About this Collection

Designers Art Center - from the vault

To understand this collection of 'lost art,' we must go back nearly 25 years ago. There was a thriving business named Designers Art Center, located on Slocum Street in the Dallas Design District from 1998 until 2002. The clientele were designers in the District who outfitted high-end homes, commercial properties and hotels. On several occasions, they even installed artwork in the Bishop TD Jake residence! When the business finally closed, much of the artwork ended up with the son of the owner, protected in giant art storage sleeves. Just this year, the son decided it needed to be unsealed and offered to the public again.

There are several things to know about this catalog and the images presented:

- Prices are up to 90% off the original wholesale price and are priced to sell!
- Most are works on paper
- All the photographs are shiny in places because it's sealed in cellophane - not the best for photographing art.
- Colors are as accurate as we can get them, but are better in person.
- Most are cropped significantly and have quite a bit of surrounding white space not shown here allowing for large framing or gallery wrapped canvas.
- Nothing is framed
- All artwork is flat (2D) and nothing is on a wrapped canvas
- Dimensions are based on the entire paper size, not image size.
- Nearly all the artwork is hand signed by the artist
- All artwork is hand created by the artist
- Not much is known about any of these artists, but if you have information, we'd love to share it with us! We do know the majority of these artists were local to DFW.
