

What to expect from IEE Support & Advocacy

Helping You Navigate the Evaluation Process with Confidence
At NeuroRoots, we understand that the Independent Educational Evaluation (IEE) process can feel overwhelming, confusing, and sometimes even intimidating.

You don't have to figure it out alone.

We partner with trusted evaluators to ensure that families not only access high-quality evaluations, but also fully understand and use the results to support their child.

Before the Evaluation IEE Readiness & Planning

- Understand whether an IEE is the right next step
- Clarify your concerns and priorities
- Prepare questions for the evaluator
- Feel confident moving forward

During the Evaluation Ongoing Parent Support

- Guidance on what to expect throughout the process
- Support with communication and next steps
- A space to ask questions and process information

After the Evaluation Results Breakdown & Action Plan

- Understand the evaluation in plain language
- Break down scores, findings, and recommendations
- Identify what matters most for your child
- Turn results into a clear plan for school support

IEP Support & Advocacy

- Preparing for your IEP meeting
- Organizing key talking points
- Understanding your rights and options
- Advocating for appropriate services and supports

An evaluation is only as powerful as your ability to understand and use it.
