King Clovis I ascended to the Frankish throne. He would found the Frankish Empire. He was the son of the Frankish king Childeric I, and Clovis established the Merovingian Dynasty over the Franks. The Merovingians ruled over the Franks by right of ancient bloodline. They were known by their long hair and their tribal symbol was a great spear. The Merovingians believed themselves to be the blood descendants of King Solomon of Israel. While this may have been state propaganda, the Merovingins were indeed related to the people of Pontus, being descendants of Benjaminites of Israel. They were also related to the Franks and had priorly lived in Germany and Greece. Their dynastic emblem was that of the Fish and Lion, some believing it was the Lion of Judah. The Merovingian Dynasty actually began with the grandfather of Clovis I named Meroveus, Childeric I being his son. Clovis I literally begins the history of the French.

immense that it is recorded that in their travels they only lost 2000 wagons. (1) The Germans under Odoacer attempted to oppose the Goths but they were beaten in a series of battles as the Goths penetrated the Alps into Italy. This invasion of Italy is calendrically linked to two events in history involving the Cursed Earth system of 414-year epochs. This was 1242 years (414x3) from the founding of Rome in 753 BC, and 414 years after the White Huns invaded northern India and the Saka Calendar began, the Huns blood-related to the ancient migrating Israelites.

Also in this year the Chinese scholar Zu Chongzhi calculated π at 3.1415926 or 3.1415927, the most accurate estimate made up to this time. (2) This is further evidence of the brilliance of the Chinese mind, an intellect hampered by a culture that has incessantly opposed progress.

Agents of Theodoric, king of the Ostragoth in Italy, killed Odoacer, the German who had conquered Rome in 476 AD. He was assassinated at a banquet. Theodoric is made king over all Goths throughout Italy, a force of 200,000 men not including women and children. (1)

Pope Gelasius I boldly wrote the new Emperor, Theodoric, and told him that there were two powers in the earth: the secular Roman governmental power now administered by Theodoric, and the spiritual power of the papacy of Rome. Pope Gelasius then went to to inform Theodoric that the Papal power was the greater of the two. In the Synod in May of this same year the Pope assumed the title Vicar of Christ. (1) The rise of the Papacy was the chief contributing power that caused the Dark Ages and its continuance.

The Burgundians were known as the Alemanni and were the fiercest people in Europe. They invaded Gaul and the Franks led by Clovis I, a Merovingian king, lead the defense of the realm. The Franks were forced to retreat but Clovis counterattacked and killed the leader of the Alemanni, defeating them. The Franks extended their own kingdom by annexing all the realms of the Alemanni, their Gallic holdings. (1) Clovis I, third Merovingian king, converts to Christianity and the Franks then become a Christian nation: ancient France. (2) This year was 1944 years After the Exodus in 1447 BC, or 108x18 years, and 1080 years after the Fall of Judah in 585 BC. This was 720 years after the ancestors of the Franks in 225 BC were slaughtered by the Romans in the Battle of Telamon.

In this final year of Pope Gelasius of Rome he produced the first list of officially-prohibited books, those damned by the Roman Church. (3)

For 1080 years the Irish kings had been crowned upon Lia Fail, known as the Stone of Destiny, an ancestral relic stone believed to be that rock brought to the isles by migrating Israelites in antiquity. A coronation stone said to date from the life of Jacob (Israel). The Scottish king of Argyll moved the stone from Ireland to Scotland in this year, his name being Kenneth Mac Alpin. He began a dynasty of Scottish kings that would last until 1286 AD, ending with Robert the Bruce whose grandson, Robert II would begin the Stuart Dynasty. (1) It was believed that the Lia Fail was brought to ancient Ireland about 583 BC by a Hebrew prophet escorting a Judahite princess. (2)

507 AD (4401 AM): 1599 Before Armageddon/ 2745 After Flood

Clovis I of the Franks attacks the Goths lead by Alaric ten miles outside of Poitiers after a flaming meteor was seen suspended in the sky. This Frankish invasion of Gothic-occupied France resulted with the sacking of Toulouse. Clovis and Alaric engaged in one-on-one combat under the Heroic Code, a Bronze Age-Israelite institution. Clovis killed Alaric and the Goths retreat leaving Clovis of the Merovingian Dynasty in control of all of France. (1) The Franks and Visigoths inhabited the lands that would be called Spain and France. The Visigoths of Spain would remain for 204 years (2448 months) until the invasion of the Moors in 711 AD. Later European historians claimed that the comet/meteor seen by the Franks when they won the Battle of Poitiers was like the pillar of fire that guided the Israelites in the wilderness. Further, if these annals be credible, when the Franks seigeed Angouleme, at the sound of their trumpets a spectacular miracle occurred when the walls of the city collapsed, which had occurred in 1407 BC when the Israelites invaded Canaan at Jericho. King Clovis I died, third king of the Merovingian Dynasty. His sons were Theudoric, Chodomir, Childebert and Lothar. (1) The ancient Frankish people were originally known as Cimbres, or Cimbre and Cambri (2), a name linking them to the archaic German families descended from the Cimmerians who were actually Samaritans, or Israelites of Samaria. These people were also called Gauls. Antecently the lands known as France were settled by migrants that left the ruins of Troy in 1229 BC, a people who named the major cities Troyes after Troy and Paris after the Trojan hero who carried off Helen of Troy. 515 AD (4409 AM): 1591 Before Armageddon/ 2753 After Flood Approximate date for when Beowulf sailed and travelled to King Hrothgar's court in Denmark. The historicity of the Beowulf epic is the subject of Bill Cooper's excellent book After the Flood. Beowulf was a Geat, a descendant of the Getae, a people of the earlier Massagetae and Gimmeri (Samaria of Israel).

King Vortigern of Britain was at constant war with the Picts and Scots to the north and made a fatal mistake for his sovereignty. He invited King Hengist of continental Germany to send troops to aid him in defeating his domestic foes. In all, 300,000 Saxons answered the summons and sailed over to Britain, conquering them as well as the Angles that had settled the coasts. The Saxons were anciently known as the Saks in the Near East, a people directly descended from the Israelites who had been deported by the Assyrians. The origin of the term Saks was with their patriarch, Isaac [Itshak]. Interestingly, even over a century after this Saxon invasion of Britain the Anglo-Saxons and the Franks of Gaul could still understand each other's speech. (1)

The calendrics for this date establish the Israelite pedigree of the Saxons. The Assyrians deported the Ten Tribes of Israel in 745 BC, exactly 1260 years before 516 AD invasion of Saxons. And this invasion into Britain was exactly 1260 years before the founding of the greatest Israelite-descended Anglo-Saxon Empire in the world, in 1776 AD, the United States of America. This 516 AD year was 666x5 years (3330) after the Great Pyramid was finished in 2815 BC (1080 AM). Interstingly, this was 144 years after the Huns invaded in 372 AD.

This is date in the Welsh Annals of King Hywell (10th century AD) for the Battle of Badon led by Arthur of the Britons who defended against the invading Saxons. (1) The invasion of Britain continued in this year. This was 1447 years after Israel and Judah split in 931 BC, 1447 being the date of the Exodus of Israel from Egypt. Also, this was 1229 years after the Judehites were spared Assyrian takeover of Jerusalem in 713 BC, 1229 BC being the date of the Fall of Troy. London was originally named New Troy [Troyanovia].

Also in this year, planet PHENIX passes through the inner solar system completing its 138 year orbit. This is the ONLY year in all of world history fix in the past and in the future that these two intruder planets pass through the inner system at the same time. Several devastating earthquakes struck Olympia in Greece. (1) The calendrics for this year are prominent and the effect these two intruder worlds had on earth was probably not recorded effectively. Europe and the Near East were entering a Dark Age with literacy at an all-time low. There is evidence, though no dates are specified, that in the Americas at this time there was a great destruction visited upon those cultures.

1. The Medieval World 200
526 AD (4420 AM): 1580 Before Armageddon/ 2764 After Flood/ 1110 Fall of Judah/ 450 Saka Calendar/ 50 Fall of Rome

The Western Roman Emperor, Theodosius, died in Rome. Italy erupts in civil war and anarchy. (1) This civil war will endure 28 years, to 554 AD. The civil unrest and collapse of the political structure empowers the Church of Rome as people seek the guidance of the priests and Popes because of the inability of the secular government to provide security. The King of Israel Great Orbit train of comets and debris enters the inner solar system. In May 29th a massive earthquake rocked the Jewel of the East, the famed city of Antioch in Syria. As the ground trembled flames fell from the sky and a horrible stench bubbles up from the sea (hydrogen sulfide?) according to John of Ephesus. (2) This archaic, cosmopolitan city caught fire and thousands were burned alive while trapped in the rubble. In the several days after the disaster bands of robbers plundered, raped and murdered many survivors. The total death toll estimated at 250,000 in Antioch alone.

