Speaker: Tricia Holderman
Infection Prevention Post Covid

As CEO of Elite Facility Systems, Tricia Holderman, The Germ Girl, creates environments that allow people to work, meet, and live free from an overwhelming fear of germs. A 43-year veteran of the cleaning services industry, Tricia's company has served NBA and NFL teams and arenas, offices, hospitals, and luxury homes across the country. Tricia is the best selling Author of Germinator The Germ Girl's Guide to simple Solutions in a Germ Filled World.

"I've always been a little obsessed with cleanliness," Tricia remembers. At 17 years old she was teaching aerobics to earn money for college, Tricia's diligence about cleaning between classes caught the attention of a student who asked if Tricia could clean her house. By 33, Tricia's expertise earned her a position developing new, safer, more effective cleaning solutions as a member of Procter and Gamble's advisory board for commercial products.

In addition to her work actively sanitizing some of our most vulnerable shared spaces, Tricia educates audiences across the country on the best ways to get to germs before they get to us. Her keynotes help shed light on what people need to do in order to keep themselves safe in their homes, in the office, out shopping, or traveling—and explains what is a waste of time and money. She has been an educator for national conferences for facilities in many industries.

Tricia holds a Certificate of Mastery in Infection Prevention (CMIP) from the Association for the Health Care Environment (AHE), a Professional Membership Group of the American Hospital Association.

In May of 2022, in Washington DC, she received the highest award of Advocate of the Year from the International Sanitary and Supplies Association for her dedication to safety of buildings and homes.

She has been featured on the cover of Success Magazine, Good morning Texas and many other media outlets.

She is based in Dallas, and has presented in many countries and states.
