and ensuring access to government schemes. Notable achievements include increased participation in GPDP planning, improved access to ration through PDS, housing support under the Abua Awas Yojana, employment through MGNREGA, and the identification of excluded families for welfare benefits. Twelve villages received CFR titles, traditional farming practices were revived, deforestation reduced, health camps were conducted, education improved, and social security schemes reached the needy. Women's empowerment gained momentum, and knowledge of various schemes increased among villagers.

Empowering Grassroots Governance: Strengthening Gram Sabhas for Inclusive Community Development

Strengthening Gram Sabha structures also enhanced community decision-making, increased the relevance of the Gram Panchayat Secretariat, and helped marginalized communities assert their rights more effectively, leading to tangible improvements in local governance and development.

A total of 184 citizen leaders are actively facilitating and overseeing the regular functioning of Gram Sabha meetings, ensuring consistent community participation and local governance.

Securing Community Forest Rights (CFR) through Strengthened Local Governance

As part of our efforts to secure Community Forest Rights (CFR), we worked closely with local communities to strengthen the Forest Rights Management Committees (FRMCs). Through regular training sessions, awareness campaigns, and documentation support, the committees were empowered to understand the Forest Rights Act, 2006, and take the necessary steps to claim their legal rights. As a result, 12 villages successfully received CFR titles. These rights have granted villagers the authority to manage, use, and protect their forest resources independently. With these entitlements, communities have become active stewards of their local ecosystems, achieving a balance between conservation and livelihood needs.

The recognition of CFR has promoted sustainable development through community participation and enabled villagers to take ownership of their natural resources for long-term ecological and economic benefits.

Traditional Leader Training

Training of traditional leaders helped strengthen Gram Sabhas and empower communities. Through 37 with 688 participants, leaders were trained to blend traditional knowledge with governance practices. They promoted awareness about traditional food, lifestyle, herbal medicine, and village history, especially among youth. The training reduced superstitions, encouraged millet farming, and revived interest in folk art, music, and crafts. It also boosted awareness of the differences between traditional and modern customs. As a result, traditional leaders became key facilitators in Gram Sabhas, encouraging inclusive participation, preserving cultural identity, and supporting education and skill development within the community.

Strengthening Grassroots Democracy through Tola Sabhas

As part of the Gram Swashasan Abhiyan, a total of 206 Tola Sabhas (hamlet-level meetings) were conducted to strengthen grassroots participation and address local issues effectively. These gatherings have become an important platform for identifying smaller problems within communities and presenting them in the Gram Sabha for resolution.

The meetings have seen a significant rise in women's participation, contributing to more inclusive discussions. Through these small group interactions, awareness and knowledge sharing have increased, especially on issues like sanitation, traditional farming practices (including the promotion of millets), and access to government schemes.

Additionally, villagers have gained insights into their local history and cultural heritage, further strengthening community identity. This tola wise Sabhas easily helped us to do need based Survey and identify vulrenable families through social map, resouce map through active community participation.

Strengthening Local Governance: Establishment and Empowerment of Gram Sabha Secretariatsy

As part of the reporting period, Gram Sabha Secretariats were established in 43 villages, in line with the project provisions. These secretariats were equipped with essential registers and informational materials in Hindi, covering key topics such as the Jharkhand Panchayat Raj Act 2001, MGNREGA, Forest Rights Act (FRA), social justice, gender equality, social welfare, natural resource management, government schemes, and employment and livelihoods. Members of the Gram Sabha Secretariat were oriented on how to register complaints, hold regular discussions, and collaboratively address community issues. This included resolving practical matters such as ration and pension linkages, thereby enhancing local governance and service delivery.

Nutrition Support

As part of the Gram Swasasan Initiative, we also prioritized nutrition support for PVTG children, pregnant women, and lactating mothers to ensure healthy early development and reduce malnutrition. Efforts were made to strengthen the functioning of Anganwadi centers, ensuring they deliver services effectively and consistently. This included community monitoring, improving infrastructure, and facilitating access to entitlements, so that every child receives adequate care and nourishment at the village level. total 362 children got nutritional support.