In this same year the scholar Dionysius Exiguus created a new calendar based off of the now, widely accepted Christian story, the Anno Domini, or Year of Our Lord, Calendar. He calculated as Year 1 AD to be the 754th Year of Rome, thinking that was the birth of Jesus. He was a year off but the mistake seems to have been deliberate, or divinely inspired. This year begins the entire method of calculating dates BC, or BCE, and AD, or CE. Prior to this year the calendar had never been centralized, but different nations employed their own systems. This is the accepted calendar first of the entire Western World, and later the calendar adopted by the ENTIRE WORLD.

527 AD (4421 AM): 1579 Before Armageddon/ 2765 After Flood

Justinian begins to rule as Emperor in Constantinople over the Eastern Empire. He would rule to 565 AD and be an infamous ruler who would marry a prostitute—a courtesan actress who was equally notorious.

529 AD (4423 AM): 1577 Before Armageddon/ 2767 After Flood

Emperor Justinian over the Eastern Greek Empire had the Platonic Academy shut down after 900 years of service in education and dissemination of the arts and sciences. It was considered the oldest university in the world.

532 AD (4426 AM): 1574 Before Armageddon/ 2770 After Flood/ 1244 Orbital-Alteration/ 576 Roman Julian/ 56 Fall of Rome

Emperor Justinian was hated by both political parties in Constantinople, called the Blues and the Greens. These factions, enemies, united in an effort to overthrow Justinian. Justinian was considered thoroughly wicked. He had executed his political adversaries and sent out agents all over the empire to falsely accuse the rich and wealthy of imaginary crimes so the Treasury could confiscate their money and property. Innocents were imprisoned, banished and killed to fill his own coffers. Justinian bled the people of Constantinople and surrounding domains with excessive taxes, enslaved and sold those who could not pay their debts and elevated in power and authority those evil men who helped him falsely accuse others to acquire their wealth. He paid agents handsomely to cover his wife's tracks as she continually abducted people off the streets. Theodora was a beautiful dancer-turned-prostitute and as the wife of Justinian she had secret dungeons constructed where she confined her personal prisoners and did to them whatever she will. These people were never seen alive again. Justinian suspended the best laws that protected the rights, privileges and immunities of the people and by decree forbade the Jews to observe Passover, abolishing formerly all the laws of the Hebrews. (1) Procopius, author of the Secret History, was alive and personally believed that Justinian was the Lord of Hell himself in the form of a man. Procopius wrote that Justinian did not eat, though he had the greatest foods available. He abolished the Roman consulship.

The conspiracy by the leaders of the Blues and Greens led to the Nika Rebellion in this year, five days of chaos and anarchy in Constantinople (ancient Byzantium). The people rioted in the streets, the military was attacked by civilians, even women dropping rocks and pots from windows and roofs. The prisons were opened, the priesthood and temples raided and the Heruli guards in the city who worked for Justinian burned some churches and the fervor of the people heightened at this sacrilege. Much of the city burned and many people escaped across the Bosphorus to Asia Minor in the five days. The St. Sophia church and outer Palace were burned, but not completely. About 30,000 people were killed in the chaos. Justinian's troops established control, put down the insurgents and all the conspirators met with terrible deaths. (2)

Also in this year according to John of Ephesus, "The sun became dark and its darkness last for eighteen months. Each day it shone for about four hours, and still this light was only a feeble shadow." Everyone declared that the sun would never recover its full light again." (3) A Roman writer named Cassiodorus Senator wrote that, "The sun seems to have lost its wonted light, and appears of a bluish color. We marvel to see no shadows of our bodies at noon..." (4) Scientific analysis of ice core samples taken from Iceland determine that there was a major build-up of volcanic ash in the atmosphere in the years 533-534 AD (5), which, considering the actual date was 532 AD according to those alive at the time, this is amazingly precise, for the dust-veil would have lasted into 533 and 534.

In this year according to Gibbon in his Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, the gigantic and moody whale named Porphyrio was found dead, washed ashore at the mouth of the river Sanqaris. He was 10 cubits wide and 30 cubits in length. This Porphyrio was of the habit of attacking ships at the Bosphorus Strait.

533 AD (4427 AM): 1573 Before Armageddon/ 2771 After Flood

Emperor Justinian dispatches his greatest general, Belisarius, to Africa against the Vandals of Carthage. Belisarius defeated the Vandals returning to Constantinople with vast wealth, among these being the seven-branched candlestick of the Jews taken from Jerusalem in 70 AD and then from Rome in 455 AD. Belisarius had invaded in 600 ships. Procopius in The Vandal War wrote that "...a remarkable wonder was observed, for throughout the whole year the sun shone like the moon, with no radiance, as though in perpetual eclipse." (1) This supports the testimonies of John of Ephesus and Senator mentioned in 532 AD. This same dimming of the sun was mentioned by the Chinese. By this time there is widespread starvation, famine spread across the world as the dust-veil caused crop failures throughout the entire year.

534 AD (4428 AM): 1572 Before Armageddon/ 2772 After Flood/ 270 Coptic Calendar

Starvation is global; famine afflicts China in the east, over Asia and Europe, Africa to the Americas. Two years of failed harvests depopulated the world and contributed greatly to these situations that caused the Dark Ages, the lack of civilization and its institutions like literacy and record-preservation.

535 AD (4429 AM): 1571 Before Armageddon/ 2773 After Flood/

Kosmas Indikopleustus wrote that the center of civilization before the Flood was located over the western sea from Europe. He wrote of these continents in the west, the Americas, before the post-Roman world was aware of them.
536 AD (4430 AM): 1570 Before Armageddon/ 2774 After Flood/ 460 Saka Calendar/ 60 Fall of Rome

General Belisarius of Constantinople is the Eastern Empire's greatest and most beloved General. In the 60th year according since the Fall of Rome to the Germans in 476 AD according to Edward Gibbon, Pagi, Evagrius and Nicephorus Callistus, Belisarius invaded Italy and defeated the Goths, taking Rome. The keys of the Eternal City are given to Emperor Justinian of the Eastern Empire. (1) Belisarius was respected and loved by his soldiers and for this reason Justinian and Theodora feared him. The general was known for his distribution of wealth to the poor after military campaigns and for ordering his soldiers to aid in rebuilding cities and structures ruined during wartime operations. Belisarius was brave, cunning, expert in war, loyal to a fault for his own Emporer was unfaithful to him, allowing an intrigue by his wife and Theodora's friend, Belisarius' own wife, that got the general killed. Belisarius conquered the Goths, the Vandals, refused their most beautiful women, remained faithful to Antonina his wife though she did not return this fidelity. He subdued Italy, Africa, many islands, capturing those that had been under Genseric and Theodorus. A genius who filled Constantinople with the wealth of nations, he himself fell by the conspiracy of his wicked wife.

Pamphlet in England and Ireland, lasting until 538 AD. A plague further decimates Africa, Egypt, India and Syria as well as the Near East. We can assume that this epidemic was also in China and probably the Americas.

460 Saka Calendar/ 2776 After Flood/ 62 Fall of Rome

Emporer Justinian of Constantinople of the Eastern Greek Empire declared the Pope in Rome to be the sovereign ruler of all Christendom, further decaling the Pope to be sovereign over Rome itself. This literally fulfilled the prophecy of Daniel concerning the emergence of the "little horn" that was diverse from the first 10 horns (kingdoms) that would rise up and begin to oppress them. This was the start of the Papacy and the official beginning of the Roman Catholic Papal Office, made possible only because General Belisarius had driven the Ostrogoths away from Rome. This was predicted in the text of the Apocalypse, which read that this power would exercise dominion over the European (Ten Kings) nations for 1260 years. This 1260 years also ended in accordance with prophecy when in 1798 AD Napoleon Bonaparte had the Pope put in chains and took his authority. The Revelation text reads that this ruler would be identified by the number 666, and the Pope in Latin was called VICARIUS FILII DEI, which are also numerals adding up to 666. (1) A further link between the Apocalypse descriptions of this oppressive civil-religious power that would oppress the descendants of Israel, the Ten Kingdoms of Europe, is the fact that the Roman Papal system is seen as a rich Whore sitting astride (a vulgar symbol anciently for females to sit astride an animal) a seven-headed beast. The Vatican actually minted a 100-lire coin that clearly depicts the Roman Church as a woman holding up a cup in her right hand, the same image represented by the Whore with the blood of God. (2) As Christianity has many precedents in Buddhism, we find it interesting that this was the year 1080 of the Buddhist Calendar, a sum related to ancient Israel and the earlier Sethites.

