

- Roland served in many roles on the board. As a local farmer, he encouraged his sons Bruce and Pete to implement cover crops and as long as he was able, he worked to conquer invasive species in his woodlands working with SWCD staff to put action to his PFM plan.
- In the 1980's, prior to becoming a board member, his farm was recognized as a Century Farm and he was chosen as the Conservation Farmer of the Year.
- He loved his annual tractor rides. His visits to the conservation office and his humor will be missed by staff and in our community.
