I Have To Lie

It occurs to me that everything I create has a bit of a lie in it.

An End To Another Year states:

“My Top Twenty Albums lists are written from one standpoint only:”

And then I give two options to consider. (But, select one or the other, not both.)

My Top Twenty Albums is lists of twenty albums and I start with twenty-two. (They all had to be there.)

The thing is: With everything I create, I am trying to speak only truth. But, I am not perfect. I am, after all, a human animal, prone to make mistakes. I hate that about me. Yet, I cannot change that, no matter how hard I may try. Since I know that about me, apparently my artistic muse lets a reader know, right away, that I am a liar.

I speak the Truth, I am a Liar.

This is my Achilles' heel, my yin and yang, the thing that keeps me from being a singularity = not materially existing in time.

I have tried, so very hard, to make a difference in this world for good. Maybe this will fail as well.

I have to try, so I have to lie, because I have to tell the truth.

What do I really think...

About a singularity not materially existing in time.

It still exists,

Just not IN matter,

Just not IN time.

To be IN time, you have to be IN matter.

Matter is not Idea.

If you are an idea, you can live forever

(given the right circumstances).

A singularity is an idea.

Our souls are ideas.

Ideas are real,

Just as

Matter is real.

Infinitism

from an Infinitist.

Business Plan

We have to protect innocence.

Children and Women.

And Forests.

And Seas.

I will protect the innocent.

If Anyone Was Wondering...

what I was listening to

(and there was always music on)

while I was thinking, reading, writing, editing, revising;

I would have to say:

About 99% of the time

This Week.

2019-2022

If I Do Not Finish

unfinished INFINITY,

yet it is complete,

I hope M. would have had a hand in it.

I would trust it in her hands.

(But, I would never ask.)