This is the date in the Welsh Annals of King Hywell of Wales (10th cent. AD) for the Battle of Camlann where King Arthur, leader of the Britai Britons, died. Further, a plague afflicted Britain and Ireland. (3) According to the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle in this year was a strange eclipse of the sun and the stars appeared in daytime. (4) Because computer simulations reveal that no total solar eclipse occurred in this year, historians have discredited these annals, however, as historical records around the world attest, the sun has darkened many times and not by any motion of the moon (close transiting objects cast their shadows on Earth).

The Persians capture the Syrian city of Antioch, now a predominantly Christian city. Antioch is called the Jewel of the East, one of the four major metropolitan cities of the old Roman Empire.

540 AD (4434 AM): 1566 Before Armageddon/ 4848 Phoenix Chronology/ 2778 After Flood/ 276 Coptic Calendar/ 64 Fall of Rome

The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle of Britain records that a total eclipse of the sun occurred again. (1) Because computer projections demonstrate that the moon did not eclipse the sun at this time over Britain, these annals have met with scorn. But we know that a locally transiting object could have cast the earth in shadow, an object other than the moon. Also in this year began what has come to be called Justinian's Plague (probably bubonic). The eastern Roman Empire controlled by Constantinople suffered a plague that came from the east and would last 52 years to 592 AD. 540 AD is half of 1080.

The Justinian Plague at its height. Procopius wrote that the plague had fallen upon the whole world. (1) The Far East, India was laid waste by the disease, Palestine, Syria and Asia Minor depopulated and Procopius wrote that the plague killed thousands inside the city of Constantinople. This plague is said to have wiped out half the population of Europe. (2) This was the year 1948 since Israel became a nation in 1407 BC, 1948 Annum Mundi being 1947 BC when Abraham was born, and 1948 AD is the year that Israel in the 20th century would become a nation again. This was also 1260 years since the Ten Tribes were deported by the Assyrians in 721 BC. This was the 66th Year year since the Fall of Rome, or 792 months.

In this year the British historian Gildas asserts Christianity was introduced into Britain in the last year of Tiberius Caesar, or in 38 AD. (3) This is also the date that King Arthur and his knights in the Battle of Kamblan died fighting their enemy Mordred, who was also defeated. (4)

He and other writers of the time tell of the huge, violent whale named Porphyry that had ruined many ships during a 50-year period. (1)

The Huns invaded northern India in this year in the 476th year of the Indian Saka Calendar.
Calendar. The Huns were an Israelite-descended people who had invaded Europe in 372 AD, exactly 180 years earlier. This was 1998 years (666x3) after the Israelites fled Egypt in the Exodus in 1447 BC, and this Hun invasion was 1296 years (432x3) after the Ten Tribes were deported in 745 BC by the Assyrians. Further, this year was 864 years (432+432) of the Greek-Syrian Seleucid Calendar that began in 313 BC. This was also 288 (144+144) of an Egyptian Coptic Calendar that started in 264 AD. This was the year 552 AD, 552 being a Phoenix Cycle. Also in this year the Goth King Totilla who took Rome in 547 AD was killed.

Emperor Justinian of Constantinople in the east invaded Italy and took Rome from the Goths, ending 28 years of anarchy and military takeovers. (1) He founded the Imperial Restoration of the Roman Empire, the first of several historic attempts to rebuild the historic Roman Empire. This was precisely 500 years before the 1054 AD rift between the eastern Orthodox and Western Roman churches. This was the 2000th year since the Exodus of Israel from Egypt in 1447 BC.

Historians attest that all three famous figures died in this year, Emperor Justinian, Belisarius, and the chronicler Procopius, author of The Secret History. Historians also estimate that as many as a hundred million people lost their lives to the natural catastrophes during Justinian and Theodora's 40 year reign as well as due to their violent policies, their criminal acts, wars and famine. (1) In this year was the first official sighting of the Loch Ness Monster by a man that would later become St. Columba, who is said to have subdued the creature, which impressed a local Pictish king.

The Lombards flooded into northern Italy over the Alps and conquered the Ostrogoths. They founded their own kingdom. (1) The Germanic Lombards (LongBeards) were of fiersome appearance and they maintained the faith that Wotan, their Teutonic god, bestowed upon them divine favor for their long beards. (2) The Teutons, though Germanic, were a branch of the Celts. Initially loathed, the Lombards quickly became civilized. (3) Their kingdom involved the northern half of Italy. The Lombards at Milan established a pillar where their kings were coronated, a tradition shared by the other Germans. (4) The coronation of a king who placed his hands on a pillar was an ancient Israelite institution with examples found in the Old Testament. Lombardy was founded 1320 years (660+660 or 440x3) after 1407 BC when the Israelites invaded Canaan and settled in the land. As 92 years after the Fall of Rome in 476 AD by the Germans, this was 1104 years 5 months (552+552).

The Roman Church of the Papacy introduced Catholicism into Britain in this year through its agent Augustine, but as a purer form of Christianity was already widespread throughout the land the Romanized faith remained unpopular. The Catholic faith would never have a stronghold in England, for both popular and later monarchical reasons, as kings of England have rarely gotten along with the Papacy.

The government of the Saxons ruled the Britons and Angles but the religion of the locals, Christianity, quickly overtook the Saxons. As the Saxons kingdoms of Essex, Wessex and Sussex were begun, the East Saxons, West Saxons and South Saxons, they absorbed Christianity like a sponge.

In fact, at this time the Lombards were viewed as the New Israel. (3)

Arab leaders in Mecca planned an assassinating the religious reformer Mohammed but the plot is revealed and Mohammed escaped to Medina, which was then known as Yathrib, where the majority of his followers were gathered. The flight of Mohammed is called his hijrah, which became the foundation year for the Islamic lunar calendar, the Hijrah. This lunar calendar herein is only counted in solar years for the use of tabulation throughout Chronicon. This year signalled the emergence of an Arab-Ishmaelite Empire, the first Semitic Empire to emerge in over a 1000 years. The last great Semitic culture fell in 146 BC in northern Africa, Carthage.

As the start of a calendar this year's calendrics are compelling. This was 2520 years (360x7) after the tribes of the earth fragmented into migrating nations in 1899 BC. The Olympiad Calendar began in 776 BC, and this was 1552 years (1000+552) after Israel and Judah split in 931 BC, 1552 years being 776+776 years. Further, this year as 622 Anno Domini is half of 1244, and adding 1244 to 622 AD is 1866 AD when the European power subdue the Roman Catholic oppressive power. Further, this is the 666th year of the Roman Julian calendar. 622 first become significant before the Flood as the year that the prophet-chronologist Enoch was born, in 3273 BC (622 AM).

