Always arrive with a positive attitude. Horses are sensitive to our emotions. It is important to approach the sport with respect and compassion.

Respect your coach. The coach not only teaches you to ride, but understands the horse and is charged with their safety and well-being. If either is ever in question, the coach has the right to dismiss the rider.

Follow safety guidelines on and off the horse. When riding wear boots with a heel, a helmet, pants and tie back long hair. When dismounted, no running or screaming in the barn, avoid the horse's back end, stay out of stalls and paddocks.
