Next to theology I give to music the highest place and honor. And we see how David and all the saints have wrought their godly thoughts into verse, rhyme, and song.

Our songs are not the cause of our loss of the sense of God's greatness, though songs are surprisingly influential. No, our songs reflect this loss. Singing God-centered hymns is desirable, but more than that is needed. We sing what we feel, what we believe. When once we rediscover the greatness of God, we will sing it. Our song will echo our conviction.

PSALM 100

- <sup>1</sup> Make a joyful noise unto the LORD, all ye lands.
- <sup>2</sup> Serve the LORD with gladness: come before his presence with singing.
- <sup>3</sup> Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.
- <sup>4</sup> Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name.
- <sup>5</sup> For the LORD is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations.

The best, most beautiful, and most perfect way that we have of expressing a sweet concord of mind to each other is by music.
