McDonough District Hospital Donates Kinesiology Equipment to WIU

MACOMB, IL – Students in the Western Illinois University Department of Kinesiology are learning on new equipment, thanks to a recent gift from McDonough District Hospital.

In February 2024, the staff at McDonough District Hospital donated an electrocardiogram testing system, including a GE Medical Systems EKG testing computer, a GE72100 motorized treadmill and a Laerdal CPR Simulation Manikin.

"We are proud to support the Western Illinois University Kinesiology department by donating our GE Stress machine and treadmill. We are excited to support WIU's commitment to education on stress testing and are confident this equipment will greatly benefit the students and teachers. We look forward to seeing the positive impact this contribution will have," MDH Director of Cardiopulmonary Nicole Minnis, RT(R) RVT RDMS(ABD, OB/GYN) RDCS, said.

This equipment is now housed in the Human Performance Lab in Brophy Hall and is being used by both undergraduate and graduate students in exercise science courses. Staff from MDH came to campus to train WIU students and staff on how to properly use the equipment. This new system is advancing students' knowledge and understanding of the structure and function of the cardiovascular system.

"We are excited to receive this donation from McDonough District Hospital. This equipment will provide our students an invaluable opportunity for expanded experiential learning contexts and further support the growing partnership between WIU and MDH," College of Education and Human Services Interim Dean Eric C. Sheffield said.

Director of Development for the College of Education and Human Services (COEHS) Emily Gillett worked with MDH staff to secure the donation.

"Gifts of equipment, like this donation from MDH, provide an immediate, tangible opportunity to move WIU forward and keep our students on the cutting edge of learning," Gillett said.

Information about the WIU Department of Kinesiology is available at wiu.edu/coehs/kinesiology.

Donors interested in supporting the Department of Kinesiology or other academic programs within COEHS can contact Gillett at e-gillett@wiu.edu.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

* Residents of the Galapagos island of Floreana use a barrel of disorganized mail in place of a formal postal system. Tourists are responsible for sorting through the mail and grabbing any parcels they can deliver on the way to their destination.

* In curling, good sportsmanship and politeness are essential. Congratulating opponents on plays and abstaining from trash talk are part of what's known as the "Spirit of Curling."

* Apollo 17 astronaut Harrison Schmitt was allergic to moon dust.

* According to the record-holder for tallest waffle stack, Guinness World Records has a 40-page document defining what a waffle is. (Frankly, we think we could have managed it in just 30.)

* Alaska is simultaneously the westernmost and easternmost state.

* High schools and universities in New Zealand are allowed to keep up to a pound of uranium on the premises for educational purposes.

* Marie Curie's notebooks are still radioactive.

* In 2010, rock band Nickelback approached Dark Horse Brewery about having their beer featured in a video, which would have provided great exposure for the small Michigan company. They declined, however, as "none of us at the brewery really care for the band."

* The German version of the term "Average Joe" is Otto Normalverbraucher, which translates to "Otto normal consumer."

* An ordinance in Gainesville, GA, states that everyone must eat fried chicken, "a culinary delicacy sacred to this municipality, this county, this state, the Southland and this republic," with their hands. The tongue-in-cheek law began as a publicity stunt aimed at getting folks to think of Gainesville as the fried chicken capital of the world.

* Polar bears gain more than 400 pounds during pregnancy.

Thought for the Day: "If you're going to do something tonight that you'll be sorry for tomorrow morning, sleep late." -- Henny Youngman
