Dear Jack:

I was just sitting and drinking my Sunday morning coffee, and had a few minutes to spare. and that I'd drop you a few lines. Charlie just got up - its 10³⁰ and had his breakfast. the kids are hopping around to the Polish music you know what they have on Sunday morning. we're having chicken for dinner. and I suppose you have chicken quite often. Marion from Canada was up here, no doubt you had heard. and I had her for supper. Its ^{Wednesday} ^{nite} so hard to get meat here. I had chop suey, and Macaroni & cheese.

It wasnt any company dinner but it was the best I could do.
The weather is awfully cold, and were having trouble with our car again. It wont start. we need a new battery, but just hate to spend the money for it.
Charlie, jacked up the car at the house the day after new Years, well Jack I guess Ill close and get my chicken going for dinner, and I go to mass. The kids all say Hello.
Love
Barbara.