Staff capacity building

As part of our ongoing efforts under the Gram Swasasan Initiative, capacity building of staff has been a central strategy to strengthen Gram Sabhas and promote effective local governance. A range of targeted training programs were conducted to equip field teams with technical knowledge and practical skills essential for grassroots facilitation. Notably, a three-day training organized by the Jharkhand State CFP team at DRDA Garhwa focused on watershed management, Natural Resource Management (NRM), agro-climatic statistics of Jharkhand, QGIS-based mapping, and the implementation structure of MGNREGA. Staff were also trained on conducting GPDP processes, understanding the Forest Rights Act, and growth monitoring techniques. These comprehensive capacity-building efforts have significantly enhanced staff capabilities, enabling them to better support community institutions, facilitate participatory planning, and ensure timely access to rights and entitlements.

Citizen Leadership Training: Empowering Active and Informed Villagers

To foster participatory democracy and strengthen grassroots governance, Vikas Sahyog Kendra initiated training and capacity building for citizen leaders under the Gram Swasasan Abhiyan. The objective was to equip local residents with the knowledge, confidence, and leadership skills needed to become active, responsible citizens who can effectively engage with governance processes and advocate for community development. With our efforts we identified 187 leaders and trained them, now they are actively contributing to the community development process.

Social Audit: A Step Towards Transparency and Active Citizenship

To uphold transparency and accountability and promote active citizenship, social audits were conducted with strong involvement from the Gram Sabha. Vikas Sahyog Kendra supported community members in carrying out social audits of key government schemes such as the Jal Jeevan Mission and MGNREGA. These audits empowered villagers to critically assess service delivery, identify gaps, and raise their concerns in a collective forum. The active participation of the Gram Sabha in these processes reflected the core objectives of the Gram Swasasan Initiative—ensuring public participation, promoting transparency, and strengthening local governance through community-led monitoring and action.

MGNREGA DIVAS- CAMPAIGN FOR RAISE AWARENESS ON THE RIGHTS

Promoting MGNREGA and Empowering Rural Workers Through Awareness and Action

As part of our efforts to promote MGNREGA and ensure that majdoors (rural workers) could access their right to work, Vikas Sahyog Kendra organized a week-long MGNREGA Awareness Campaign (2nd february to 8th February) across 6 panchayats in Nawabazar block, Palamu. Through street plays (nukkad natak), rallies, and interactive meetings, we educated villagers on their entitlements, the importance of job cards, timely wage payments, and how to demand work under the Act. Local governance members, including Sarpanches and Rojgar Sevaks, actively participated. We addressed issues like wage delays and machinery misuse, empowering workers to assert their rights. Over 780 workers demanded employment during the campaign, and 642 were successfully provided jobs in activities like pond construction, mango plantation, and well development. More than 850 community members participated in the awareness events, leading to strengthened accountability and increased participation in MGNREGA.

PARTICIPATORY PLANNING FOR GPDP PROCESS

Vikas Sahyog Kendra facilitated the Gram Panchayat Development Plan (GPDP) process in three panchayats of Nawabazar block — Rajhara, Tukbera, and Itko — by actively engaging villagers in identifying local issues and designing solutions. Despite initial reluctance from authorities, continuous dialogue with the Mukhiya and Panchayat functionaries led to successful GPCC meetings and village-level plan formulation. Through household visits and focused community assemblies like Mahila Sabhas, Bal Sabhas, and Gram Sabhas, villagers participated in planning their development priorities for the 2025–26 financial year.

