

Key aspects of the AAU Player Code of Conduct include:

- Respect:

Players are expected to respect all participants, including coaches, officials, opponents, and teammates.

- Sportsmanship:

Good sportsmanship is a core principle, encompassing fair play, positive attitude, and celebrating team success.

- Following Rules:

Players must adhere to the rules of the game and the specific guidelines of the AAU and the event.

- Positive Attitude:

Maintaining a positive attitude, both in victory and defeat, is essential.

- No Tolerance for Misconduct:

Unacceptable behaviors like profanity, negative chants, booing, trash talk, and personal attacks are not tolerated.

- Responsibility:

Players are responsible for their actions and should take ownership of mistakes and work to improve.

- Cleanliness:

Players are expected to help keep the playing and surrounding areas clean.

- Teamwork:

Recognizing that inline hockey is a team sport and focusing on team success is important.

Examples of Unacceptable Behavior:

- Arguing with officials' calls.
- Using profanity or engaging in negative chants.
- Blaming losses on others.
- Disrespecting opponents or teammates.
- Engaging in physical altercations or fighting.
- Damaging property.
- Using drugs or alcohol.

Consequences of Violations:

Violations of the AAU Code of Conduct can result in disciplinary actions, including warnings, suspensions, or even dismissal from the team or event.