Volunteer of the Month!

Many of us wear multiple hats in our lives. Whether it is school, careers, or family, few make the time to don one more - the hat of volunteerism. Cindy Walter is one who does. Be it from helping to decorate her circle entrance every holiday, to distributing the newsletters to her neighbors, she has always been there. Moreover, her efforts to help social events run smoothly has not gone unnoticed, and that is why we should all tip the hat to Cindy Walter - Thank you Cindy!

Beautification

I would like to thank all our Village volunteers and committee members for helping with the annual Christmas decorating of the Village. Many minds and hands have been busy these past few weeks, to improve the look of the Village. The Angel garden has been cleared of old shrubbery and opened for more of a small park look. Mowing and maintenance should now be a lot easier. We ask that the Village have patience with the changes and look with open minds to the improvements being done. Suzanne Pritchard, a landscape architect new to the Village, will be working with Beautification in the planning of new shrubbery for the new circle island.

We'd also like to remind residents to not put out their brush and bags of leaves until late Thursday afternoon or Friday morning and to remember there is a 5-bag limit.

Social

The Social Committee had a very busy holiday season – refreshments at boat regatta; tree decorating, and Christmas dinner – with games and caroling. Canned goods were collected at each event and it was the largest amount I have seen since becoming Chairperson. Thanks also to all who donated cookies at the regatta. We are now working on St. Patrick's day dinner. We would like more people on the committee. If you are interested, please contact me. Thanks again for all donations. It really made us feel like neighbors helping neighbors. Pat Horne

Rule of the Month

Senate Bill 30 (S30)

State legislation was introduced last year that would have affected community associations, like Windjammer Village, across the State of South Carolina. The legislation, (S30) Homeowners Association Act, was not enacted; however, it significantly raised our awareness as a Board and hardened our resolve to defend our associations governing documents that have worked so well for our residents over the years.

Among the reasons you selected to move to Windjammer Village was most likely the fact that it is a well-run community with a set of covenants and rules that allow our residents to live together in harmony. Over the years, the resident-elected Board of Directors has hired and developed a well-trained permanent staff to manage the day-to-day affairs of Windjammer Village. The Board regularly reviews the covenants to ensure that they are relevant and vigorously enforces violations in an evenhanded manner. To ensure fairness, the Board also administers an appeals process that is open to residents who have received a violation but feel they have extenuating circumstances that need to be heard. Funding for the operation and maintenance of our community comes primarily from annual assessments paid by the residents. The manner in which assessments are levied and raised is contained in our governing documents - documents that you relied on when you purchased your home here.

Windjammer Village is a very successful and dynamic community. We are fortunate to have an excellent staff at the helm which is in touch with what is going on in other communities like ours. Much of the credit should also go to the residents who participate in the community's committees and activities. These individuals provide input to the board and staff so that as changes are needed, they can be accommodated in a timely manner.

As we look ahead, however, the Board is very concerned about the potential impact of legislative action such as S30. It is very likely that S30, or a similar bill, will be pre-filed once again for the 1020 Legislative Session. The 2009 Bill contained many items that warranted serious concern. Among them were:

- The South Carolina Association of REALTORS® was permitted to interject language that would override Windjammer Village's governing documents regarding how assessments are levied.
- A per-unit registration fee, with no cap and no provision for communities that are members of two or more associations, would create and fund another bureaucratic layer of government.
- Another costly layer of non-binding government bureaucracy would be created within South Carolina's Department of Consumer Affairs to hear community association disputes. If a member disagrees with the action of their community association and uses the Department of Consumer Affairs (DCA) appeal process, it would "stay" any enforcement provisions.

These provisions and others are cause for deep concern. However, the items interjected by the South Carolina Association of REALTORS® are particularly onerous due to their potential to invalidate parts of Windjammer Village's governing documents. Language sponsored by the State Association of Realtors would result in the following:

- Allow the Board to charge residents only for the services that directly benefit them. Under such logic, if you live on a lagoon or lake, only the properties directly benefiting from the lagoon or lake (either aesthetically or functionally) could be assessed for the maintenance costs. Road maintenance could also be impacted because arguments could be made that those living close to the entrance to the community would not have to pay for the roads leading to the far reaches of the community.
- Outlaw legally adopted Capital Improvement assessments for communities with such an assessment mechanism and would preclude all community associations from even placing such an initiative before its membership for a vote. Many forward-thinking community associations have adopted a Capital Improvement Assessment.

Note: The South Carolina Association of REALTORS® is opposed to S30 as written.

The provisions of the proposed S30 attempts to homogenize all community association governing documents in the State of South Carolina by putting aside provisions in those documents that every resident relied upon when they moved into their home.

We want all residents to be informed of the potential impact S30 would have on you as a property owner and the deleterious position taken by the State Association of Realtors. Thus far, due to your efforts, we have been able to defeat S30. However, if S30 is pre-filed for 2010, the Windjammer Board will be calling on you once again to contact the State Legislature to voice your concerns in a grassroots effort. Stay tuned and thank you for your continued support and consideration.
