

Like

Everyday Face Reading

REVEALING THE VALUE OF EVERY FACE

April 2018

EVERYDAY FACE READING PRESENTS

FACE READING 101:

The Basics of Reading Facial Features for Self-Discovery & Compassionate Interactions

The workshop will present a brief history of face reading, as well as the basic concepts behind its application.

Each attendee will also receive a mini face reading during the workshop!

APRIL 20, 2018 | 7:00 PM

Studio Around the Corner 67 Main Street, Brewster, NY

RSVP Elaine@EverydayFaceReading.com

$ 15
Workshop Fee

Elaine Gartner

Face Reading Workshop

Join me this Friday, April 20th, from 7-9pm at the Studio Around the Corner in Brewster, NY to learn how face reading can help you understand yourself and those around you! Receive a mini face reading at the event! Register by emailing me at

In the News...

Social Media has been under attack recently due to suspected inappropriate data breaching and user tracking. However, it wouldn't take a news story to break in order for a face reader to know that there may be an inherent transparency problem regarding Facebook's policies and agendas. If we examine the face of Mark Zuckerberg, Facebook's founder, we can see that he has something that is colloquially referred to as "secrets lines" on the outer corners of his mouth. These indentations that seem to arch slightly upward indicate that someone is withholding information either from an outside source or regarding their own experiences. In other words, they are keeping secrets. What those secrets are, however, are only for the wearer to know, as we cannot speculate on such matters. Nevertheless, seeing that the line is deeper on the right side of his face--the side that correlates to his work life--it would stand to reason that there may very well be something from Mark's career that he is choosing to withhold.

The Effects of Plastic Surgery

Thousands of people go under the knife every year in order to shape their faces according to what they consider to be more desirable features. But, what are the effects of such procedures?

Does having a smoother or smaller feature take away from who you are? Well, the answer is yes. You were born with a specific composite of features and they have informed your life experiences so far. If you alter those features, then you also change how you interact in the world. If we were to take the example of the woman in the picture, you can see that she was born with a specific type of nose. It has a large nose tip, with a deep groove running down the center. Additionally, the nose somewhat turns down. The meaning of those three things--in simplified terms-- is that she is good with finances, needs to feel impassioned about her work, and is rather skeptical by nature. Looking at her nose after the rhinoplasty, one can see that it is much smaller in overall size. The nose is said to correlate with the decade of one's 40's. If you diminish it, you also diminish the impact that the 40's was meant to have in store for you. But aside from making her nose smaller, she also reshaped her nose. She eliminated her bulbous nose tip, and in turn, may have also lost her good financial sense. And now that she no longer has a groove at her nose tip, she may be able to work at jobs that she doesn't emotionally connect with. And finally, because her nose now angles up at the end, she may become more gullible and trusting by nature. There are consequences to all changes that we make on our faces--some are good and some are challenging. The question you have to ask yourself is if you will align with what your face will broadcast after going under the knife.

Face Reading Parties!

Are you interested in hosting a memorable party for your friends, family, and/or co-workers? I love bringing this work to groups of people in a lively atmosphere. For the price of $10 per person, I give a short presentation about the key concepts of face reading, and then I do mini-sessions for each participant. Every person leaves with a hand-written card detailing their five most prominent facial features and their meanings. This makes for a wonderful keepsake of a memorable, meaningful, and fun experience. I live in Putnam County, NY and am willing to travel throughout Putnam, Westchester, and Dutchess counties in NY and Fairfield County in CT. Please contact me for more information at elaine@everydayfacereading.com

Elaine Gartner is a certified face reader who has studied and practiced physiognomy, both Eastern and Western, for over fifteen years. Please visit www.everydayfacereading.com to learn more.*

©2018 Everyday Face Reading | P.O. Box 242, North Salem, NY 10560

Web Version

Forward

Unsubscribe

Powered by
GoDaddy Email Marketing®