Iguaqšuqti. Natchlingmiutut Kitqikhautit

©lkajuqtigiit ©∆bरがハウロ Version: October 2022

Iguaqšuqti is a term that is used to describe a younger person guiding a blind person to where they want to go. Nowadays, it could also be used to describe a seeing-eye dog. The name was suggested to us by Tommy Tavalok, of Gjoa Haven, and for this publication, is used in the sense of a guide to the Natchlingmiutut dialect and how it is actually spoken. This publication uses some additional symbols in both Roman and Syllabics, as a means to accurately represent the sounds of the language.

This Iguaqšuqti. Natchilingmiutut Kitqikhautit is just a part of a larger collection of words that is still being verified, edited, and compiled. The collection was started by Miriam Nilaulaaq Aglukkaq many years ago and is presently being worked on by the Ikajuqtigiit Society and the Ikajuqtigiit Language Revitalization Project. We anticipate updated versions as we edit and add to this collection.

Almost 20 years ago we were approached by Miriam Aglukkaq/ Nilaulaaq, who asked for our help to create a dictionary of the Natchilingmiutut words that she had been collecting for many years.

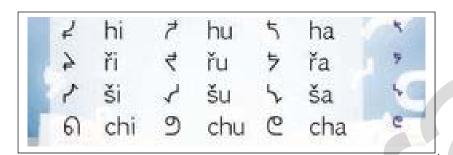

She had been an Inuktitut language teacher in the communities of Talurřuaq and Uqšuqtuuq for many years, and has always been passionate about preserving her Natchilingmiutut dialect for the future generations. She is the team leader for all the Ikajuqtigiit Project work.

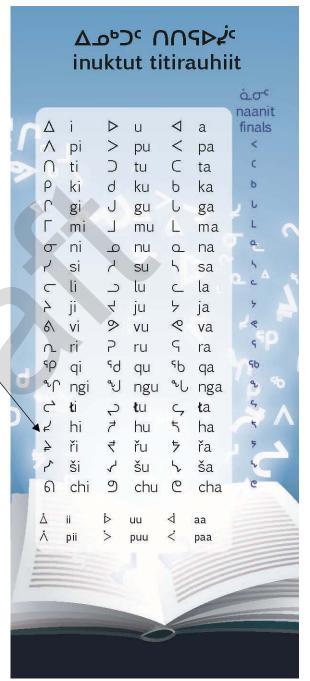

This photo was taken in Kuugaarřuk in 2007. With Nilaulaaq leading, we gathered with Natchilingmiutut elders, whom we called our professors. These professors offered us so much terminology and knowledge.

The reason they wanted to help us as much as they could is because they did not want Natchilingmiutut to fall behind among the dialects.

Thank you to all the elders of Kuugaarřuk, Talurřuaq and Uqšuqtuuq who provided so much help.

Inuktut Syllabics used in this dictionary

This work is the result of community consultations from the Natchilik communities. There was no way to accurately write the Natchilingmiutut dialect using the ICI standard system. The additional Natchilingmiutut sounds have been identified, and there has been agreement in how they can be represented in syllabics. (There may be updated changes in the Roman representation.) The additional syllabic characters all have unicode status since October 2020.

Sound Combinations of n and ng

This chart shows the possible sounds when the two sounds, n and ng, come together in a word:

	n	ng
n	nn	nng
ng	ngn	ngng

	σ	<sub>v</sub> C
	٥	ა ე ა-ს
	Q	∿
٥	°σ	۵%۲
	م م	م س
	<sub>م</sub> 0	٩٩
વ	% О

There are four sound combinations formed when the sounds of n and ng come together in Natchilingmiutut. Each combination sounds different. This dictionary will write these four sound combinations to match the oral language.

nn – n is voiced twice

nng - voiced n followed by voiced ng

ngn - voiced ng, followed by voiced n

ngng - ng is voiced twice

*Some dialects have only ywo combinations, the nn and ngng due to gemination of sounds. These dialects have used nng as a short cut for the double ng sound (ngng) sound. However, this is confusing for dialects that pronounce nng and ngng as two different sounds. Some dialects use a glottal stop for the nng sound (n'ng). This is difficult for dialects that actually pronounce a glottal stop. So, we were left with no choice but to write the sounds as they are pronounced. Since ng is one sound, a double ng is simply a double consonant, ngng. Another choice is to use n to replace ng.

anauligaaq		A ball game with one bat one ball and two bases. Teams are made up of two people, and there can be unlimited teams. Batting team is determined by throwing the ball in the air. A catcher can throw it back, and if the ball is not caught, the thrower and their partner get to run to first base and bat. If they are tagged by the ball before arriving at the base, the tagger gets to be the batting team. If when anyone bats, if they are tagged by the ball while running, the taggers usurp their batting turn. No scores are kept. People just notice who is batting more and running the best, or catching well, etc. It is a game of skill not competition for winning.

The one single little piece of down is attached to an instument that indicates the movement of the water as the seals are coming up to breathes	qivviutaq	<sup>s</sup> P°&⊳C <sup>sb</sup> tools/ winter seal hunting	a tool similar to the qivviutaq. It is a thin metal rod, with a piece of muskox horn attached on the top that a piece of string is attached to. The movement of water as the seal rises to breathe causes the rod to wiggle back and forth. When the rod is pushed up, the hunter harpoons the seal.	illaq	∇ <sub>C</sub> C <sub>dP</sub> tools/ winter seal hunting	A winter seal hunting instrument used to determine the centre of a seal hole that is covered with ice amd snow. It is also used for indicating a layer of ice crystal in water, or if the hole is fresh from a seal breathing not long ago.	havgutauřaq	ᡮᢞJC▷ᡃ ҕ ᠬ

tools/ winter seal hunting	a piece of rope made from seal skin with two ends connected together (about 6" diameter.) When the seal is caught, the folded rope end is inserted between the inner lip and teeth (following a knife cut) and continues under the skin to the eye. The folded rope is looped through the other end and this is used to securely pull the seal out of the seal hole.	urhiq	De5te tools/ winter seal hunting	Two pieces of wood or antler that have inserts on the top filled with artctic cotton. these are used to hold the harpoon while waiting for a seal. The arctic cotton muffles any sound.	na'maktaq	σ.ΓρC <sub>eP</sub>

tools/ winter seal hunting	A bag for seal hunting tools about two and a half feet square. This is usually made from winter caribou skin taken from the back of a caribou. It is also used for standing on while seal hunting so the hunter does not get cold feet.	tutiriaq	JU√⊲ <sub>e</sub>
