PRESS RELEASE

Date Release:
01 August, 2023

Publisher, illustrator, & authors unite across the country to support kiddos, adults & each other through collaborative efforts

What began as separate passion projects for two working mothers has quickly grown into a flourishing partnership of creatives across the United States. Beginning in August 2023, 3Kiddos Publishing, LLC creator, Kayla Sherman, will be partnering with Lynne Lillge, The Italic Illustrator, and various authors to provide a growing library of entertaining children's literature and adult resources. Sherman, an educator and new children's book author based in rural West Texas, and Lillge, Michigan-based artist on a mission to illustrate stories for authors in all 50 states, have combined their efforts, passion and experience to support beginning and experienced authors in their publishing journey.

The vision of 3Kiddos Publishing, LLC is to help authors get ideas off their "mental shelf" and on the bookshelves of potential readers. So many creatives have a valuable literary contribution to make in order to inspire, teach and entertain, but few have the guidance required to actually publish their written works. Through collaborative efforts, 3Kiddos Publishing aims to make the process easier and attainable for those just starting on this journey, while allowing authors to have creative and marketing freedom and input not afforded by traditional publishers.

In growing the list of partnering authors, Sherman and Lillge hope to build a community for writers, illustrators, editors, designers, educators, readers and promoters of positive, children's literature to lean on for new ideas, encouragement and collaboration! This partnership is gaining momentum, with several new projects planned for release in Fall/Winter 2023.
