
Who Is Big D?

Big D is a lovable, bashful, burger-chasing hero for the modern age.

He's got a big heart, a bigger appetite, and a signature phrase that somehow makes everything better: "Hey hey!"

Raised in a home filled with sizzling breakfast plates and the sweet smell of pie crust, Big D was destined to feel life through flavor. The son of a legendary short-order cook and a pie-baking wordsmith, food has always been more than just a meal to him, it's memory, meaning, and magic.

A former food critic turned full-time taste adventurer, Big D now travels far and wide, across streets, dreams, and sometimes alternate dimensions, in search of that perfect bite. The burger that changed his life? It wasn't just delicious. It was divine.

Big D calls himself an "analog man in a digital world", more likely to use a fry basket as a tablet stand than download the latest app. But don't let the sweatpants and snack stains fool you, he's smarter than your average cookie and always two bites ahead of the crowd.

Whether he's dodging carrot missiles, outwitting gym bros, or reviewing secret menu items with a five-bark rating from his dog Crouton, Big D brings laughter, warmth, and a dash of sauce to everything he touches.

He's here to remind us all:

"Life moves fast, but flavor slows it down."

So take a break from the chaos.

Grab a burger.

And join Big D on the tastiest adventure of the 21st century.

Welcome to Hey Hey. Let's ride.