

The Criminalization of Business Judgments

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Barry Boss is co-chair of Cozen O'Connor's Commercial Litigation Department, co-chair of the White Collar Defense & Investigations Practice Group, and former managing partner of the Washington, D.C., office. Prior to joining Cozen O'Connor in April 2004, Barry was an assistant federal public defender in Washington, D.C. He focuses his practice on complex criminal matters, particularly involving allegations of white-collar crime in federal court. Barry has extensive jury trial and appellate experience and has successfully defended individuals and corporations under scrutiny for a wide range of criminal activity throughout the country. Barry has significant experience in sentencing and currently serves as a co-chair of the American Bar Association's Criminal Justice Section Sentencing Committee. Previously, he was a co-chair of the U.S. Sentencing Commission's Practitioners Advisory Group. Among other honors, Barry has been listed as one of the "Top 10" attorneys in Washington, D.C., by Super Lawyers magazine, has been recognized by Global Investigation Review's Who's Who Legal: Investigations and Business Crime Defense, as well as ranked by Chambers & Partners USA. Barry co-authors Federal Criminal Practice, an 800-page treatise for criminal defense attorneys.

Carl Hahn is Vice President and Chief Compliance Officer for Northrop Grumman Corporation a leading global security company providing innovative systems, products and solutions in unmanned systems, cyber, C4ISR, and logistics and modernization to government and commercial customers worldwide. Carl graduated from the College of William and Mary and University of Virginia School of Law. He is admitted to the Washington D.C., New York and Virginia State Bars. As Chief Compliance Officer for Northrop Grumman, he is responsible for leading the enterprise-wide compliance function, ensuring the Company has the right policies, procedures and practices in place and that they are effectively implemented globally. His Office helps to identify and address gaps, and partners with functional and business leads to deploy the right talent and resources to implement compliance strategies. The Office is also responsible for ensuring the Company responds effectively to changes in the regulatory environment, evaluating controls and processes; developing and conducting training programs regarding applicable laws and regulations, policies and procedures; collecting and analyzing corporate compliance data; monitoring results; providing feedback to business units regarding their compliance activities; and reporting to the CEO and the Audit Committee of the Board. Prior to joining Northrop Grumman, Carl was an Associate General Counsel and Trust and Compliance Officer with IBM where he was responsible for IBM's compliance program across the United States, South America and Europe. In that role, he also helped to manage the company's investigations worldwide. He held various other positions at IBM, including in corporate litigation, as assistant general counsel in Japan, and providing counsel to IBM's federal government business.

Chris Graham leads the Compliance, Safety and Investigations group in the Georgia-Pacific law department. Chris also serves the role of legal Cybersecurity expert for the Koch family of companies. Prior to working at GP, Chris was the General Counsel for INVISTA and an in-house lawyer for Koch Industries in Wichita, Kansas. Before working for the Koch family of companies, Chris was a partner with Hunton & Williams in Richmond, Virginia. He came to Hunton & Williams after serving as a Captain in the United States Army as a Judge Advocate at Fort Benning, Georgia. Chris attended Tulane Law School where, in addition to his Juris Doctor degree, received a Certificate of Specialization in Environmental Law. He also was a member of the Tulane Environmental Clinic. For undergraduate, he graduated from the Cornell University College of Arts and Sciences with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. Chris attended Cornell on a four-year U.S. Army ROTC Scholarship, was the Battalion Commander of Army ROTC units at Cornell, served as president of his fraternity, and rowed on the Varsity Crew Team. Chris and his wife have two daughters that keep them both pretty busy. His youngest is a senior in high school and his oldest is a sophomore at Duke. Chris serves locally on the Board of the Atlanta Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, the Georgia Advisory Board for the Trust for Public Land, and nationally on the Board of the National Park Trust. Chris also serves as an alumni recruiter as part of the Cornell Alumni Ambassador Admissions Network and as the President of Catbackers for The Westminster Schools.

Jenny Kim is the Deputy General Counsel, Political Law & Vice President, Public Policy for Koch Companies Public Sector, LLC, which provides services to Koch Industries, Inc. and its affiliates. She leads and oversees political law compliance for the United States, including federal and state, as well as Canada and the European Union. She also manages public policy issues, including running the criminal justice reform portfolio. She serves as a board member of Due Process Institute and as an advisor to Safe Streets & Second Chances reentry initiative. In 2018, DCA LIVE named her as Top Corporate Counsel in the DC area. Before joining Koch in 2008, Jenny was a senior associate at Miller & Chevalier Chartered, and an associate with Crowell & Moring, LLP. Previously, she was a Presidential Management Fellow at The White House Office of Counsel to the President and Department of Defense, Missile Defense Agency. Jenny earned a juris doctorate from Boston College Law School and a bachelor's degree from New York University. She is a member of the bar in New York, Massachusetts, Virginia, and the District of Columbia.