Islamic army under Caliph Omar invades Egypt. The Saracens are established in Alexandria and Egypt. (1) By this time the famous Library of Alexandria had been sacked so many times by Christians and Romans that most of the valuable books were already scattered throughout the Mediterranean and Europe. History books are full of how Omar ordered the destruction of the Alexandrian Library and for this reason many priceless books were forever lost, but the true is that the books were already censored and burned by the decree of bishops, Roman Emperors and Popes. Further, the story of Omar burning the treasured books was nonexistent for 500 years and did not surface until mentioned in the 13th century by a Christian bishop named Abulfaragius of Guba. (2) The Muslims did indeed burn many Christian texts, many times at the promptings of Jewish antagonists, but the destruction of Christian texts was actually caused by the Roman Catholic agents in their centuries-long campaign to censor any writings in opposition of their own. This invasion of Egypt was exactly 1320 years (660+660), or 7920+7920 months, after 680 BC when King Esarhaddon of Assyria invaded Egypt and took Thebes. The unusual Mayan king Pacal Votan died in this year and the Maya built the Temple of the Inscriptions over his sarcophagus. Pacal Votan commemorated as the greatest king of the Maya. His tomb would remain hidden under the pyramid for exactly 1260 years when discovered by accident in 1952 AD beneath 13 corbelled vaults that embody the concept of the 13 heavens of the Mayan cosmology. The multi-ton sarcophagus lid has an elaborate engraving of Pacal Votan that has give rise to the Ancient Astronaut Theory so popular in the 20th century. Pacal Votan was a mystery. For almost two years the Moors made inroads into Spain, slaughters all those Christian communities that resisted their rule. The Europeans are beaten back in the Battle of Xeres. The Moors overran the strongholds and cities. All throughout Spain the Moors subdued the Christians and made the local Jews their masters, placing into positions of authority the Jews that had aided their causes. This occurred in Córdova, Granada, Malaga and other cities. At Toledo, as the Christian population was praying for peace and protection against the Moors in their churches, the local Jews flung open the city gates and allowed the Muslims into the city unopposed. (1) This occurred on Palm Sunday. The Jewish animosity against the Christians and white europeans in ancestral, dating to even before the civil war of 931 BC when Israel and Judah split, however, the Jews at Toledo were particularly loathe of the Christian population because of the policies of King Recared who refused to allow the wealthy Jews to own Christian slaves. The Jews sought to have slave holdings as they had in other countries. King Recared had already been stressed over the sizeable Jewish population in his Visigothic realm, a people who refused to assimilate with the Visigoths, who maintained their nation-within-a-nation status. He was further dismayed that the Jews would not Christianize. (2) This was the 1296th year since the Fall of Judah to Babylon in 585 BC, or 432x3 years. The Moors were controlled by the Saracens of Egypt and the Saracens took their orders from the Muslim Arabs who had mostly as their base of operations in the wars of Islam the ancient city of Damascus, the seat of Umayyad authority. Damascus sent instructions to the Arabs in southern France to conquer the realm of the Franks. (1) Reinforcements from the Visigothic realm of Spain were sent into southern France along the warfront while the Jews secured their control over the Christian Europeans that the Moors had subdued. Spain experienced a population explosion of Jewish communities as Jews sailed in from ports all around the Mediterranean as new spread about the utopia they had in Spain. Christians were again sold as slaves to the local Jews and a market was established where Jewish merchants trafficked in white slaves exported from Spain. The Arabic scholar Al-Makkari wrote, "Whenever the Muslims conquered a town, it was left in the custody of the Jews." (2) This lead to growing Jewish population centers at Cordova, Tarraconae and Granada. This was the year 1600 after the founding the Israelite capitol city of Samaria in 881 BC. The Islamic army made a critical mistake in their European campaign. They had completely overrun the Visigothic realm, created a Jewish utopia and occupied southern France. Here they should have stopped. Instead they invaded the empire of the Franks which was ruled by Charles the Hammer (Martel), a successor to the Merovingian kings. This was 236 years after the Frankish people converted to Christianity after the lead of their king, Clovis I. Charles Martel was the grandfather of the famous Charlemagne. Charles ruled almost all of Europe north of the Alps from the Pyrenees to Hungary. The Arab army won several battles, took many towns and fortresses and even marched almost all the way to Paris, but Charles the Hammer stopped their onslaught. (1) He defeated the Saracens at Tours-Poitiers and thus ended Muslim expansion in Europe. After the defeat of the Saracens and Moors in France a widespread white European animosity toward the Jews arose for their participation in letting the Muslim atrocities in Spain and southern France. As this was the Dark Ages we have few records, but the picture emerging is one of terror on the part of the Jews, who saw their own lives in peril should the Muslims pull all the way out of Europe. White enslavement, confiscation of properties and even the abduction of beautiful Visigothic females would guarantee that the Jews would be dealt with harshly. The communication network of the Jews was international and centuries before any other nation or nationality. Ships full of Jewish people and their belongings took off from European ports and gathered to vanish over the western Atlantic, to "...an unknown and uninhabited land." (1) Some called their destination Calalus and the general consensus among researchers is that the Jewish fleets sailed to Central America. A fleet of Jews also fled Rome. (2) What is interesting is that the very next year is 735 AD, being 1447 years after 713 BC when the Judahites (ancestors of the Jews) were delivered from the Assyrians under Sennercherib. The year 1447 BC was the year of the Israelite Exodus, calendrically inferring here that the fleets of Jews in their own exodus made it to their American destination in 735 AD. Further, 735 AD is 600 years after the Jewish population of Judea and Jerusalem is exterminated by the Romans ending the Bar Kochba Rebellion in 135 AD. Because the historical presence of this Jewish population in the early Americas has not been verified we can assume they perished likewise. This voyage in 734 AD was 1736 years (434x4) after the founding of the Throne of David in 1003 BC, 434 years being a Judged Time period. Also, this date was 2520 years (360x7) after Jacob (Israel) and Esau were born in 1787 BC.

The Roman Church enforced the Donation of Constantine, a totally fictitious document made "official" merely because the Roman Church sought the power. The document was purported by the Church to be written by the hand of Constantine the Great before his death in 337 AD. The bogus document claimed that Constantine gave the entire power and wealth of the Roman Empire to the Church, including the right to crown and dethrone kings. Though the majority of the royalty throughout Europe had believed it to have been a forgery perpetuated by the Roman Church, the Papacy had by this time become so powerful that this move and assumption of power went unopposed. Amazingly, this document "surfaced" exactly 414 years, a Cursed Earth period, after Constantine died and the documented was supposed to have been written in 337 AD. One of the moves of the Church was to depose the Merovingians over the Franks, which Charles the Hammer represented. With this move the divine right of kings became the divine right of the Church and all royalty who opposed the Church from this point onward were ruthlessly removed. Lorenzo Valla studied the Donation of Constantine and revealed that it was a fraud from its inception, for it was written using biblical passages quoted from the Latin Vulgate Bible compiled by Jerome who was born two decades after Constantine died, therefore the document had to have been composed at the very earliest 50 years after the death of Constantine. (1) Valla would publish his findings on the fraud in the year 1440 AD.

In 762 AD the Abbasid Dynasty over Islam that replaced the Umayyids relocated to Baghdad in Babylon. Islamic architects began laying out the city of Baghdad according to a plan. A fabulous new city emerged as a New Babylon, built by the wealth of kingdoms taken by the Arab armies that scourged Africa, the Mediterranean, the Near East, Spain and Asia. The Muslim Empire would spread out with Baghdad as its capital, the seat of the Caliphate.

In this year the Jewish Exilarch Solomon died, the leader over the exiled Jews living in Persia. His hereditary successor was Anan ben David but the elders rejected him, opting to install his younger brother Chananya as Exilarch. Anan fled to Palestine and founded his own synagogue, calling upon the Jews everywhere to abandon the corrupt Talmud and obey only the inspired Word of God, found in the Pentateuch (Genesis through Deuteronomy). His sect became influential and known as the Karaites, or Adherents to the text. Anan's views on Jesus were positive and he urged Jews to resist the corrupt Rabbinate, for he thoroughly believed that the Jewish rabbis were modern Pharisees bent on propagating the traditions of men rather than the words of God.

Also in this year of 762 AD Mayan astronomers from several cities in Central America assembled at the city of Copan. Detailed pictorial reliefs in stone depict the event and a Mayan date is offered on Alter Q that corresponds to AD 762-763. Sixteen skywatchers attended this important meeting. Whatever was decided is unknown, but it was important enough that in the following year of 763 steles were erected commemorating the event in all the major cities of the Maya. The Mayan skywatchers were the civilization's chronologists, and this year was one of astounding calendrical alignments.

This year was the 6000th of the Anunnaki Chronology, or 600x10 years. It was the 4800th year of the Orbital Chronology, and 4200 years since the Watchers descended to earth before the Flood. This was 3600 years after the Nephilim-Anunnaki Dynasty began before the Flood in 2839 BC and this year was also the 3000th year since the Great Flood. This 3000 years was 600x5 years. This rift in the Jewish faith was 2208 years after the Exodus in 1447 BC and Israelites receiving the Law. What the Maya observed or concluded is unknown, but the significance of this year is also connected to the ancient Four Sun traditions of all the native American cultures. 762 AD is 1344 years (792+552) to the end of the timeline given to archaic humanity, ending 2106 AD, the 6000th year from mankind's banishment in 3895 BC. But 762 AD was also 1344 years after the last time Phoenix appeared in the Four Sun Age traditions, in 583 BC when it darkened the sun as recorded by Herodotus.

In this year Judaism experienced a rift, Babylon had a new beginning, Islam established a capital city and the Maya on the other side of the world established the astronomical, thus the chronological, significance of 762 AD.

