Talk to your counselor or advisor: Talk about different opportunities. Many paths lead to similar careers. You could earn a certificate, complete an apprenticeship or earn an associate or bachelor's degree. Investigate what each one may cost and what salary you can earn with different credentials.

Ask your counselor about fee waivers for college applications and SAT/ACT tests: Your parent/guardian can authorize your school to use your USDA Free and Reduced-Price Meals status for SAT/ACT and college application fee waivers. Not sure if you qualify? Check with your school.

Organize program requirements: List all application deadlines, including testing and financial aid requirements, for each program that interests you. Use a checklist to stay organized: delawarestudentsuccess.org/cam-students

Request letters of recommendation: Reach out to your contacts and send them a list of your accomplishments to include in the letter.

Prepare for College Application Month: October 14 – November 22, 2019

Write your application essay: Draft your essays and request feedback from parents, teachers, or other trusted adults.

Apply to Delaware colleges for free: All Delaware colleges are waiving application fees from mid-October to the end of November. Attend special events at your school to learn more about college and fill out applications during your school's College Application Week.

Work on the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid): Finish the FAFSA between October 1 and March 1 to maximize the financial aid you may receive. Go to fafsa.ed.gov. Add the schools that you are applying to on your FAFSA. This is a FREE application.

Check the FAFSA priority deadlines: Schools have different deadlines. Submit your FAFSA by those dates. Funds are limited and may be awarded on a first-come basis.

Search and apply for scholarships: Start at scholarships.delawarestudentsuccess.org. You should complete your FAFSA by March to meet most scholarship deadlines.

Complete the CSS/Financial Aid PROFILE®: Some programs and colleges require this to see if you qualify for grants and scholarships. Applications open October 1. cssprofile.collegeboard.org

Review SEED/Inspire deadlines: Delaware high school graduates must start college in the fall following graduation to be eligible.

- SEED Scholarship: You need at least a 2.5 GPA (80%) and can go tuition-free for your associate degree at the University of Delaware or Delaware Tech (up to 6 semesters).
- Inspire Scholarship: You need a 2.75 GPA (80%) and can receive at least $3,900 per year (up to 8 semesters) at Delaware State University.

November - December: Apply

Research a military career: If you are considering the military, talk to recruiters. You will need to consider branches, careers, time commitments and education offerings. You'll also need to take the ASVAB test. Plan to apply to a few colleges as a backup.

Work on your applications: Some schools have deadlines as early as November.

Continue applying for scholarships and completing your FAFSA!

Check out the Academic Common Market: You may be able to pay in-state tuition at some out-of-state universities. Go to delawarestudentsuccess.org/acm to search schools and programs.

Send your SAT, ACT and AP scores: These scores can help with scholarships, course placement or selection to certain programs or majors.

Attend a college fair: Military, certificate and apprenticeship programs also participate.

- Kent County: Nov. 12, 2019, 7-9 p.m., Polytech HS
- New Castle County: Nov. 13, 2019, 6:30-8:30 p.m., Carpenter Center, UD; How to Pay for College Presentation, 6:15-7 p.m.
- Sussex County: Nov. 14, 2019, 7-9 p.m., Sussex Central HS delawarestudentsuccess.org/events

Consider the Common Application: More than 500 colleges use this form. Many colleges waive application fees if you have a fee waiver or explain that you can't afford it. Check commonapp.org for the programs and colleges you are considering.

Send transcripts: Ask your counselor to send your transcript to your chosen programs or colleges.

E HENG

January – March: Apply for Financial Aid

Complete your FAFSA by March 1 to get the maximum aid for which you qualify.

Look at trade programs: If you are considering a trade or apprenticeship program, attend an info session. Learn what type of career the program will lead to, the salary you can expect and what the cost will be. Meet with an adviser to schedule your entrance exam and complete other requirements. Remember to ask about job placement to choose the best option. delawarestudentsuccess.org/registered-apprenticeship

April - May: Decide

Contact the school's financial aid office with any questions: Know how much aid you will be required to repay. You will need money for non-tuition items: housing, meal plans, books, transportation to/from school, lab/art supplies and computer. Plan for these expenses.

Compare award letters: Examine the financial aid packages offered to you. Some schools may be more affordable than you think! bigfuture.collegeboard.org/pay-for-college/financial-aid-awards/compare-aid-calculator

Choose the best fit: Be sure to weigh the cost of attendance with the salary you might earn to choose the best fit academically and financially.

June – August: Prepare for Your Next Steps

Send transcripts: Ask your counselor to send your final transcript to your chosen program or college.

Graduate: Stay on track and celebrate!

