Our Shooting Style

Wedding days are such a special day full of emotion, stress, and of course Love, which we aim to capture in its purest form. We ask for the proceedings of the day beforehand so that everything runs smoothly and we make sure to carve out some time for our interviews but ultimately the authenticity of the couple is what we want to shine through.

Our Editing Style

It's tough to make a choice when it comes to videographers, that's why we offer something that stands out from the rest, and that is your Love Story. We interview each couple and tell their intimate journey, what makes them tick, and what led to this special day. We use this interview as the base of the video, with stunning visuals of your day overlaid. We Strive to make your video deeply personal and unique to you.
