

Portfolio Auctions LLC Privacy Policy

The privacy of our clients and other website visitors is of the utmost importance. Portfolio Auctions strives to gain and maintain the trust of our consignors, sellers, bidders, and buyers by continually protecting identities and holding information in confidence. All information you provide us when using the website is held in confidence.

As we update and expand our services, this privacy policy may change to better serve everyone. Portfolio Auctions does not send notifications of, so please check periodically for updates.

The registration process collects your name, email address, billing and/or shipping address, telephone number and payment details, typically a credit card for personal property and livestock auctions.

When you contact us through the website or app, we may keep a record of your communication as well as any other information specified in this Privacy Policy to help solve any issues you might be facing. We may also send you email notices to keep you informed about our services, including any changes, improvements, events, or upcoming promotions.

Any comments made on forums or other similar areas of our services are public and information posted in those areas will be viewable by anyone with access.

The registration process for real estate is more in depth. You will be required to provide proof of funds with your banker's full contact information. In the event of a lender, you will be required to provide full loan information and credit worthiness that includes completed underwriting that is not subject to any contingencies. This must be verifiable, with the lender authorized to disclose any information that can assist with your registration approval. Real Estate bidders will be required to provide copies of a current driver's license, address, email, telephone number, employment and any other information needed to assist with full registration.

Portfolio Auctions researches client usage patterns and demographics based on the information provided to us during use of our website to better understand client needs and enhance our service. This information is compiled and analyzed for internal use only. Registration qualifies a user as a Portfolio Auctions client, and, regardless of any regulation to the contrary, the user agrees until this consent is revoked in writing, that Portfolio Auctions may contact the user concerning sale and purchase opportunities available through Portfolio Auctions.

Portfolio Auctions collects and stores any login information you create in order to allow you to access your account information and member features. All information is held in confidence by Portfolio Auctions. We do not trade, rent or sell your information, including email addresses, to third parties nor do we provide it for any third party's general commercial usage. Information disseminated to parties external to Portfolio Auctions, such as gavel prices, is anonymous.

Portfolio Auctions reserves the right to share information with third parties that are acting on proper legal authority (e.g. subpoenas), including police and governmental agencies. We respond to credit references initiated by you or in the trade. The response is limited to confirming client status and whether your account is in good standing.

Your data will be retained according to federal and state law. In certain circumstances, we may need to retain some of your personal data even after a deletion request, such as when required to comply with legal obligations, to prevent fraud, or to resolve ongoing disputes. If this applies, we will inform you of the specific reasons for retention and the duration for which the data will be kept.

Portfolio Auctions has implemented reasonable precautions to protect the information we collect from loss, misuse and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration and/or destruction. Despite our efforts, no data security measures can guarantee security and you should take steps to protect against unauthorized access, to include but not limited to your login information. Portfolio Auctions is not responsible for any lost, stolen or compromised passwords, information, or any activity on your account through unauthorized password activity.

This privacy policy can be modified without notice at any time without obligation to notify you.