
Big D's Backstory – "From Critic to Craving"

Full Name: Darrell "Big D" Donnelly

Origin City: Deep Fry, Louisiana

Alma Mater: Saucière Institute of Culinary Commentary (SICC), where food critics are trained in the art of taste, tone, and throwing shade with a smile.

What Sparked It All:

Big D wasn't always a burger-chasing legend. He was once the most respected food critic in the Tri-Gravy Area. Known for his refined palate and velvet-voiced reviews on TV's "Tastes Like Victory," Big D could detect the spice level of chili just by sniffing the air.

But everything changed one summer when a tiny, family-run burger shack on the outskirts of town gave him a bite that changed his life forever.

"I bit into that burger... and I swear I saw the face of God in a pickle slice."

That one burger awakened a craving no critic could suppress. Big D left the world of white linen reviews behind and took to the streets, on foot, scooter, and imagination, in search of that one burger that started it all.

Big D's Castle (a.k.a. His House)

A two-story home affectionately known as "The Burger Bastion." Outside, it's an average home. Inside, it's a full-on burger museum: burger cushions, burger alarm clock, a talking ketchup bottle, and a walk-in fridge stocked like a bunker for the Cheesepocalypse.

His Inner Circle

Dog:

Name: Crouton

Breed: Something between a Pug and a meatball.

Personality: Grumpy but loyal. Crouton judges every meal with a single bark rating, 1 bark = trash, 5 barks = chef's kiss. He has a hot dog costume he wears on "Taco Tuesdays" in protest.

Postman:

Name: Jerry Postlewaite

A cheerful guy who lowkey reads Big D's food reviews before delivering the mail. Known to drop off new sauce samples "accidentally" to get early tastings. He's in love with the neighbor... but that's a whole side story.

Next-Door Neighbor:

Name: Miss Winifred Kale, a pescatarian yoga instructor

She claims to be "plant-based" but sneaks salmon tartare at midnight. Big D swears he once saw her eat a filet-o-fish and hasn't let it go since.

Their rivalry is eternal.

Big D: "Fish ain't food, it's bait."

Winifred: "Processed cheese is not a personality, Darrell."

The Dual Life

- At home: Big D is King of the Castle, lounging in a robe, reviewing pickles, inventing new condiments, and hosting "The Burger Roundtable" (a livestream podcast no one asked for but everyone loves).
 - Outside: He's a man on a mission, dodging gym bros, scale-obsessed trainers, carrot missiles, and food snobs who don't understand the magic of a perfectly squished burger.
-

His Mission:

Big D believes joy lives in flavor, and he's determined to bring that joy to everyone, even if it means running through dreamscapes, space stations, and food-themed dimensions to find that burger once more.
