About

LINDA HANNAH

Linda Hannah is a keynote speaker and author who helps audiences strengthen confidence, resilience, and purpose in both life and leadership.

Drawing from her background as a former hat designer, she uses storytelling and metaphors to help individuals understand the mindsets they “wear” and how to shift from limitation to growth.

Her engaging and thought-provoking presentations inspire audiences to embrace their strengths, build resilience, and move forward with clarity & confidence.

Linda is a Toastmasters Speech Contest Champion and the author of The Hat Chronicles and a contributing writer for A Widow's Resilience.

Signature Presentation

Hats Off to Your Brilliance:

Building Confidence, Purpose & Resilience

In this empowering talk, Linda uses hats as metaphors to illustrate how women embrace their brilliance, cultivate unshakable confidence, and walk boldly in their purpose. Through personal stories, historical insights, and practical mindset shifts, she guides audiences from limiting thoughts to transformative ones — equipping women to show up with clarity, courage, and lasting resilience.

Proven Corporate Impact

While at ITC, I served as an Ambassador for a women's leadership organization, helping initiate a corporate partnership and bring in a featured speaker—resulting in the highest attended lunch & learn in the company's history at the time. Today, I bring that same understanding of engagement and impact to the ERGs and women's groups I serve.

"'Hats Off To Your Brilliance' is an inspiring presentation that encourages students to view leadership qualities as 'Crowns.' Ms. Hannah is an engaging speaker, who shares personal stories that resonate with her audience. During the presentation, students were attentive and appreciated the information. She introduced new perspectives, and students, as well as staff, truly enjoyed hearing and learning from her story. Henry Ford College sincerely thanks Ms. Hannah for sharing her time, service, and expertise."