COMMUNITY-LED PLANNING AND APPROVAL

Special Gram Sabha meetings were organized in each village to approve development plans created through inclusive consultations. With the participation of frontline workers, PRI members, and citizens, key issues like water scarcity, health services, school repairs, and social welfare were documented and signed by villagers. The finalized GPDP plans were officially handed over to Panchayat authorities with clear instructions for uploading on the e-Swaraj Portal, ensuring transparency and institutional follow-through.

EMPOWERING VOICES THROUGH INCLUSIVE ASSEMBLIES

The GPDP process empowered traditionally underrepresented groups to voice their concerns and shape village development. In Itko, the Anganwadi worker highlighted the need to repair a defunct school building to convert it into an Anganwadi center. In Tukbera, children from class 7 onwards participated in Bal Sabhas, enthusiastically sharing local issues and requesting regular engagement. This inclusive, rights-based approach not only ensured better planning but also deepened community ownership and governance.

Reaching out numbers

The project has had a transformative impact on local governance, livelihood security, forest rights, and community empowerment across targeted Gram Panchayats. Through consistent engagement and facilitation, Vikas Sahyog Kendra significantly improved the functionality of Panchayats, revitalized Gram Sabha participation, and enabled villagers to actively monitor development schemes and claim their entitlements. Communities that were once passive are now proactively demanding jobs under MGNREGA, monitoring public services, and organizing collective actions for education, health, and forest protection. Special emphasis was also laid on traditional knowledge documentation, promoting cultural pride and sustainable, community-led solutions.

Case Story

Addressing the Water Crisis in Musahar Tola, Rajhera Panchayat

In Musahar Tola, Rajhera Panchayat, over 500 Dalit families endured a severe three-year water shortage due to defunct hand pumps and falling water levels caused by construction activities. With the facilitation of Vikas Sahyog Kendra, villagers organized a Tola Sabha, where women raised their concerns. Investigations revealed a batching plant and bypass road had worsened the crisis. The Gram Sabha invited the plant's manager, who committed to resolving the issue. Within 24 hours, three new water taps were installed, restoring clean water access. This powerful story illustrates how informed, collective action through empowered Gram Sabhas can bring immediate and lasting change to vulnerable communities.

- Illegal deforestation curbed through Gram Sabha action in Nenua village, including police intervention.
- Women-led forest protection in Itko has resulted in visible regeneration of local green cover.
- Closed schools reopened and mid-day meal quality improved in several villages due to Gram Sabha pressure.
- Health centers reopened in Arapur and Itko due to community advocacy.
- 60 acres brought under collective farming in Salaiya and Naudiha Bazar, boosting livelihoods.

Empowering Rural Livelihoods through MGNREGA: Impact Report of Cluster Facilitation Project in Ramkanda and Chhatarpur Blocks, Jharkhand

The Cluster Facilitation Project (CFP) under MGNREGA has played a transformative role in empowering majdoors (laborers) by improving timely wage payments, increasing job opportunities, and enhancing the quality of rural assets. Through capacity building, technical support, and on-ground awareness campaigns, the project has strengthened MGNREGA implementation at the grassroots level. It facilitated plantation drives under BHGY and Didi Bari, promoted protective irrigation, millet cultivation, and multilayer farming, and emphasized climate action through forest management. The project's hands-on approach and targeted outreach, especially among marginalized SC/ST communities, have ensured inclusive participation and sustainable development.

this project being implemented in two key blocks of Jharkhand: Ramkanda (Garhwa District) and Chhatarpur (Palamu District). In Chhatarpur Block, the program is actively working in villages like Hutukdag, Hulsam, Akvaniya, and Kokro Khas. The total reach-out population in Chhatarpur includes 625 residents across 141 households, with a significant representation of Scheduled Tribes (35%) and Scheduled Castes (23.33%). Across the 20 panchayats in both blocks, our interventions have reached and directly impacted hundreds of households, particularly through livelihood, farming, plantation, irrigation, and training initiatives. The project continues to focus on marginalized communities, including SC, ST, and women farmers, ensuring inclusive rural development.