Charles the Great becomes king over the Franks, the grandson of Charles Martel. This is Charlemagne, who claims descent from the Merovingian kings. He rules much of Europe, over France, Germany, regions of Spain, Italy and Austria. This most famous of early European kings began his reign on a very calendrically important year. Not only was the the 1080th year of the Greek-Syrian Seleucid Calendar, but also 1488 years (744+744) after the last of the Ten Tribes of Israel were deported by the Assyrians in 721 BC, whose descendants were now directly under the rule of Charlemagne.

772 AD (4666 AM): 1330 Before Armageddon/ 3010 After Flood/ 296 Fall of Rome
Emporer Charlemagne imposes Christianity upon all Saxony, or northwestern Europe, the regions now called Germany. This was not a peaceful endeavor. The Franks invaded German territories and forced villages and kingdoms to convert to Christianity. No alternatives were provided and Germans and Vikings in the far north developed a hatred for the Franks and the God of the Christians, regarding Him as an enemy war-deity. This religious-invasion campaign of Charlemagne literally initiated what was to follow—the Viking invasions. This year was 276 years (138+138) after Clovis I of the Merovingian Dynasty of the Franks converted to Christianity with the Frankish Annals in 496 AD.

Charlemagne leads the Franks against northern Italy and conquers Lombardy, the kingdom of the Lombards (Long Beards) who had defeated the Goths and settled there 206 years earlier in 568 AD. The Franks (French) continue their excursions into the norther regions of Europe in their campaign to force the population to convert to Christianity. This year was 666+666 years (1332) Before Armageddon in 2106 AD. This was the 4444th year of the ancient Jewish Calendar, and also the 444th year since Constantinople became the seat of the Roman Empire in 330 AD. The sum of 444x4 is 1776, and counting 1776 years before this year we arrive at the establishment of the Throne of David in 1003 BC. 444x5 is 2220, which, this being 774 AD was the 2220th year since the Great Deluge in 2239 BC.

The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle records that huge streaks of bright flames raced across the sky along with terrible comets (flying dragons) that brought a famine. These seen over Northumbria. (1) Off the Northumbrian coast occurred the first Viking attack. They looted a monastery at Lindisfarne on June 8th. (2) They went on to attack churches and killing people near them. This year is the first appearance of the Reuben Comet Group which broke free of NIBIRU in 522 AD. Alcuin, the Anglo-Saxon scholar, wrote about the Viking raids. (3) The name Viking derived from an Old Norse verb meaning "to move speedily," (vikja).

The Vikings of Scandinavia were in fact the people formerly of pontus, a people that immigrated many centuries prior, long after their great king Mithradates made war against Rome and died. The Viking Age that began at this time was due to a population explosion in northern Europe coupled with a lack of resources. Widespread poverty. According to tradition, lots were cast for ownership of lands and the losers were left with gathering men of similar fate to build ships and set out in search of new lands to settle their families. Some Viking men joined only to acquire adventure, wealth and foreign women. One in three families lost out on the lots and had to move on. (4) The Vikings have been painted by the brush of prejudice as barbarians, a race given to piracy and bloodlust. When the Vikings first set out on the shores of England and Scotland they burned the churches, the belltowers and Christian shrines because to the Viking mindset they were involved in a holy war against the Christian religion. Many historians have noted that the Vikings left many structure untouched, concentrating their violence against monks, priests, bishops, church structures and shrines. The Vikings knew about the Christian god, they knew that the German Saxons suffered much under the Franks who forced the Saxon population to convert to this strange and bloody God. To the Vikings there was nothing wrong with waging war against this heartless religion. The Saxons controlled England, their main kingdoms being Essex, wessex and Sussex, and these Saxons were intruders upon Briton lands as well.

According to the Frankish Annals of Fulda the Danes were the most powerful of the three Viking peoples referred to as the Northmen (Norse). (5) It is interesting that the animosity between the French and the Germans that endures even to this day had its origins with forced conversion to Christianity and the massacres Franks conducted on the German Saxons.

Muslim Caliph Haroun al-Rashid of Baghdad still ruled when paper was used as a medium for the written world. (6)

Pope Leo III of Rome crowned Charlemagne as the first Holy Roman Emperor on Christmas day. He was the grandson of Charles Martel. (1) At this time the royal house of Narbonne in the south of France closely allied to Charlemagne was regarded as descended from the House of David. This seems to be reflected in the Encyclopedia Judaica, which states that Narbonne was home to the Jewish Kings. (2) This line would produce Godfrey of Bouillon, king of Jerusalem after the First Crusade. (3) Also at this time the Jewish writer Eldad HaDani collected traditions about the migrations of the Ten Tribes of Israel and wrote them on what is known as the Cochin scroll. Even before his time Israelite tribes had populated eastern Europe, Bactria, around the Caspian Sea and Asia as various Scythian peoples. By now Albinus Alcuin, the Anglo-Saxon scholar, reformed Church liturgy and finished his Latin- from-Hebrew translation of the Book of Jasher.

This was the year 1460 since the founding of the Greek city of Byzantium, later to be called Constantinople where the seat of the Eastern Roman Empire lied.

The Muslim Caliph of Baghdad Al Mamoun travelled from Babylonia (Iraq) to Lower Egypt and camped at the foot of the partially buried Great Pyramid of Giza. He employed laborers and promised that inside the pyramid was treasure. There was no apparent entrance to the Great Pyramid, but Al Mamoun knew that the ancient Egyptians and later Romans had access to a secret portal, a heavy stone door cleverly pivoted. This he could not find. His men spent six weeks tunnelling through the almost-marble hard limestone. On the verge of giving up their excavation of what was the same as solid rock, a clear thump was heard in the tunnel and the men renewed their efforts, tunnelling in the direction in which most agreed they believed the sound to have come from. They discovered the Descendant Passage which ran about 345 feet from the outside of the pyramid, which had been blocked, and a continuing tunnel under the pyramid plateus. This tunnel was known to the Egyptians, Romans and many others, in fact, this is the ONLY architectural feature replicated in all the other pyramids found around the world from Egypt, Libya and Central and South America. They were all designed with Descendant Passages and underground grottoes. But the accidental discovery of Al Mamoun was incredible, for the thump they had heard was a formerly unknown and cleverly concealed prism ceiling block that hid the entrance to the Ascendant Passage, a tunnel system UNKNOWN to ALL PYRAMID-BUILDING CIVILIZATIONS. This architectural feature of ascendant corridors and chambers in the Great Pyramid of Giza was NOT copied by any other builders. This means that by the time the ancients explored the inside of the monument and built their own versions of the pyramid, the granite plug prism was in place and the upper tunnels were UNKNOWN. The granite plug was one of a series of blockage plugs and they could have only been dropped in to place from above, meaning that much of the Great Pyramid had to have been finished before the plugs could have been slid into place. (1) In Chronotecture: Lost Science of Prophetic Engineering it is shown that there is a calendrical timeline encoded in the internal measurements of the Great Pyramid and that the tunnel entrance Al Mamoun discovered in this timeline is exactly at that juncture in the pyramid chronology identifying the AD year of 820. This is beyond coincidence, the pyramid timeline encoding the exact year that its internal ascendant passage tunnel would be discovered. Al Mamoun found no treasure but had money buried where his men could discover it and compensation for all they did. He may have been the first person to step inside the Kings Chamber and see the Empty Sarcophagus since the time of Abraham. He had an appreciation for the sanctity of the site and must have had his men fill the tunnel back in (but they left the entrance to the Ascendant Passage open) because for centuries afterward no chronicler who had visited the Great Pyramid could find a way inside. Joseph Jochman wrote that when the pyramid was first entered there were salt encrustations an inch thick. Chemical analysis in modern times showed that some of this salt had a mineral content consistent with salt from the sea. (2) He also wrote that the medieval historian Biruni, writing in his treatise, "The Chronology of Ancient Nations," noted, "...the traces of the water of the Deluge and effects of the waves are still visible on these pyramids halfway up, above which the water did not rise." (3) In 1899 BC the Delta region of Lower Egypt emerged out of the Mediterranean, and the region was by the Egyptians called the Raised Land. The Giza complex had been under the sea for 340 years exactly, since the Deluge.

