Teacher

John 3:2

I imagine myself among those you taught
On the hillsides, eager for your message.

I hear you speak of the kind of deeds
You hope we'll do in our stingy world,
Of the requirement to love our enemy
And to really forgive those who hurt us.

I hear you tell of treating our neighbor
The way we ourselves want to be treated.
And then I imagine we all get up and leave,
Return home, and truly change our hearts.

Today: I focus on living one of the Teacher's messages.

from Fragments of Your Ancient Name by Joyce Rupp

Rev. Candace McNeill will be out of the office on Study Leave the week of October 28th – Nov 3rd. She will be attending the Interim Ministry Network Conference.

Please note that Youth Programming will go ahead on November 1st at 7 pm as planned with Rev. Anna Constantin.

We are inviting everyone to bring fun and colourful band-aids to the Church, either Sunday mornings during church or to Cianna in the office during regular office hours. We will be collecting these colourful Band-aids until November 24th, at which point we will share the band-aids with the Stollery to be used with children undergoing medical procedures at the hospital.