Info:

Maximize Your Chances of Receiving Scholarships

Begin searching for scholarships as early as possible

- Don't wait until January of your senior year to start looking.
- Pay attention to scholarship deadlines and keep a checklist of application closing dates.
- File your FAFSA early. Many scholarships require it. FAFSA opens Oct. 1.
- Don't submit at the application deadline to guard against computer or other technical issues.

Plan for letters of recommendation

- Choose your recommender carefully. It should be someone who knows you well and can speak to your accomplishments.
- Give them plenty of time and include a student bio or resume outlining your accomplishments and activities.
- The best letters of recommendation show the student's personality and character.

Apply for local scholarships

- Many communities offer scholarships through clubs, organizations or small businesses.
- The chances of winning a local scholarship may be greater because they are open to a smaller group of students.
- Check with your school counselor for scholarships tied to your school and community.
- Ask relatives if they know of scholarships through their employers, clubs and organizations.

Apply for scholarships with smaller amounts

- Don't overlook smaller scholarships. Several $500 scholarships can add up.
- Larger scholarships can be the most competitive.
- · The amount of scholarships you can apply to or win is unlimited.

Don't avoid scholarships that require an essay

- Some students avoid scholarships that require more work. That could shrink the application pool and improve your chances of winning.
- If you have two to four really good scholarship essays, edit and reuse those essays for multiple scholarship applications.
- Edit the essay for each new scholarship essay question.

Write a winning scholarship essay

- Follow the essay word limit. Exceeding that might disqualify you.
- Proofread the essay to ensure you have no spelling or grammar mistakes
- Answer any questions in the essay prompt.
- Find a unique perspective on the essay prompt and make your essay stand out. Be personal and passionate.

Apply for many scholarships and stay organized

- Apply for 20 to 30 or more scholarships.
- Treat applying like a part-time job. It's an investment in your future.
- Set aside regular times to look for and apply to scholarships, once a week, an hour each day, whatever works best for your schedule.
- Stay organized. Use a calendar and a checklist. Know the scholarship deadlines.

Don't be discouraged if you don't win right away

- Not everyone is guaranteed to win a scholarship.
- The more you apply for, the better your chances of winning a scholarship.
- Keep searching for scholarships.
- Apply for scholarships in different categories that you may qualify for, such as merit, athletic or artistic.

Beware of scholarship scams

- Requests for personal information: A legitimate scholarship will never ask for personal information such as a social security number.
- Fees: A true scholarship will not charge a fee to submit an application.
- Guarantees to win: A legitimate scholarship will not guarantee that you will win. If it seems too good to be true, it probably is.
- Application is missing sponsor information: You should always be able to find a sponsor's contact information in the application. If you can't find that information, be wary.

Academic Common Market

Regional tuition-savings agreement

The Academic Common Market (ACM) is a tuition-savings agreement between 15 Southern states that are members of the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB). If your degree program is not offered at a public college in Delaware, you may be eligible for instate tuition at a public college that participates in the ACM.

To be eligible for the ACM, you must be:

- A Delaware resident whose degree program is not offered at Delaware State University or University of Delaware
- Accepted into an eligible baccalaureate or graduate-level degree program selected for the ACM by a participating college.
 Note: The ACM does not include first professional degree programs, such as pharmacy, medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, optometry, theology or law.

The 15 participating states are:

Alabama

Arkansas

Delaware

Florida (graduate-level programs only)

Georgia

Kentucky

Louisiana

Maryland

Mississippi

Oklahoma

South Carolina

Tennessee

Texas (graduate-level programs only)

Virginia

West Virginia

Programs offered in the ACM are selected by the participating public colleges and are subject to change. States and colleges may also set restrictions on ACM participation, such as undergraduate or graduate-only enrollment; full-time enrollment; or the completion of specific coursework to enter the degree program.

You can submit your ACM application to the Delaware Higher Education Office (DHEO) after you have been accepted into an eligible degree program. If you remain continuously enrolled in the same program at the same school, make satisfactory academic progress and retain your Delaware residency, you do not have to reapply each year. Institutional requirements to retain ACM status may include full-time enrollment and maintaining a minimum GPA.

Contact DHEO if you have any questions or if your program is not offered in the ACM. The participating institutions will sometimes add a program upon request. To learn about eligible programs for Delaware residents, ACM deadlines, or to download an application, visit www.delawarestudentsuccess.org/acm.

Undocumented Students

Scholarships often require students to be either a U.S. citizen or an eligible non-citizen. For students who don't meet this criteria, finding money to pay for college can be more challenging. If you are unsure of your citizenship status or do not meet one of these criteria, below are resources that will help you to find money to pay for your college expenses. College is not out of the question for you if you use these resources. Also, be sure to check out our website: www. delawarestudentsuccess.org as we continue to add additional information throughout the year.

Step 1: Review the Compendium for scholarships that do not require citizenship. Many scholarships will tell you in the description if they require citizenship.

