Emdat Mobile

Available for Apple iOS and Android

Emdat Mobile allows physicians to create documentation from anywhere using a WiFi network or cellular data connection. Emdat Mobile maximizes the already-efficient process of dictation by providing physicians with their schedule, their dictation and document templates, and their patients' transcription history while dictating. Documentation created on a mobile device can later be reviewed, edited and electronicially signed on the same device or from any internet-connected computer. Once approved, an authenticated, high quality document can automatically be printed, faxed, or integrated directly into an EHR system both as a narrative report and as a marked-up, sophisticated structured document.