This year is 414+414 Anno Domini. The Vikings continue their raids around England, Scotland and off the coast of Ard Cianachta according to the Irish Annals of Ulster the Vikings slaughtered an unusual amount of porpoises. (1) Genetic research conducted in 2000 AD found it impossible to determine the difference between 5th century Saxons in England and 9th century Vikings. (2) This reveals that King Egbert and the people of Essex, Wessex and Sussex and a great many other throughout England were kin to the Vikings that were now feared. The Irish Annals record that both a lunar and solar eclipse occurred in this year. (1) The fidelity of these annals has been attacked because computations reveal that the eclipses did not occur, however, these researchers ignore the possibility of locally transiting objects that cast their shadow upon earth and the moon. As seen earlier in Chronicon I under 3031 BC, the number 864 is a sum that links time and space. Further, as this is 864 AD it is also the completion of the 10th Mayan Mayan baktun of 144,000 days from 3113 BC for a total of 1,440,000 days, leaving 432,000 days left to the destruction of North America in 2046 AD and end of the Mayan Long-Count. Further, this is 1242 years (414x3) BeforeArmageddon, and the 600th year of the Christian Coptic Calendar.

At this time Arab geographer Istakhri wrote of the Khazars—"The Khazars do not resemble the Turks." He describes the Khazars as two distinct peoples occupying the same kingdom: short, swarthy-skinned people like Indians, and tall, white-complexed people with blue eyes and reddish hair, a people "strikingly handsome." These people claimed descent from the ancient Israelites tribes of Simeon and Manasseh. (2) The Khazars adopted Judaism, which is first mentioned in 864 AD in Expositio in Mattaeum Evangelistam. The capital of the Khazar kingdom was Saksin, known as Saxon City. Israeli scholar Yair Davidy wrote that the nucleus of the Khazar people were the Agathyrsi and that these people had migrated from Assyria. (3) We know that the first of the Ten Tribes of Israel were deported into northern Assyria in 745 BC, and the last of the Ten Tribes were deported in 721 BC, exactly 1584 years (792+792) before 864 AD. One of the most famous of the early Khazar kings was named Joseph about 960 AD.

A star exploded and a brilliant supernova appeared in the sky among the Taurus group, first reported in July 5th. The nova could be seen in daylight and the nova could be seen on through the years 1054 and 1055. The modern detection of rapidly expanding gases have astronomers concluding that this nova gave birth to the Crab Nebula. (1) The Crab Nebula is located 1 degree off the ecliptic and was thus regarded as an important omen worldwide, being within the Zodiacal belt. The Chinese reported this nova (2) as well as the native Americans of Choco Canyon in North American. (3) Also in this year occurred the rift between the Greek eastern Orthodox Church and the Church of Rome, a division that had been brewing for centuries. Much of the contention between the Christians of the Byzantine Empire and those guided by the Papacy in Rome concerned the status of the Papacy and its right to govern over Christendom. The variance between the Latin west and the Greek east is evident through the contrary edicts and councils they conducted. Much of the dispute concerned the doctrine of the Holy Trinity. (4) In this year Pope Leo IX excommunicated the Patriarch of Constantinople from the Church and the division was the result. By separating the Patriarch from the Church of Rome, the entire Greek Christian Empire separated itself from Rome. This was precisely 500 years after 554 AD when Justinian initiated the Imperial Restoration of Rome.

Also in this year, the Northumbrians of northern England led by Siward, an earl, went to Scotland with a powerful fleet and cavalry. The Scots under Macbeth were defeated and the English began to rule Scotland. (5) This is exactly 252 years before Robert the Bruce was crowned king of an independent Scotland, in 1306.

Spanish-Aztec historian Alva Ixtliilxochitl recorded that this year ended the Toltec Empire of Anahuac in Mexico. The Aztecs venerated their Toltec predecessors as taller, wiser and more advanced than themselves. This was 476 years before the Spanish would conquer the Aztecs in 1531 AD. Also in this year the Seljuk Turks took Babylon (Baghdad). This was the 396th year of Abbasid authority over Islam, which was then centered at Baghdad. The Turks were emerging as the dominant power in Asia Minor, a threat to the Greeks of Constantinople and Central Europe and they became the dominant force at this time behind Islam.

The Turks invaded Greece and destroyed with much bloodshed almost all of Greek Christendom as well as northwestern Italy. Just as had occurred 350 and 352 years earlier when the Muslim Saracens and Moors invaded southern Europe through Spain, the local Jews living among the Christians aided the Turks in taking the towns and enslaving the population. Just as the Islamic administration raised many Jews to prominence for their treachery against their Christian hosts, so too did the Turks elevate the Jews in their administration. (1)

Just weeks prior to the Norman invasion of England a comet was seen. (2) Geoffrey Gaimar's Lestoire des Englis records that the people of England witnessed a fire in the sky that burned brilliantly, which came near to the earth, then appeared to move erratically, before it then descended into the sea. In many places in England the woods caught fire. (2) Today we have the Bayeau Tapestry, which artistically depicts English soldiers pointing up at a comet that appeared in April. (3) Harold ruled England, the last Saxon king, ascending the throne on January 5th. But this kingship was contested by king Harald of the Danes and also by William, Duke of Normandy. First the Danes invaded Northumbria and occupied York, but these Danish Vikings were defeated by King Harold of England at the Battle of Stamford Bridge. Meanwhile, William's army of Normandy landed in Sussex. The English wall of shields repulsed the Norman cavalry charge-charge, but a ruse, a retreat was conducted by William that the English fell prey to and were defeated. William of Normandy became King of England. (4) Unlike the prior Viking invasions, the Normans by this time were thoroughly Christianized. The population of the British Isles was thoroughly descended from the descendants of migrating Israelites. These people were Celts, Gauls, Angles, Saxons and the Vikings were originally from Pontus and their pedigree was of the tribe of Benjamin. (5) The Gauls were in France (Franks) and of the blood of Reuben, Jacob's firstborn from Leah. Reuben and Benjamin (France and Britain) would for the next four centuries be embroiled with one another over a succession of feudal wars. (6) In the biblical sense, they had the same father (Jacob: Israel), but they were of two different mothers. The last of the Israelite empires would be Manesseh and Ephraim, the people of Great Britain (the Lion) and the United States of America (eagle's wings from the lion's back). As they were last in the succession, and adopted, they are last to emerge on the world scene. This year was 600 years before the Great Fire of London in 1666 AD.

1070 AD (4964 AM): 1036 Before Armageddon/3308 After Flood/2000 Divided Kingdom
This is the end of the Second Day of Hosea's prophecy and the start of the Third Day, the 3000 years of history that Israel and Judah would remain enemies until their gathering together and redemption at the Resurrection Event in 2070 AD. The 3000 years began in 931 BC when Israel and Judah rifted into the Two Kingdoms at the death of King Jedidjah (Solomon). The first 1000 years ended in 70 AD when the Romans crushed Judea and destroyed Jerusalem and the Temple. At that time the descendants of the Ten Tribes of Israel were known as Cimmerians, Scythians, Goths, Gauls, Celts, Britons, Danaan among others throughout Greece and the Jews spread out in Diaspora among those nations that took them in and gave them refuge. From Galilee spread Christiani as and during this second 1000 years from 70 AD every Israelite descended people in Europe had become Christian. The last people to resist were the Vikings.
As of 1034-1044 AD the people of Denmark, Norway and Sweden had adopted Christianity. Now the people of ancient Israel are Christians living in Europe as Greeks, Italians, Portuguese, French, Spanish, German, Scandinavian, Russian, in Burgundy, Hungary, England, Ireland (not all of Ireland: populated by Dan/Danaan), Scotland, Wales and Central Europe on through the Balkans. Now the third 1000 year period begins and the animosity Judah has for Israel (Jews against Europeans) will unfold in this millennium as both those peoples descended from Israelite tribes and from Judah FORGE THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD from 1070-2070 AD. The Jewish war against the European Christian is the subject of the next 1000 years herein in Chronicon II. In 1888 AD Charles Morris in The Aryan Race on page 330 wrote- "The Code of Christ is the accepted code in nearly all Aryan lands. It is not only the highest code ever promulgated, but it is impossible to conceive of a superior rule of moral conduct. At its basis lies the principle of universal human sympathy- that of interest in and activity for the good of others, without thought of self-advantage. Nowhere else does so elevated a code of morals exist, for in every other code the hope of reward is held out as an inducement to the performance of good acts."

