LAS VEGAS (PRWEB) June 11, 2019 -- After a successful first year of business, Consult HR Partners, a female-owned, boutique HR consulting firm based in Las Vegas, Nevada, has expanded its capabilities with the addition of several new team members. Randy Stollar, Samantha Garrett, and Jai Lakhanpal have all recently joined the firm, and in addition to broad Human Resources experience, each brings specialized expertise in Mergers and Acquisitions, Compensation Strategies, Human Capital Lifecycle and Performance Management, Program Management and HR Information Technology, respectively.

“It has been an exciting first year in business with new clients across many diverse industries, and we’re proud to support the enormous growth we have experienced in the Las Vegas market,” Jennifer Martinez, Consult HR Partners President and Chief Executive Officer, said.

Much of this growth into the public, private, and non-profit sectors has been possible with the addition of Stollar, Garrett, and Lakhanpal.

With over 30 years of industry experience with global organizations such as The Walt Disney Company, International Game Technology, and Scientific Games Corporation, Randy Stollar provides strategic advisory services to Consult HR Partners’ clients and helps them make decisions around employee engagement, reward, and retention, based on findings-based recommendations.

Samantha Garrett comes to Consult HR Partners with several years of HR generalist experience, and has worked for companies such as Konami Gaming, Inc. and Entertainment Benefits Group. She has managed the full employee lifecycle with a strong focus on recruitment and performance management processes, and she brings expertise relevant to a multitude of clients.

Jai Lakhanpal, the firm’s newest team member, has nearly 20 years of experience designing HR systems and business solutions for companies such as Activision/Blizzard, Pacific Life, and Barrick Gold Corporation. Lakhanpal provides consulting services in the areas of human capital strategic planning, technology road mapping, business intelligence, HR systems, and business process improvement.

The Consult HR Partners team provides clients with actionable advice and high-quality work product that is relevant based on years of real-world, practical experience on a global scale

“Our approach is very high touch, and we pride ourselves on being either a value-add extension of the existing HR department or we become the dedicated HR department on behalf of our clients,” Martinez said. “We specialize in customizing practical solutions that meet the challenges or opportunities our clients face, and we help them navigate through tough employee matters to full resolution.”

Beyond providing clients with practical HR solutions, Consult HR Partners values working with non-profit organizations through active client support and volunteer efforts. Earlier this year, Consult HR Partners sponsored the American Heart Association’s Go Red for Women event which raises funds to help put an end to heart disease and stroke in women and is actively involved supporting Project 150 in the Las Vegas market.
