

How Does God Provide Us With Money?

1. It Takes Faith

I have been helping people with their finances for the last 22 years. My experiences with my clients have consistently showed me how we get resources from God.

In order to believe that God gives you what you need, your faith has to be strong. It is through your faith that you will be able trust in Him and be 100% confident that He will continue to provide for you, now and in the future.

"For truly I tell you, if you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you." (Matthew 17:20-21).

Whenever you hear people say, leave things up to God, there are two assumptions being made:

1. God is omniscient (all-knowing), omnipotent (all-powerful) & omnipresent (all-present), God is everywhere at the same time. He puts us in front of people, locations or situations.

2. God's Holy Spirit dwelves in us. God's Spirit is always guiding us, teaching us, putings thoughts in our minds, helping us remember his word, prompting us, giving us solutions, speaking to us, giving us directions, and showing us testimonials.

Trusting God is the most difficult thing to do, but He is always there helping us. Our job is to pray, pray, pray so that our faith can increase to the point that we learn not to doubt him. The more He is in our lives, the stronger our relationship with him will be.

God really love us very much. God is a very loving God and cares about us. Sometimes, we don't feel his presence because we are always trying to be independent of him. God wants to be a part of our lives too so that He can bless us even more.

Learn to rely on him all the time and give him credit for everything that happens in your life, whether it's a blessing or a disappointment. God will show you how to enjoy his world and creations the right way, his way!

2. What God Wants Fom You

God has a single expectation for a relationship with you. He spells out his desire in the Bible: "And you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength."

He makes it very clear that he wants "all" of you. He wants all of your heart, soul, mind, and strength invested in your relationship with him. More than anything, he craves a relationship in which you are "all in." Anyone who has been all in knows that loving passionately is about loving purposefully. The two elements feed each other: Your passion drives your purpose. Your purpose feeds your passion.

An "all in" kind of love is the sum of the little choices we make each day. Gary Chapman, author of The Five Love Languages, said, "Our most basic emotional need is not to fall in love. It's to be genuinely loved by another, to know a love that grows out of reason and choice, not instinct. I need to be loved by someone who chooses to love me, who sees in me something worth loving."

What are the daily choices you can make to love God passionately? Thankfully, because you're a reflection of him, you can begin by simply asking yourself, How do I hope to be loved? You already have what it takes to create an extraordinary relationship with God.

3. Increase Your Faith Daily

As you increase your faith every day, God reveals himself to you and shows you how to make your daily decisions. Here are some ways in which you can see how God provides for you...

Divine Providence: God provides money through divine providence. People see financial blessings as a result of God's grace and guidance in their lives. God intervenes and orchestrates circumstances to bless people with financial resources, whether through employment, business opportunities, unexpected windfalls, or other means.

Personal Abilities and Efforts: God provides money by giving individuals personal abilities, talents, and opportunities to generate wealth through their efforts. God equips individuals with skills, talents, and opportunities, and it is their responsibility to work hard, make wise financial decisions, and utilize their abilities to earn money.

Stewardship and Blessings: individuals are entrusted with resources from God and they are expected to use them wisely and responsibly. From this perspective, God provides money as a blessing, and individuals are encouraged to be good stewards of those resources, using them to support themselves, their families, and others in need.

4. Abundant Life

The concept of God's blessings is deeply personal and subjective, and it can be challenging to provide concrete, verifiable examples of how God blesses individuals. However, many people believe they have experienced divine blessings in various aspects of their lives, including financial matters. Here are some more specific examples:

Unexpected Job Opportunities: Some individuals attribute the timing and circumstances of a job offer to God's intervention. They may believe that the job opportunity came at a critical moment when they were in need or when they had been actively praying for guidance and provision.

Financial Windfalls: There are instances where individuals receive unexpected financial blessings, such as an unexpected inheritance, a settlement, or a generous gift from someone. People who see these windfalls as blessings may attribute them to divine intervention, perceiving them as answers to prayers or acts of God's grace.

Favorable Business Ventures: Some individuals attribute their business successes to God's blessings. They may credit the growth of their business, the acquisition of new clients, or favorable business partnerships to God's guidance and provision.

Provision During Times of Need: Many people believe that God provides for their needs during difficult times. They may recount instances when they faced financial hardships but received unexpected help, support, or provision that enabled them to overcome those challenges.

Financial Wisdom and Guidance: Some individuals believe that God blesses them with financial wisdom and discernment. They credit their ability to make sound financial decisions, manage their resources wisely, and navigate financial challenges to God's guidance and provision.

Trusting God with your daily decisions can help you live your life with abundance and become more confident about your personal and financial future.