Also in this year Europe is alight with the news the writings of Adam of Bremen that concerned a land that was beautiful and located over the Atlantic ocean to the west called Vinland. (1) A New World entered the collective consciousness of the Europeans, a people who were ever branching out further and further westward, a people who would one day populate the greatest of all Israeliich empires...the United States of America, over the Atlantic. Also in this year, during the rule of El Mustansir of Cairo, Egypt, during a conflict between Cairo and Baghdad, a famine of seven years began that is still called after his name. For seven years the Nile river did not rise, no corn was produced and war prevented importation of goods and food. In Egypt cannibalism prevailed and foreigners entering the country were captured by ambushes when locals using rope-and-hook traps caught them for food. A plague broke out and the pitiful conditions persisted until 1077 AD. (2)

The Roman Papacy had experienced many setbacks in their attempts to totally control Germany. In this year Pope Gregory VII excommunicated German King Henrik (Henry) IV for a trespass, and in return the German king was deposed the Pope in Rome. (1) Henry's move was brilliant. Because the Pope sought to humiliate him, the German king instead created his own papacy and in this year the Anti-Popes began. The controversy involved all of Europe and bishops and clergy took sides in what effectively created two heads of the official Roman Church, resulting in an immense loss of prestige and power for Rome. This situation would vex Rome for two centuries until the Anti-Popes were done away with. (2) This was 280 years (40x7) after 800 AD when the Holy Roman Empire was established when the Pope crowned Charlemagne. Also in this year the Knights of Malta were founded, the Order of Malta, in Jerusalem, holy soldiers that protected travellers and the poor, sick and pilgrims who journeyed to or lived in the Holy Land. Interestingly, this organization has evolved over time and in the 21st century it has evolved into echelons of the world's intelligence services. Historian and philosopher Lewis Mumford in his 'Technics and Civilization' wrote that the decimal system was invented in this year in Europe. But this is merely a rediscovery, for the decimal system was used before the flood in the mathematical proportions within the architectural perfection of the Great Pyramid by the Sethite engineers and many other ancient megalithic monuments. In fact, this Anno Domini year of 1080 parallels the ancient Annuus Mundi 1080, which was 2815 BC, the exact year that the Great Pyramid was completed after 1080 months of construction (90 years).

Pope Urban II called for a holy war against the Muslims to take back Asia Minor and the Holy Land for Byzantine (Constantinople), even promising the forgiveness of sins both past and present to those who took up arms and joined the holy army. Peter the Hermit marched about calling for the good Christians to come forward to aid in the war effort and suddenly it was as if the whole continent of Europe responded. Known as the First Crusade, or War of the Cross, it was the unification of the whole of Europe under religious allegiance, a spirit of togetherness that bypassed national and racial boundaries. Never in recorded had an ideal so completed absorbed and influenced the common people, where peasant of various ethnicities and kingdoms apart felt a universal brotherhood as soldiers for Christ with a mission to liberate Jerusalem from the Muslims. Even the Papacy was astonished at the suddenness of the development. This began the collective consciousness of Europe, the realization that the variant cultures of Europe were truly ONE PEOPLE. European writers filled their readers with the traditions and evidences that their ancestors were the descendants of the Israelites of the Bible, and in 1148 AD Anna Comnen, writing about this Crusade, wrote that the people "...thronged every highway, and with these warriors came a host of civilians, outnumbering the sand of the seashore or the stars of heaven." (1) This writer alluded here to Genesis 22:17-18 where God told Abraham that He would make his descendants as numerous as the sands of the shore or the stars of heaven. Several thronged of many thousands of people struck with religious fervor set out toward the Holy Land. Unfortunately, the civil authorities and Church were unprepared for the sudden appearance of so many people and groups set out unprepared and with poor provisions.

Peter the Hermit had ignited Europe, preaching that it was the duty of Europeans as the children of God to take back Jerusalem from the Muslims. Because so many commoners with no or little military experience joins the crowds of people the expedition was referred to as the Peoples Crusade. At this time the bankers throughout Europe were Jewish and the Christian knights found themselves having to mortgage their estates to finance their armies. Throughout the Rhineland it was perceived that the Jewish population was becoming enriched off of Christians who were losing their holdings to go on the Crusade to deliver Jerusalem, which ironically, was the ancient Jewish capital. Gottfried of Bouillon, the sovereign of Lower Lothringen, Ardenes, present-day Holland and the Rhine Provinces of Cologne issued a decree that all remaining Jews living in Lower Lothringen should be killed if they did not leave the domain, in order to atone for their murder of Christ. The Gospel version of the life of Jesus was at this time the only accepted version. But the true reason was economic, concerning the Jewish financial stranglehold they had on the people. As a result the wealthy Jews of Mainz and Cologne bought their protection and paid Gottfried a huge sum of money which he used to outfit his own Crusader army. Quickly word spread throughout Europe of the scheme and many Christian kings extorted payments from the Jews in their countries in the same way to help pay for the Crusade. But even this payment in some places was not enough to stem the rising popular animosity against the Jews. Count Emmerich in the Rhineland killed many of them in the region of Cologne and the Crusaders killed more in the city of Prague and Regensburg. (1) This was exactly 840 years (10,080 months) before the financial stranglehold the Jews had on Germany in 1936 AD began the Nazi government's retaliation and secret plans to rid themselves of the Jews. This year was exactly 600 years after Clovis I converted to Christianity and the Frankish kingdom as well in 496 AD, a Merovingian king who was a direct ancestor of Gottfried of Bouillon. (2) Further, it was Gottfried of Bouillon that founded the famous Knights Templar. (2)

In three large groups the beginning of the People's Crusade army travelled eastward in Hungary where they were slaughtered by the Turks, masses of zealous but ill-prepared people. Two more groups of this army moved forward led by Peter the Hermit and they crossed the Bosphorus Strait opposite Constantinople only to be butchered by the Turks. (3) Peter the Hermit's army of 30,000 with women and children in tow met the Turks at Cividot. Some say that Peter was killed. (4) By all accounts, the women and children were abused and sold into slavery. Other accounts have it that Peter escaped with a few knights and made it back to Constantinople about the same time that Gottfried of Bouillon set out from Lower Lothringen with his own much better prepared, trained and equipped army. On Christmas day Gottfried arrived to the city and even the most conservative estimates make the Christian Crusader army to be numbered at 600,000 men camped outside Constantinople at the end of the year. (5)

The massive Crusader army fell upon Antioch and in Syria and Odessa, two large metropolitan cities with large populations that had fallen under the domain of Islam. The Crusaders in their assaults on these cities did not distinguish between friend or foe and set to slaughtering all the inhabitants whether they were Muslim, Christian or Jew. The Crusaders first reached Jerusalem on June 7th and they sieged it. One month later a fleet arrived with badly needed supplies. They stormed the city. All Christians living in the city had been evacuated by the Muslims. When the city fell the Crusaders killed all the Muslims and the entire Jewish community, which the Europeans held were allied to the Muslims. (1) The fear of the Jews as secret allies of the Muslims was borne from the fact that it was the Jews of southern Europe that aided the Muslim Moors and Saracens in taking Spain and southern France over 380 years priorly. The last Jews in the city fled to the synagogue but the Crusaders trapped them inside and burned them alive. Over 50,000 people died defending Jerusalem. (2) The Dome of the Rock was turned into a Christian shrine called Templum Domini. The Crusaders marched further into Tripoli in Libya. Gottfried began the Kingdom of Jerusalem but this reign was shortlived for he died the following year in 1100 AD. He would be succeeded by Baldwin (Baldwin) I. The First Crusade resulted in the establishment of the four states now under Christian rule: Antioch, Edessa, Jerusalem and Tripoli.

They are faithful to their lords unless a slight offense gives them an excuse for treachery...they are the most polite of people, they consider strangers to deserve the courtesy they show one another, and they intermarry with their subjects." (1) This assessment described ancient Israelites as well as Normans, who were descended from Vikings of Scandinavia that were themselves descended from migrants from Pontus, a people descended from migrating Israelites. Marrying with their subjects is strictly Israelite in practice, a people who have always practiced assimilation. The Jews, of Judah or elsewhere, were always too ethnic and refused to intermarry with their host nations. The Normans would go on to conquer and also inhabited by the descendants of migrating Israelites: England, Apulia, Calabria, Sicily, much of Italy and even Turkey.

The last of the official Knights Templars would die horrible burned alive in 1314 AD, 186 years later, but the Society would live on and would fly the Jolly Roger (Skull & Bones), a pirate fleet that would terrorize their enemies.

