Pastoral Ponderings

*“Do you not know that in a race the runners all compete, but only one receives the prize?
Run in such a way that you may win it.” ~1 Cor. 9:24*

People have asked me over the last few weeks about what I have given up for Lent, and I’ve told them, “Nothing. I gave up nothing.” I didn’t give up eating chocolate or sweet tea, I didn’t go on some extreme diet, and I didn’t give up some vice that I had been struggling with. I didn’t give up anything that I hadn’t already decided to give up before Lent. I simply didn’t participate in the “giving up” practices of Lent this year.

What I did do for Lent this year, was to add things into my life that I thought would challenge who I was and change me for the better. Most of these things have not been easily accomplished, but activities that would be hard in nature, so that my fairly comfortable life would experience adversity, and in turn, grow stronger because of the resistance I was feeling. So, I started waking up most days at 4am and I started training to run a marathon. Along with a few other obstacles that were mostly just designed to make my life a little harder in general, nothing prepares you for that alarm to go off at 4:00 in the morning. After doing it for some time, it doesn’t get easier to pop out of bed; not to mention how cold it has been and how warm those covers are. So, every morning I fight the urge to roll over and go back to sleep.

Then, there are the training runs. Every morning I strap on my shoes and head out to accomplish some sort of physical activity that will push me for miles down the road. Several mornings a week, I push through a 5k (3.1 miles) or a 10k (6.2 miles) and condition my body for my longer runs that happen on Friday. These runs right now are around the 10 – 13 – 16 mile territory, and I am adding miles every week to stretch out toward my goal of my first marathon (26.2 miles), booked for May 1.

The shorter runs are fine and fairly easy now, since I have become used to running those on a daily basis, but these longer runs, especially for someone who doesn’t consider themselves a runner, has challenged me in ways I did not expect, and in ways I was not ready for. Physically, I can tell these miles are wearing on me, but what I wasn’t ready for was the emotional, mental, and even spiritual challenges that these runs posed. While my body is tired at the end of these long jogs, my soul has been put through the ringer as well. With each step, God and I wrestle with each other, and with each passing mile, I can tell the Holy Spirit is turning me inside outward.

What I have come to find is that the adversity and resistance that I have added to my life is not only helping my body become more physically fit, but my faith is growing deeper and stronger because of it. When I start to hit mile 13, 14, & 15, and I am completely exhausted, I find myself starting to rely on God to get through, to sustain me and my energy, and to guide my steps to the finish line. The amazing thing is that this prayer time has extended itself to the rest of my life, and I have found my faith stronger in all aspects of my life.

As Easter approaches, I encourage you to use this season, these next 50 days of Easter, to do something difficult in your life that will lead to the same faithful growth in mind, body, and spirit. It may not be a marathon you are training for, but adversity and resistance, something controlled, but difficult in your life could lead you to a deeper faith than you could have ever imagined. For in that difficulty, you will find yourself relying on God in ways you didn’t think you could, and I think you will surprise yourself on what you can accomplish when you give your all. As 1 Cor. 9 goes on to say, “Athletes exercise self-control in all things; they do it to receive a perishable wreath, but we an imperishable one. So I do not run aimlessly, nor do I box as though beating the air; but I punish my body and enslave it, so that after proclaiming to others I myself should not be disqualified.” Amen

Pastor Wade

Discipleship Ponderings

We are still on our Lenten Journey, but Holy Week and Easter are quickly approaching. Are you ready? Lent can often feel like a dark time, but we remember the time of reflection of who and whose we are. Do you think about who you are as we walk towards the cross? What about on Easter? Do you remember who you are as the sun rises? What about when you see the empty tomb? At sunrise, you think of the light and Matthew 5:16 tells us “Let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven.” This verse reminds us of who and whose we are and that is children of God.

Mt. Tabor's Annual Children's Easter Egg Hunt is being held

Saturday,
April 3, 2021
Starting at 10AM

A follow up email with more details will be sent to those who RSVP to the church office!

Flowering of the Cross Sunday, April 4

Part of our traditional joyous celebration on Easter morning is the flowering of the cross on the front lawn. All members and children are encouraged to bring flowers that will be placed on the cross. Let's make our cross a beautiful reflection of our joy in the resurrection miracle.

Early Risers Prayer Breakfast

Our Lutheran Men Early Risers will meet on Zoom for Prayer Breakfast on April 13th & 27th at 7:00 AM. A Zoom link can be found in the weekly E-News each Wednesday.

Wednesday Noon Eucharist

We have resumed our Noon Eucharist services on Wednesdays. We will continue to follow Covid-19 safety protocols.

There will be no Sunshine Club meeting during the month of April. Watch for details to come in upcoming publications on when we will meet.

April Love Offering

SisterCare

SisterCare is a service for battered women and their children in Fairfield, Kershaw, Lexington, Newberry, and Richland Counties. Their services include: children's services, community counseling services, community education, and awareness, court advocacy, emergency shelters, 24 hours service telephone line, shelter follow-up program, transitional housing, and Hispanic outreach services. To find out more about SisterCare you can go to their website at:

<http://www.sistercare.com/>

Pub Theology meets on Zoom each Tuesday evening at 7:00 PM. Zoom meeting details can be found in the weekly E-News.

Goal: $25,000.00

All offerings received will be divided as follows: 10% will go to charities and the remainder will be split between personnel assistance and staffing (intern, youth, etc.) and ongoing church maintenance/improvements.

Altar Flowers & Bulletin Covers

Since access to the church building is limited at this time, the sign-up sheets are not posted on the Altar Flower & Bulletin Cover board in the main hallway. If you would like to reserve a date, please contact the church office to check availability.

Dear Mt. Tabor...

We wish to extend our thanks for your donation in the amount of $289 in February during our February Love Offering raised for the ministry of Hannah House of Columbia, SC. Through your giving and prayers, God has used this ministry to touch the lives of many women and children. Your donation will go directly towards the programming cost of the ministry. May God bless you and may he continue to bless you. We would love for you to visit our facility and meet and greet our women and children.