Step 2: Choose your top 1 or 2 schools and contact the financial aid \ office. Let them know that you are not eligible for federal aid and will need assistance in applying for financial aid. Several colleges including University of Delaware, Delaware Tech and Delaware State have financial aid officers assigned to help students through this process. Often private schools also have financial aid officers available to assist you. Contact them as early as possible so that you can complete the process and get as much funding as possible.

Step 3: Consider state scholarships such as the Student Excellence Equals Degree (SEED) (see page 43) and Inspire (see page 33). SEED covers full tuition at Delaware Tech and Inspire provides at least $3,900 a year at Delaware State University. Undocumented students are eligible to apply for the SEED scholarship at Delaware Technical and Community College and must meet the same eligibility requirements as documented students. To qualify as an undocumented scholarship recipient, the student must have:

- Attended a high school located within the State of Delaware for two or more years
- Graduated from a Delaware high school
- Applied for all campus-based financial aid (scholarships, etc.) for which s/he would be eligible
- Submit a notarized Tuition Affidavit (available in Delaware Tech's Financial Aid Office) which certifies that the student is an undocumented person and that s/he has filed an application to legalize his/her immigration status or will file an application to legalize his/her application status as soon as s/ he is eligible.

Step 4: Consider other scholarship resources, such as The Mexican American Legal Defense Fund, which compiled a long list of scholarships for you to consider: www.maldef.org

Please visit the undocumented student section of the Delaware Higher Education Office website at for more information and resources.

SEED & INSPIRE SCHOLARSHIPS

Think you can't afford college? Think again!

Did you know that the State of Delaware offers tuition-free or significantly reduced tuition to UD, DSU and Delaware Tech?

You may qualify for the SEED or Inspire Scholarship if you live in Delaware and graduate from a Delaware high school.

You must start college in the fall following graduation to be eligible.

SEED: You need at least a 2.5 GPA (80%) and can attend college tuition-free at Delaware Technical Community College or the University of Delaware's Associate in Arts program for up to six semesters.

INSPIRE: You need at least a 2.75 (80%) and can receive at least $3,900 per year toward tuition at Delaware State University for up to eight semesters.

Students still need to satisfy admission and financial aid requirements as determined by the school.

For more information, including application deadlines, visit: delawarestudentsuccess.org/state-aid

Section 3: Private Scholarships Listed Alphabetically

Before submitting your application for any of these awards, verify that the deadline, award amount and eligibility requirements have not changed. You can search for additional scholarships at www.delawarestudentsuccess.org. For information about state-sponsored scholarships, see Section 1.

FinAid: The SmartStudent Guide to Financial Aid website includes a section on How to Win a Merit Scholarship with advice on searching for scholarships, getting organized, writing winning essays, getting good letters of recommendation and acing the scholarship interview. Go to www.finaid.org/scholarships.

Avoiding Scams

Financial aid scammers want your money. Be aware of the tactics companies use to persuade students to buy their services. Students are hearing these claims:

"If you use our services, you're guaranteed to get at least $5,500 in student aid for college, or we'll give you your money back." This claim doesn't mean anything. Most students are eligible for at least $5,500 in unsubsidized student loans – and because a student loan is considered student aid, you won't be able to ask for a refund if that's all you're offered. Remember that refund guarantees often have conditions. Get refund policies in writing.

"Applying for aid is complicated. We're the only ones who can help you through the process and find all the aid for which you're eligible." Unlikely. Many places offer free help to apply for student aid. Check with your school counselor or college financial aid office for help filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Your school or college can also help you find scholarships.

"I'd like to offer you a scholarship or grant. All I need is your bank account information so the money can be deposited and a processing fee charged." Watch out!

It's extremely rare for a legitimate organization to charge a processing fee for a scholarship. Criminals imitate legitimate foundations, federal agencies and corporations. They might even have official-sounding names to fool students. Don't give anyone your bank account or credit card information or your Social Security Number unless you initiated the contact and trust the company.

What is Registered Apprenticeship?

Registered Apprenticeship is an employer-driven, "earn while you learn" model that combines onthe-job training with a job-related classroom or lab instruction. Registered Apprentices are sponsored by their employer and therefore typically work during the day and attend school at night.

Registered Apprenticeship is a proven approach for preparing workers from age 16+ for jobs while meeting the needs of business for a highly-skilled workforce.

Once workers complete their apprenticeship program, they are on their way to a successful long-term career with a competitive salary and little or no educational debt.

Every graduate of an apprenticeship program receives a nationally-recognized, portable credential that signifies that apprentices are fully qualified for the job. and which is accepted by industries and employers across the U.S.

In Delaware there are:

- Around 1,400 Registered Apprentices (RA)
