

The Free Bookmobile of Sonoma County promotes literacy and love of reading by giving away high quality books to access-challenged people throughout the region. On a mission of outreach, the Free Bookmobile especially seeks to serve children, families, and seniors living in rural and low-income areas.

Rather than loan out books, we prefer to just pass them forward, free of charge. We revel in the excitement on the faces as we pull up to schools and community centers, to parks and homeless shelters, increasing access to the cultural wealth of books for all comers.

Donations of high quality books are always welcome, especially those for young children and for older teens.
