The Influence of a Committed WIU Alumnus Extends Beyond the Walls of a Classroom

MACOMB, IL - -

The impact of a dedicated educator can be felt far beyond the confines of a classroom. Over his five decades in education, Western Illinois University alumnus James Elander has significantly and positively impacted hundreds of students, as well as the educational mathematics community. Now, Elander is taking the next step in his education journey, endowing a new scholarship for graduate students in mathematics, ensuring the continuation of excellence in mathematical research and application.

Elander's educational pursuits began nearly 70 years ago, when he earned his bachelor's degree from what was then called Western Illinois State College. During his time at what would become WIU, Elander was involved in Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity and student government. He continued his education at Illinois State University, where he earned his master's degree. Following the completion of his degrees, Elander spent nearly three decades teaching at Oak Park and River Forest High School in Oak Park, IL. He completed his career as an associate professor at North Central College, retiring in the 1980s. Currently, he is the oldest living past-president of the School Science and Mathematics Association (SSMA).

Throughout his career, Elander authored seven textbooks; the first, "Geometry for Decision Making," was published in 1992. This book consolidated the conventional two years of high school geometry into one year, allowing time for high school seniors to start calculus. His most recent book, "Plane and Solid Geometry Essentials with Everyday Decision Making," was published in 2022. Elander's books have not only guided students through complex mathematical concepts, but

WIU School of Ag to Host Skin Cancer Presentation Sept. 7

MACOMB, IL - - The Western Illinois University Agricultural Council within the School of Agriculture is hosting a Skin Cancer Presentation at 3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7 in Stipes Hall 121 on the Macomb campus. All WIU students, staff and faculty are invited to attend.

"The School of Agriculture is fortunate to be able to host this presentation on skin cancer," School of Agriculture Director Andrew Baker said. "Many of our students across campus probably had a family member or two that has been affected by skin cancer, so it is vital that they learn more about how to prevent it. Individuals in agriculture and other industries are out in the sun all day, so it is imperative that they know how to properly shield themselves."

Rahwa Hailemichael, a third year medical student from the University of Illinois College of Medicine, will be presenting on the topic of "Skin Cancer." Hailemichael is currently completing her rural medicine rotation at McDonough District Hospital.

For more information on the WIU School of Agriculture, visit wiu.edu/ag.

have also inspired generations of mathematicians to apply critical thinking to geometry.

The James E. Elander Mathematics Teaching Endowed Scholarship aims to alleviate the financial burden often associated with pursuing advanced degrees, empowering talented individuals to fully immerse themselves in their research and further their contributions to the field. The scholarship will be awarded annually to a full-time graduate student in the Master of Science in Teaching Mathematics program in the WIU Department of Mathematics and Philosophy. The scholarship, which was fully endowed through a single gift from Elander, will be awarded for the first time during the 2023-24 academic year.

"Elander's generosity exemplifies the essence of WIU, where alumni not only embrace their own successes but also strive to create a lasting legacy that empowers future generations. The endowment of this scholarship serves as a testament to Elander's unwavering commitment to his discipline, his passion for teaching and his belief in the transformative power of education.

We are deeply grateful to James for his philanthropy and for choosing to support WIU graduate students and For the W: The Campaign for Western Illinois University with this gift," WIU Director of Development for the College of Arts & Sciences Amy Crosby said. Crosby worked with Elander, who now lives in Naples, FL, and his son, Olaf, to create the new scholarship.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

* The dot over the lowercase versions of the letters i and j is known as a tittle.

* There are clocks to tell us the time, and then there's the Shortlife clock, which tells us how long we have left to live. No, it's not perfect, but it does estimate a person's remaining longevity based on World Health Organization data.

* "The Lord of the Rings" movie trilogy was nominated for an astounding 800 awards, of which it received 475, making it the most-awarded series in cinema history.

* One of the most critical issues with AI is that even its creators can't understand some of the decisions the software makes, or why.

* Do you like apples? Then you'll likely appreciate the efforts of Tom Brown and his decades-long quest to track, collect and preserve forgotten varieties of the fruit. Brown has discovered more than 1,200 types, including some with rare flavors such as banana and pineapple.

* The Sinocyclocheilus longicornus fish, discovered in a remote cave system by Chinese scientists, has a unicorn-like horn.

* In 1924, Babe Ruth accidentally ran headlong into a concrete wall during a game between the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators, knocking himself out cold for a full five minutes. Upon regaining consciousness, he not only finished the game but scored two more hits and went on to play a second game afterward.

* More than 200 viruses can result in the common cold. Kerchoo!

* Camp Bonifas, near the Korean Demilitarized Zone, has a par-three, one-hole golf course on it that is surrounded on three sides by landmines. As one might well expect, it has been dubbed "The Most Dangerous Hole in Golf."

Thought for the Day: "Integrity is the only path where you will never get lost." -- Mike Maps Jr.
