

BHUTAN – THE LAST SHANGRILA

(06 nights/07 days)

Nestled in the Himalayas and covering an area of 46,500 sq. km, Bhutan had for centuries followed a policy of isolation. It is only in the latter half of this century that Bhutan has opened its doors to the world. Along with development, Bhutan had cautiously opened its doors to tourists. Tourism is still developing in Bhutan guarded by rules aimed at safeguarding Bhutan's environment and heritage. Tourism plays an important role in contributing to the conservation of Bhutan's culture and environment. We have been trying to promote the awareness among our guests that for every dollar they pay the tour operator, 35 cents goes towards the maintenance of the social infrastructure as well as the conservation of the environment which in turn improves the quality of a visit to this fabled destination.
