Construction Manager – New Industrial Projects

About the role: We are looking for a Construction Manager to oversee new industrial projects from award through closeout. This role sits between the field and leadership, ensuring that scope, schedule, cost, and quality stay aligned across multiple jobs nationwide.

Key responsibilities

- Plan and manage new construction projects: scope, schedule, and execution strategy
- Support estimating, budgeting, and proposal development for new work
- Coordinate with Site Superintendents, foremen, and shop leads to align manpower and resources
- Serve as primary point of contact for the client on project delivery issues
- Track costs, change orders, and progress, and support invoicing and reporting
- Drive safety, quality, and productivity standards across assigned projects

Requirements

- 5–10+ years' experience in industrial construction, ideally in piping / mechanical work
- Prior experience as Project Manager, Construction Manager, or senior Superintendent
- Strong understanding of drawings, P&IDs, specs, and basic contract language
- Comfortable working with schedules, cost tracking, and change management
- Strong client-facing, negotiation, and problem-solving skills
- Willing and able to travel nationwide to job sites as needed

What we offer

- Competitive compensation package
- Ability to grow with a company focused on quality, repeat business, and long-term relationships
- Direct influence on how projects are planned and executed
