DECEMBER 2021

PIT BULL TERRIER A.K.A. “THE NANNY DOG”

For much of America’s history, the nickname for Pit Bulls was “The Nanny Dog.” For generations if you had children and wanted to keep them safe you wanted a pit bull.

Second only to Golden Retrievers in temperance testing, these amazing dogs are patient, gentle, and tolerant. The American Temperament Test Society offers a Temperament Test for canines that measures different aspects of a dog’s temperament such as stability, shyness, aggressiveness, and friendliness. It also provides insight into a dog’s instinct for self-preservation in the face of a threat as well as its aptness to protect its handler.

In December of 2017, ATTS tested 804 American Pit Bull Terriers and 695 passed. This means that 86.4% of Pit Bulls tested by the ATTS had a good temperament. Similarly, of the 743 American Staffordshire Terriers tested, 635 passed or 85.5%. This test and the results can be found online on the ATTS website at <http://atts.org>.

No matter what you may hear, their jaws do NOT lock and they DO feel pain. So why are more than 6,000 pit bulls euthanized every day in this country, more than any other breed? Because “another chihuahua attacks man’s foot today” does not sell newspapers. So next time you’re looking for a dog, know the facts.
