Crystal Technology

Crystals!!! hold consciousness and the blueprint of the history of different timelines on earth and beyond. Consciousness records of events throughout human evolution. Crystals are an energetic structure called the silicate matrix (which is also a matrix within the human body) they transmit codes and frequencies that can be shared and used for many healing purposes. They love to be shared in this way.

All crystals are neutral unless programmed.

It's easy to program your crystals for unique purposes of healing and transmitting high frequency into your space, creating your grids, placing in certain areas of your home or land space.

Each horizontal line in a crystal are it's growth lines and as they grow are affected the changes in the earth's crust, temperature, events, cataclysms etc. This information is recorded and stored within the matrix of the crystal, can also be called the Akashic record held within the stone.

Crystals can communicate this information to us when we attune to it specifically.

Crystals have been used for literally eons, the various colors and frequencies hold vibrational qualities that can be directed for healing.

The Lumerians and Atlantians and off planet the Arcturians all used crystal technologies for crystal healing chambers to regenerate and restructure, harmonize, and rebalance the silicate matrix within our bodies. This technology has anti aging qualities. Crystals are here support our spiritual connection and help to restore the Silicate matrix of the Diamond Sun DNA template in humans.

Cleaning and Clearing Crystals

1. clear fresh water, running stream, lake do not use salt as this will draw the water out of the stone
2. sunlight, solar codes, early morning gentle sun (caution- do not to leave your crystal in hot sun)
3. burry it in the earth for a day.

Program your crystal

1. decide what frequency you intend for your crystal to hold, - love, peace, prosperity, protection, etc.
2. holding the crystal in your left hand in the gentle sunlight drop into your heart space and transmit your intention into your crystal. Sometimes the crystal will communicate certain frequencies it holds for you to work with and enhance. eg. rose quartz is known for enhancing the love vibration, amethyst for spiritual connection, obsidian and black stones for removing negative energy, protection and chord cutting.

As you encode and program your crystals you will notice the subtle energies and characteristics of each crystal.

Their color code transmits their unique frequency wave that will be amplified with your intentions.

Their consciousness can be subtle that requires a deep listening and other times they communicate very intentionally and with clarity that you cannot mistake.

Clear quartz crystals hold a more neutral charge and more easily programmed to amplify other stones you choose to work with.

Create a space in your home or land to place the crystal or use it as a master crystal, place it within a crystal grid you intend to create.