In this year throughout Germany the able-bodied male population amassed into a Crusader army after hearing an agent of the Vatican named Bernard preach among them. The man was gifted and instilled in them a religious fervor to smite the Muslims who had dared to take back the Christian holdings earlier Crusaders had died for. The Papacy trained men to go out and excite the population, having found that Europeans were zealous to protect the Holy Land. The Papacy wanted armies and saw in this a scheme to get rich. In just a few short years the Inquisition would bleed Europe of its widowed women by burning many of them at the stake and confiscating their wealth. The spirit of the Papacy is demonstrated in the letter of Bernard written to Pope Eugenius III when he travelled among the Germans under King Conrad II—"I opened my mouth, I spoke, and at once the Crusaders have multiplied to infinity. Villages and towns are now deserted. You will scarcely find one man to every seven women. Everywhere you see widows whose husbands are still alive." Christian Crusaders about to embark on a Crusade were disgruntled about the tremendous amount of debt they owed to Jewish moneylenders. They were about to set out from York, England when instead they incited riots and mobs attacked the local Jewish moneylenders and their families, threatening them with conversion or death. One hundred and fifty Jewish men and women were killed and this infamous incident has since been known as the York Massacre. (1) Interestingly, this was date by Ephraim of Bon at the year 4551, which means that he took as Year One the year 3361 BC. (see Chronicon 1)

1209 AD (5103 AM): 897 Before Armegeddon/ 3447 After Flood
In this year was committed one of the greatest crimes against humanity conducted by the Roman Catholic Church. Dominic de Guzman zealously persecuted and murdered Cathars in southern France and in the church his deeds became known and praised. The Papacy recognized Dominic for his brutality and savagery against the enemies of the Church, those people who disagreed with Catholic doctrine. The Dominican Order was founded, an order of priests trained to torture their victims until "confessions" were extracted, then to publicly execute by burning those who "confessed." The Inquisition begins with Pope Innocent III in a campaign of unrestricted terror and violence against the people of southern France. (1) The Cathars and Albigensians (Cathari: Pure Ones) believed that the Papacy was corrupt and not the Mouth of God. These European puritans were deeply religious Christians who believed that everyone should have access to the Word of God, not just the priests. The Pope sent Papal armies into entire villages and cities of southern France and systematically eradicated the population. Survivors were rounded up and tortured by the Dominicans before their executions. This genocide lasted until 1244 AD, 35 years, and when Pope Innocent III was asked how the soldiers were to determine between who was a Cathar and who was among the regular population offrance, he responded, "Kill them all. God will know his own." (2)

Planet Phoenix passed through the inner solar system completing its 138 year orbit. No records of a sighting known to author. A peculiar story relates to this year. A teenage boy in France named Stephen of Cloyes was visited by a celestial being, or so he believed, in the form of a voice that instructed him to collect together fifty thousand children to leave their homes and families to embark on a holy war for God and take back the Holy Land from the evil Muslims. This began the Children's Crusade. Word spread and children from all over Europe travelled toward Constantinople and southeast toward Jerusalem. Researcher John Keel wrote that the thousands and thousands of children involves vanished en masse. At the time the popular explanation was that they disappeared because they had been abducted by slavers. (1) Keel believes that slavery only accounts for a small percentage of these lost children and provides evidence in his book Our Haunted Planet that these children, entire villages and even ocean-going ships have all had their entire populations and crews abducted by extraterrestrial beings. This is exactly 828 years (two Cursed Earth periods of 414 years) before 2040 AD then Phoenix initiates a poleshift and millions of children will wander the ruined cities of Europe aimlessly searching for family, friends, food and shelter.

Mongol armies led by Chenghis Khan overran the Shah of Iran (Persia), invading the Khwarezm Empire. There was no intention of the invading such a far away region until the Persians apprehended a group of Mongol merchants, robbed them of their wares, treated them disrespectfully and shaved off their faces and burned the skin so their hair would not grow back. Released with nothing, some made it back to tell the other Mongols and after hearing the story Khan demanded reimbursement from the Muslims but was refused. Angered, the Mongol army travelled over 2000 miles simply to retrieve the head of the Shah of Persia. Invading Persia, the Mongols raided villages and towns, destroyed castles and killed all Islamic people they came across. Entire fields of livestock were slaughtered in retribution, left rotting. Though severely outnumbered, the Mongols through organized ferocity effectively slew 75% of all those living in the Khwarezm Empire. The Shah fled 200 miles to the Caspian Sea shore and committed suicide when an elite force of Mongols caught up with him, men that were determined to get his head.

King Frederick II of Germany was raised in a court that allowed him the opportunity to acquire a Muslim view of Christianity as well as his Christian view of Islam. (1) As a regent he was constantly at variance with the Pope and the Papal assumptions of power. When Pope Gregory IX excommunicated him it was because he would not carry out Papal orders and join in the Church's intrigues. With a flair of genius Frederick wrote a letter and sent copies to all the kings and queens of Europe, an indictment against the Papacy for the Pope's political meddling and ambition, even suggesting the unification of Europe against the Papacy. Wisely, he directed the monarchies of Europe to the immense ill-gotten wealth of the Church. This terrible threat to the Roman Church was 690 years (138x5) after the rise of the Papacy in 538 AD. Despite excommunication, Frederick II embarked on the Sixth Crusade and consulted with the Sultan of Egypt, which resulted with a treaty on financial matters that resulted with the transfer of Jerusalem to Christian control. The peaceful takeover gained Frederick fame throughout Europe and he was proclaimed King of Jerusalem. He returned to Germany with his army and found that in his absence the Pope and sent the Papal armies into Germany, but Frederick easily ran them out of his country. The Pope even granted him absolution from excommunication. (2)

This is the final year of the Émir Cathar genocide in southern France. Papal armies had been for 35 years hunting and slaughtering all the men, women and children of the Christian Cathars because they refused to submit to the Roman Catholic Church, which promoted idolatry, the indulgences of sin, Mariolatry and many other Church doctrines contrary to the original Christian faith maintained by the Cathari. The last of the Cathars are butchered by Catholic soldiers at Montsegur. As seen over and over in Chronicon I, the calendrical sum of 1244 years related over and over to ancient Israelite history, and the Cathars were at this time the greatest of all sufferers among the descendants of Israel in Europe. Also in this year the Muslims captured Jerusalem (1), this being 622 years after the Muslim calendar began in 622 AD. This was also 2170 years (434x5) after the Egyptians took Jerusalem in 927 BC and sacked the Temple. In this year Frederick II of Austria granted lending and borrowing rights to the Jews. Quickly other European countries adopted these rules and Jews emigrated to them hastily, i.e. Hungary, Bohemia, Poland, Silesia, Lithuania, Austria. (2)

The Mamelukes would have been Slavic and Central Asian Caucasians, former White Christian children raised to be Muslim soldiers to fight against White Christian Crusaders in the same way the Turks took the children of Christians and turned them into Muslim killers called the Janissaries.

1. Wars That Changed the World 41

1252 AD (5146 AM): 854 Before Armageddon/ 3490 After Flood/ 1296 Roman Julian/ 776 Fall of Rome
Pope Innocent IV authorized torture as a method useful to the Inquisition to extract confessions from heretics (religious dissidents) thus beginning a Church-sponsored reign of terror allowing unscrupulous people to eliminate their enemies, political rivals and commercial competitors. Even young girls jealous of other girls falsely accused victims who were then tortured until they "confessed" to the imaginary offense. The civil government got into the act when the Church shared what it confiscated from the heretic's estates. The Crusades by this time had little to do with a Church desire to reoccupy Jerusalem and everything to do with a scheme in killing the husbands of women left widowed throughout Europe. These unfortunate women were preyed on by the Roman Catholic Church through the Inquisition as Dominican monks literally abducted them by the thousands, put them to horrible trials of tortures and then burned them as heretics and witches. Christian females whose husbands had died to liberate Jerusalem made the Roman Church wealthy.

During this same 60 years Scotland will be oppressed by England until 1314 AD. In 1254 AD Alexander III reigned peacefully over Scotland when trouble brewed against him. Alan Durward, joined by the ears of March, Strathearn and Carrick, Robert de Brus and Alexander the Steward, kidnapped King Alexander III and Queen Margaret. (1) Later released they were confined again, and again released. This began 60 years until 1314 when Robert the Bruce, descendant of Robert de Brus, delivered Scotland from English domination at the Battle of Bannockburn in the same year of NIBIRU's exit from the inner system. Also in this year King Louis IX of France barred Jews from moneylending and said that they should live by trade and manual labor like others. (4) Lastly, Mongol chief Mogo was targeted by the Assassins so the Mongols seige all the Assassin strongholds in the Muslims lands. And this was 1998 years (666x3) after 745 BC when the Israelites were deported by the Assyrians into the Middle East and Central Asia.
