Porter Martin is a country singer-songwriter whose musical journey began at age 12, inspired by performances at The Bluebird Cafe. After debuting at the iconic Nashville venue in 2014, he recalls, "It's such a small venue, but I felt like I was playing Nissan Stadium." Originally from Demopolis, Alabama, Porter picked up the guitar at 14 and quickly transitioned from learning Eagles songs to writing his own music. Since 2007, Porter has performed over 3,000+ live shows, sharing stages with artists like Montgomery Gentry, Cole Swindell, Brantley Gilbert and Dierks Bentley. He has penned songs with hit Nashville writers, including Lainey Wilson and Jordan Davis. His music showcases his traditional country roots and storytelling prowess. Featured in Major Motion Picture Trailer for the movie "REAGAN", Porter's debut single, "The Cowboy," reflects nostalgia and simpler times. Through heartfelt storytelling, he invites listeners to find themselves in his songs.
