Old Wives Tales for predicting the weather.....

Woolly bear caterpillars are the larval stage of the Isabella moth. They are black with a red-brown band in the middle, and according to folklore, the blacker you see on these caterpillars, the harsher the winter will be.

According to Donald Lewis, an entomologist at Iowa State University, there is some year-to-year variation in the amount of black hair on these caterpillars, but the differences are caused by age and wetness. Older caterpillars have more black than young ones, and if the fall weather is wet, they will often be blacker.

If rabbits and squirrels look especially fat in the fall, they may be bulking up for a cold winter. Likewise, if you see squirrels burying nuts at a more furied pace than usual, that may be a sign.

If you want to skip the gym a few times or enjoy an extra pumpkin spice latte, you can also claim you are bulking up for winter.

While this proverb doesn't predict the long-range winter forecast, if you look up and see a halo like this around the moon, it might be a good idea to prepare for some cold winter weather in your immediate future.

Recreation Report:

December 14 we had our first Breakfast with The Grinch. There were approximately 50 who attended this event. It was wonderful to see children and adults enjoy time with the Grinch! I especially would like to thank the Grinch for coming to breakfast! Thank you to all the volunteers who help with this event! I could not have done this without all of you!

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

On Saturday, December 14th, we had approximately 85 people attend our annual Christmas Party. Special thanks to Darlene Haney, Margie Huff, Charlene Schutte, Deborah Christenburg, Dianne Sarles, Cindy Lopett and Letha Love for helping provide the main side dishes for the meal along with everyone who brought additional side dishes and desserts. Everything was delicious!

We then took a quick group picture before playing the Dirty Santa game. We had 40 people play the game and enjoyed some laughter along the way. The best moment of the night for me was when the bass slippers made it back to the stage! For those that don't know these slippers are the "leg lamp" of the village in memory of our sweet villager and friend, Joe Lopett. Who will be lucky enough to get them next year?

Big shout out to everyone that stuck around after the party to help clean up. You all are the best elves ever!

PLEASE SAVE THE DATE FOR THE UPCOMING EVENTS.

Beautification:

On December 13th

We had our annual Golf Cart Parade.

13 golf carts braved the cold and cruised the village looking at Christmas Lights. We ended up with 7 golf carts voting for the best decorated house.

Beautification presented the sign to the winners Brian and Page Kardack!

Congratulations!

Thank you to all that participated in the Parade!
