

AZ is regularly releasing music and videos, much to the excitement of her followers. With the content expected to be a success and fame imminent, the exciting, intimate sound gains attention and is supported by a mesmerizing performance.

The development of her unique style is the result of a lifetime of musical influence. Growing up in an entrepreneurial music management family meant that AZ was always surrounded by different forms of the music industry. Her father was a full-time music entertainment manager, and her parents exposed her to a wealth of music as a child, all of which influenced her development.

AZ's musical journey began in Atlanta, GA. She had the opportunity to meet many great artists and watch them work, attended concerts, attended various set productions and listened in on business conversations.

After realizing that making music and entertaining was a gateway to taking people to another dimension, she began to develop her talent in various aspects, taking vocal lessons and making sure that her name, talent and music were being honed for people to enjoy. She was quickly noted for her unique tone to the R&B scene, and her reputation began to grow.

As her confidence grew and her style developed, she soon saw more opportunities to showcase and became a part of the Pepsi FunkFest opening for artists such as New Edition, TLC, Babyface, GUY and SWV. Local events gave her an opportunity to showcase at nonprofit events and festivals.

Her musical ambitions continued to grow, alongside long-term relationships AZ was cast on 'Just Keke', cameoed in videos with Jacob Latimore and appeared on Growing Up Hip-Hop Atlanta's premier season. These appearances garnered more attention from the music industry.

Finally, after honing her unique sound over recent years, she is now preparing to release her next single, 'Moola'. Previously AZ released 'All Falls Down' and 'More', which have been released on all music platforms.
