Activity 1: First to a million - nudes being shared without consent

- Re-open the First to a Million Powerpoint file (you'll find this at www.thinkuknow.co.uk/parents/support-tools/home-activity-worksheets/11-13s/) and re-watch the clips on slides 10 and 11. If you're yet to watch the film, please watch the full First to a million interactive drama.
- Write the name of one of the characters (either Meg, Jamal or Lucas) who had their nude video shared without their consent (permission) on a sheet of paper. Divide your sheet into two columns and label with the headings 'Impact' and 'Feelings'.
- First complete the 'Impact' column for your character by writing down all the ways they might be affected by what has happened;
- Next complete the 'Feelings' column: for each of the ideas you wrote in the 'Impact' column, write down how that might make the character feel in the 'Feelings' column.
- On another sheet of paper, write 'The Sharer'. Divide it into two columns headed 'Impact' and 'Feelings', and complete them to show how sharing someone else's nudes might affect a young person, and how that might make them feel. When you have finished, check the suggested answers which give examples of the impact on 'The Sharer', on the sheet below.

Activity 2: Nudes being shared without consent

- Read the 'Tukmz exclusive' article attached to this sheet and underline three parts of the article which demonstrate that Fleur has been treated unfairly by either Tukmz newspaper, the media, social media users or her boyfriend.
- Write down why it's unfair for Fleur to have been treated or spoken about this in this way. The suggested answers box includes a few examples of some of the negative comments in the article and why these are unfair.
- Write down a pledge about what you would do to help the situation if you found out that a friend's nude was being shared around. You can use the 'When nudes get shared around' article (www.thinkuknow.co.uk/11-13/need-advice/when-pics-get-shared-around) if you need some ideas.

TUKMZ EXCLUSIVE

Fleur Tean airs trashy laundry for all to see!

Internet and Twitter in full flutter over naked selfies of teen idol!

The internet and Twitter have been in full flutter over those nude (and nearly nude) pictures of Fleur Tean, posted anonymously at the weekend all over the popular internet message-board, 2clan.

The 17-year old pop singer and film starlet has reportedly gone into hiding whilst she consults her legal advisors.

Facing a different type of exposure than the young superstar is used to, Fleur was caught shame-faced leaving a posh London hotel. Fighting back the tears as she ran into a blacked-out limo, not surprisingly she seemed reluctant to comment to crowds of photographers present! People have been quick to take to social media to comment on the photos, with some die-hard fans backing Fleur saying that stealing and re-sending personal photos is a sex crime and a huge breach of personal privacy.

Others have been quick to condemn Fleur's

It's a disgraceful example to set to other young people. She shouldn't have done it and she deserves all the bad press she gets!

actions – one Twitter user commented

Bad press or not some online bloggers have even gone on to claim these events were deliberately planned to raise the singer's media profile just weeks ahead of her new album being released.

A source close to the singer said there have been widespread rumours that Fleur's current boyfriend Lee Autone (17) had been approached by freelance journalists who had offered him money for the scandalous pictures. The two have been seeing each other for five months after she appeared in the latest video for Lee's band The Over-Auto-Tuners.

It's still not known if these rumours are true or if the photos were uploaded to an email account which was then hacked, but it's thought that the police have been called to investigate. The fact remains that there might be thousands of copies of these shocking and illegal images of the under 18-year-old making their way around the internet so this little slip-up won't be forgotten about any time soon!

The teenage star is due to release a personal statement on the photos, but initial comments from the family have asked that people and press respect their privacy and allow them some peace during this tricky time.

We'll be sure to keep you updated with all the news on this story, and any more startling revelations as they happen here on TUKMZ!

Private Pics Go Public 1: News Story

Activity 1 suggested answers

- Friends: Like Tanq, people who share naked or sexual content on non-consensual many lose friends who disapprove of their actions. Parents/careers and teachers: If reported, it's likely that their school teachers and parents will be notified about what has happened and will need to discuss the incident with the young person.
- Police involvement: It's illegal for anyone under 18 to share an image of themselves or another under 18. Police take situations of non-consensual sharing (like Tanq sharing the video of Meg and Jamal) seriously.

Activity 2 suggested answers

- Fleur Tean airs trashy laundry for all to see – Fleur has been unfairly labelled as 'trashy' and 'bring all' even though she didn't intend for the public to see her pictures. It's a disgraceful example to set to other young people. She shouldn't have done it and she deserves all the bad press she gets! – Unlike the person who leaked the pictures, Fleur did not want to upset anyone by sending pictures and therefore does not deserve ill-treatment.
- [Fleur's boyfriend] had been approached by freelance journalists who had offered him money for the scandalous pictures – It's true, this is a huge breach of Fleur's privacy rights. It would be wrong of the journalist to request this and for the boyfriend to share them.
