Introduction

A personalised aisle runner adds the final finishing touches to your wedding venue, enabling you to share a lovely personal message to your fiancé, family and friends, and they look fabulous in your wedding photos too. These runners also make great guest 'books'. At your reception ask all your guests to sign the runner in the printed area. You can then cut this section off and keep it as a memento of your wedding, it can even be framed and wall mounted if you wish to display it. Of course if you are having a party at home after the wedding you can take the whole runner with you.

About our Runners

Our runners are made from tough 280g white woven polyester canvas, this is the same material that framed canvas pictures are made from so is tough enough to be walked on and is suitable for both inside and outside use. The runner is professionally printed with pigment inks so will not smudge or rub off. The standard runner length is 5 meters by 91.5cm (36") wide but they can be supplied in longer lengths, you just pay an extra amount for each additional meter required. Each printed design measures approximately 1 meter square and you can choose to have the design either at the beginning, middle or end of the runner. When printed at the beginning or end the design starts about 1m from the edge. If you would like 2 printed areas on your runner this can be done for an extra charge.

The Design

In this catalogue you can see a range of standard designs, we add to these all the time so please check on our website for new designs. The wording and colour can be changed (subject to suitability) on all our designs free of charge. We can also create a bespoke design for you, please ask as there may be a small graphic design charge depending on your requirements. Please note that we are not able to use images that are subject to copyright, such as Disney.
