

Congressional Investigations of Business Practices

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHY

Reginald J. Brown is the chairman of WilmerHale's Financial Institutions Group and also leads the firm's congressional investigations practice as vice chair of the firm's Crisis Management and Strategic Response Group. Reg provides investigations-related guidance, strategic counsel and crisis management assistance to a broad range of companies and senior executives confronting challenges and opportunities at the intersection of government, law, media and public policy. He has assisted leading institutions and high-profile individual clients with more than a hundred congressional inquiries and crisis avoidance and mitigation matters. Reg has also assisted prospective and incumbent high-level public officials in connection with complex ethics agreements and governmental controversies. He previously served in the White House Counsel's office, where he was the principal legal liaison to the Departments of Treasury and Housing and Urban Development, as well as many independent financial services agencies. Reg also served as a counselor for the White House Office of Political Affairs, Presidential Personnel Office and the National Economic Council. Prior to his government service, Reg served as assistant to the CEO and vice president of corporate strategy at Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company, and as the deputy general counsel to former Florida Governor Jeb Bush.