Women Walk the World

29 April

Since 2012, women all over the world have been coming together on (or near) 29 April to celebrate the Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW) and raise money and awareness that supports rural women worldwide.

Local activities and events are held to spread joy while raising donations toward ACWW's Rural Women in Action Fund, which supports our ongoing work from funding grassroots development projects, to advocacy, education and awareness-raising.

Taking part creates opportunities for women to mobilise as leaders within their communities, helps to raise awareness and support, and strengthens connections through growing partnerships, friendships and networks.

Joining us in celebration this year? Here's how you can get involved:

- Organise a walk in your community. This could be around a nearby park or open space, or a tour of your local area
- Rather not walk? Get creative instead and host a crafting, knitting or art session using ACWW's colours
- Find events near you to speak at and raise awareness about ACWW's network, membership and work
- Share our posters online, in local businesses and/or shop windows
- Unable to organise your own event? Consider partnering with or sponsoring another member society's activities
